3000 Made Homeless When Cloudburst Hits Nogales

TWO KILLED, 10 MISSING EARLY TODAY

HOTEL COLLAPSES

Raging Torrents Sweep Out Huts of Native Mexicans—50 Demolished

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 7.—(UP)—Two persons were dead, 10 missing and more than 3,000 were homeless today as the result of a cloudburst which struck the twin cities of Nogales in Arizona and Sonora, Mexico, early today. Property damage was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

To care for the refugees, the Nogales chapter of the American Red Cross will ask national headquarters in Washington for $25,000.

The dead were identified tentatively as Jose Morelon and his wife, both 60 years of age.

Line Washed Out

Transportation into Mexico was carried away more than 200 feet of the main line of the Southern Pacific of Mexico. Telegraph service was at a standstill and telephone and electric systems were crippled.

Shortly before 10 a. m. the rear of the Velsco hotel, largest hostelry in the Sonora city, collapsed.

Continued rains this morning increased the height of the water in the American city. Offices of the Nogales Herald and Nogales International, the city's only newspapers, were flooded, as well as the city hall, police station and principal stores.

Raging torrents swept away the adobe huts of native Mexicans. Not even a trace of the earthen buildings was left to indicate the location of some of the homes. More than 50 of them were demolished.

Merchants swam to their stores and reported thousands of dollars worth of goods damaged. Sand and

PRICE OF FLOUR UP 20 CENTS ON COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—(UP)—An official of the Sperry Flour company, one of the largest mills on the Pacific coast, told the United Press today that, effective immediately, his company will institute a per barrel increase of 20 cents.

There is no connection, he said, between the increase and rumored shortage in the American wheat crop, which is, he said, virtually harvested. His company is actually following the recent rise in the wheat market, and this, he said, is probably attributable to a probable shortage in the Canadian crop.

A preponderance of rust has been reported in Canadian fields.

NATIONALISTS IN CHINA PLAN TO HALT REDS

Federal Troops Get Ready to Take Offensive in Hunan and Hupeh

SHANGHAI, Aug. 7.—(UP)—The Chinese nationalist government made ready today to take the offensive in Hunan and Hupeh provinces against Chinese communists who have been advancing northward for weeks, using bandit like tactics.

One of the largest concentrations of foreign forces in years has been made at Hankow, about 600 miles up the Yangtze river from Shanghai, and still others were enroute there today as the nationalist government strove to halt the communist advance.

General Ho Ying-Ching, the Kuo Min News service said, has been instructed by the state council of the nationalist government to direct the campaign. A detachment of nationalist troops also was dispatched to northern Hupeh, where Hankow is located, to reinforce other government troops recalled from the northern China battlefront.

Hankow Is Safe

Chinese authorities at Hankow informed Frank P. Lockhart, United States consul there, that they considered the city safe from danger.

Barbed wire barricades, however, have been erected in the French and Japanese concessions in the city, but no evacuation orders have been issued.

The American citizen named Cameron, who remained in Changsha when the communists occupied that city and was rumored to have been slain, now has been found to be alive, advices said.

Martial law was clamped down more tightly on Hankow today as provincial authorities sought to protect that city from the ravages Changsha, 200 miles to the south, endured when the communists burst into the city with

JURY SELECTED IN OESTERREICH CASE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—(UP)—A jury of six men and six women was to hear first evidence in the trial of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, charged with the murder of her wealthy husband eight years ago, in superior court today.

The jury was approved late yesterday after three days of questioning veniremen by defense and prosecution counsel, and was excused until court opened today.

Deputy District Attorney James Costello combined his jury selection work with a search for Herman Shapiro, important state witness, who was located last night in St. Louis and exchanged heated telegrams with the state's attorney.

1 Killed Every 4 Hours, State Auto Records Disclose

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 7 (UP)—One person killed every four hours is the death toll from automobile accidents in California.

Such is the report today of Victor Killick, statistician of the state division of motor vehicles.

In this state 1,066 persons met death through automobile crashes during the first six months of 1930—a gain of 56 deaths or 5.5 per cent over the same period last year.

A total of 18,696 persons were injured in 14,218 accidents during the same period. Of the fatalities, 383 pedestrians were struck down and killed by motorists, an average of two such tragedies daily.

The death toll by months was announced by Killick as follows: January 180, February 172, March 170, April 159, May 203, and June 182.

Calvin Coolidge Says

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

PLYMOUTH, VT., Aug. 7.—Because of the natural and inevitable unity of the human race, some day there is bound to be a federation of the world. Perhaps the league of Nations is a beginning. It long has been a vision of conquering nations, always in terms of the sword, France, Spain, England, Germany, all have been under its sway. But the sword has invariably failed. Now there is a proposal for a confederation of Europe. It is logical but probably premature. The national spirit has been of great benefit to mankind. Its work is not yet completed.

Britain not being a European but a world power is out. The league of nations could not be sympathetic with a league of Europe encouraging other leagues and challenging its supremacy. One league at the present time is about all the national instinct of people can bear. As we have receded from the war period, the desire to confederate for protection was weakened. With the league, with the Locarno treaty, with the world peace treaty, with the limitation of navies treaty, the immediate field is about exhausted. But the proposal is interestingly suggestive. Whatever insures peace and really promotes commerce anywhere in the world will be in harmony with the policy of our best thought.

CROSS-NATION RECORD IS SET BY CAPT. HAWKS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Captain Frank M. Hawks, holder of a new east-west transcontinental airplane record, prepared today for a return flight on which he hoped to break the speed mark set last Easter by Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Hawks landed at Mines field here yesterday at 4:50:43 p. m., P. S. T., setting a New York to Los Angeles mark of 14 hours, 50 minutes 43 seconds. This was three hours 52 minutes 11 seconds better than the record of Colonel Roscoe Turner, who recently made the flight in 18 hours, 42 minutes 54 seconds.

Captain Hawks averaged between 190 and 200 miles an hour despite the inclement weather that dogged his trail for almost the entire distance. At one time his instruments showed a speed a 230 miles an hour.

The flier hoped to make the return journey in 12 hours, which would be more than two hours under Lindbergh's record of 14 hours seven minutes. Hawks will visit his parents in Hollywood several days before starting, he said.

"The flight was no cinch," he said in recounting the record journey. "I ran into rainstorms and 25 to 30 mile an hour headwinds after leaving New York. At Albuquerque, N. M., the winds died down a little but still were strong enough to cause my motor to fight. From Kingman, Ariz., most of the way to Los Angeles I was swinging out of line to avoid electrical storms."

Hawks believed his flight was evidence of the practicability of an aerial "pony express" for rapid transit of valuables. He said the plane he used would serve well on proper routes.

PUNCH BOARDS GIVEN TWO MORE WEEKS TO RUN

District Attorney at Conference to Prosecute After That Time

OWNERS AND operators of punch boards in territory outside of the incorporated cities of Orange county will be given two weeks to get all punch boards cleaned up and out of operation, according to a decision announced by District Attorney Z. B. West today at a conference, with heads of police departments and city attorneys, in his office. Newspapermen were barred from the meeting by West.

At the end of that time if the boards are not removed county authorities will take necessary steps to confiscate them and prosecute the merchants who are permitting their operation. The dead line as set by the district attorney gives the punch board operators and "addicts" two more weeks before the clean up drive will be made.

Not to Intrude

"The district attorney's office will not intrude into the cities in the county on misdemeanors, which is the classification under which the operation of punch boards falls," West stated. He made a clear statement of the procedure to be followed by his office in the county territory to the police officials and city attorneys who crowded his office for the conference today, and left the matter of municipal co-operation up to city officials. He placed the facts before them, told them the steps the county would take in the matter and left the handling of the situation in cities up to the responsible officials.

Practically all the cities in the county were represented at the conference West said. From officials who attended it was learned that there was a favorable reaction on the part of the city authorities, that all agreed it was time for the punch boards to cease operating in the county, that co-operation would be extended in the cleanup and that the city councils in the various communities would be looked to for advice as to action to take in each city.

Hoover Supporters Win Victories In Kansas Elections

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 7.—The nomination of Frank "Chief" Haucke as Republican candidate for governor of Kansas by a majority of more than 25,000 votes was conceded today by Gov. Clyde M. Reed, his opponent, who has been a foe of Federal Farm board policies.

The defeat of Reed and nomination for the Junior Senatorial seat of Sen. Henry J. Allen, Hoover supporter, were generally recognized today as indications Kansas definitely was committing itself in favor of the administration's farm relief program.

Allen was conceded about a two to one majority over his nearest opponent, W. H. Sproul, former congressman. Ralph Snyder and James F. Getty ran far behind.

Toronto And Ottawa Trip For Dirigible

MONTREAL, Can., Aug. 7.—(UP)—A flight by the dirigible R-100 to Toronto and Ottawa again was a possibility today with the announcement by Wing Commander R. B. B. Colmore, British director of airship development, that such plans still were considered.

The Canadian ministry of defense previously ordered the flight to the two cities cancelled, giving no reason. Wing Commander Colmore, who was an official passenger on the dirigible's Atlantic crossing, announced that if weather conditions were favorable it still was hoped to visit those cities before departing for England.

Repairs on the damaged tail fin were nearing completion today.

DEMOCRATS OF TENNESSEE AT POLLS TODAY

Every Candidate for Important Office Dry and Is No Issue

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 7.—(UP)—Tennessee voters were choosing party candidates for senator and governor today with rival factions keeping a close watch at the polls for possible election frauds.

State and local issues were the chief points at stake, and national policies entered in only a casual fashion. Prohibition was no issue, as every candidate for important office in Tennessee is assumed to be dry.

The Horton-Gwinn race for the gubernatorial nomination, drew the greatest attention. The candidates are Democrats. Gwinn forces centered their attack on Horton's administration of highway funds. They indicated their fear of election frauds, particularly in Memphis.

Cordell Hull and A. S. Todd opposed each other for the Democratic senatorial nomination, long term, and Senator W. E. Brock, serving the unexpired term of the late Senator Tyson, was opposed by John R. Neal.

Hull emphasized his friendship for the farmer and announced

Farm Board Ready To Help Farmers In Drought Area

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(UP)—The Federal Farm board today announced it would lend money to farmers in drought-stricken areas to permit them to purchase feed for livestock.

Under the plan, it has formulated, farmers and business men in stricken areas will form local co-operative agencies for borrowing money from the farm board through its gain stabilization corporation. These local associations will guarantee repayment of the loans, which will enable farmers to carry their livestock through the winter.

Senator Fess Fills Office Temporarily

Ohio Senator Named Chairman Until Fall Meeting of Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Claudius H. Huston submitted his resignation as chairman of the Republican national committee today, and informed the executive committee, to whom he presented it, that he was resigning because he placed interests of the party ahead of personal considerations.

Immediately after the resignation was received Senator Fess of Ohio was elected without objection by the 26 members of the executive committee, or other proxies, to be temporary chairman until fall, when the full national committee can confirm the selection.

Robert H. Lucas, Louisville, Ky., as elected "executive director" of the executive committee, likewise without opposition or discussion. Lucas now is commissioner of internal revenue.

At Headquarters

He will serve at headquarters here in a capacity similar to that of Jouett Shouse for the Democrats. Shouse is chairman of the national Democratic executive committee and is in charge of national headquarters here.

In his statement submitting his resignation and making way for temporary election of Senator Fess of Ohio, as chairman in his place, Huston said:

"In the past it has been the policy of the party leaders to maintain a solid front when under the enemy fire, but as this has not been the policy in the present case I have reached the conclusion, putting the interest of the Republican party ahead of personal consideration, that I should tender my resignation for I am wholly unwilling to be accused of imposing any burdens personal to me upon the party during the coming senatorial and congressional campaign."

Prefers to Resign

"I am sure that no such risk exists but rather than incur the charge of creating it, I prefer to withdraw," he said.

In the statement, Huston thus have insisted upon his resignation took a parting shot at those who ever since the senate lobby committee revealed that he had diverted funds of the Tennessee river improvement association temporarily to cover his stock margins.

His resignation today brought an end to a long controversy in Republican party ranks, during which he refused, persistently, to step out. He submitted his resignation today in keeping with a promise a few weeks ago, exacted by emissaries acting for President Hoover.

Huston defended himself for the first time against the attacks directed against him because of the lobby committee disclosures. He contended these attacks were aimed generally at the party and the administration and that they had

DOLORES DEL RIO, GIBBONS MARRIED

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Aug. 7.—(UP)—Dolores Del Rio, Mexican film star, and Cedric Gibbons, screen art director, left on a honeymoon trip through northern California today after their wedding in an old Franciscan mission.

In a chapel of the historic Santa Barbara mission, the two were married late yesterday by the Rev. Father Augustine Hobrecht, Franciscan superior. A group of intimate friends from the Hollywood film colony attended. The ceremony took place near a secluded garden of the mission in which no woman has ever set foot.

Only the altar lights, which have burned since Fathers Junipero Serra and Juan Lasuen built the mission in 1784, illuminated the scene.

Bridge Report Sent Hoover And Governor

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—(UP)—A dream of 50 years moved a step nearer realization today with the transmittal by the Hoover-Young bay bridge commission of its complete report to President Hoover and Governor Young.

The commission, it was announced, is in unanimous accord in its solution of every problem of economics, engineering, national defense, navigation and traffic.

The report recommends construction of a $72,000,000 bridge of the cantilever type from Rincon hill, at the foot of Harrison street, San Francisco, to Goat island to a point on the east shore near the junction of Oakland and Emeryville.

SHOWERS BRING LITTLE RELIEF TO SUFFERERS

Small Hope of Lower Temperatures For Midwest Given By Bureau

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Rain and harbingers of rain brought a small measure of relief to the sun-parched midwest today.

After an early morning downpour in Chicago an oppressive haze settled over the city. The temperature was not high but the haze made the air seem hotter than ever to a perspiring populace.

Today's weather report for the central states indicated that cloudiness, a possible forerunner of rain, was general throughout the Chicago forecast area.

The weather map showed precipitation extending from Central South Dakota, down into Nebraska, east through Iowa and northern Illinois, across Indiana and Ohio and down through West Virginia to the Atlantic seaboard.

The general forecast gave little hope of lower temperatures:

"The indications are for mostly fair and continued warm weather over the northern central states tonight and Friday, except that slightly cooler weather will overspread some northern sections with a slight possibility of scattered light showers."

DURANT EUROPEAN MERGER INDICATED

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—(UP)—William C. Durant, financial genius, who twice has headed General Motors, today appeared ready to step into the automotive industry limelight again.

Durant announced at Lansing that there chief executives of the Durant Motor company would retire shortly and indicated that Durant Motors soon would be allied with strong European automotive interests.

He refused to amplify his statements before leaving for Covington, Ky., but is expected to return early next week, at which time details are to be made public.

Leaders of the automobile world and financial circles awaited impatiently for Durant's next move. For a year and a half he has been more or less in the background, having turned over the direction of the company he controls to others.

Legal Doubt Arises About Court's Power to Take Billings Out of Prison

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—(UP)—The California Supreme court probably will convene in Folsom prison next week and listen to the plea of Warren K. Billings for a pardon from a life sentence imposed upon conviction in 1916 of complicty in the Preparedness Day bombing.

Possibility of the prison session, climaxing the most amazing procedure in California judicial history, came about when Court Smith, Folsom's warden, declined to accept responsibility for Billings while out of prison testifying before the pardon hearing.

There also is a legal doubt as to the court's power to summon Billings, Chief Justice William H. Waste explained.

Decision rests with U. S. Webb, state attorney general, who will give an opinion to the pardon advisory board next Saturday. Should the opinion be that Billings cannot go from prison to the hearing then the hearing will go to prison.

To Hear Billings

There is no doubt whatever but that the court will hear Billings testify, either in or out of prison, Chief Justice Waste told the United Press.

And along with the possibility of a prison session to hear the Billings story, there is a chance that the court may convene in San Quentin where Thomas J. Mooney, convicted of the bombing also, is confined.

A request by Frank P. Walsh, attorney for Mooney, that his client be called as a witness is now before the court and will be granted

THOUSANDS JOIN IN OBSERVING FIESTA

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Thousands of visitors joined the townspeople today in opening the annual three-day old Spanish days fiesta with a lengthy street pageant depicting the channel city's romantic history.

The crowds dressed in Spanish costume formed a picturesque background to the pageantry as they filled streets to overflowing and crowded on low hung balconies. The parade was featured by a score of blooded horses from the mountains back of the city.

A night pageant in Peabody stadium and other entertainments will fill the three days of merry-making. The fiesta officially opened last night with the ringing of bells at the old mission.

DURANT PUBLICITY MAN MEETS DEATH

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Edward J. Clapp, 49, personal publicity representative of William C. Durant, automobile manufacturer, jumped or fell to his death today from the roof of the Grosvenor apartment hotel, narrowly missing several persons.

Clapp was a Yale graduate and was noted as a track athlete while there, some of his hurdle records still being unbroken. He was well known in advertising and publicity circles here.

He handled the Durant $25,000 prohibition enforcement prize contest in 1928. Previous to his connection with the automobile magnate he had been on the faculty of New York university and at one time was financial editor of the New York American.

The Fanchon and Marco band also will be present, according to Norman Sprowl, Fox theaters manager here, who has charge of the entertainment and program.

Greater talkie season will start here with "Our Blushing Brides," with Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery, at the Fox Broadway theater for four days, and "Song of My Heart," the great John McCormick picture, will be seen and heard at the Fox West Coast theater, for five days.

THREE WIVES ASK DIVORCES TODAY

Three divorce complaints were filed in superior court today by wives who charge their husbands with cruelty. In each instance it happens that each mother has two children.

Lydia Nirenberg, who has been married since 1917, charges her husband, Gustave Nirenberg, with extreme cruelty. Gladys Musch, who separated from her husband, Paul Musch, on August 2, charged that he forced her and the children into the car, took them to her mother's and left them, saying he didn't want any more to do with them. Beatrice Old is the third wife charging cruelty in an attempt to secure a divorce. She was married to Floyd Old on July 20, 1927, and the couple separated last Tuesday.

Police News

A number of valuable chickens were reported stolen from the place of W. White, of 517 East Second street, La Habra, some time last night, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office.

Sixty bales of hay were stolen from a field near Buena Park by two men who used a big six-wheel truck, some time yesterday, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office. The hay was the property of M. Makato of Buena Park.

Deputy sheriffs today were investing a report that a house at Lyon and McFadden streets was entered by a burglar yesterday. Hazel Miller reported that she saw a man tear a screen off the house several hours before officers went to the place. The house was entered but apparently nothing was taken, according to Lloyd Fuller, deputy sheriff, who investigated.

Girls Beheaded

Five communists, two of them girls, were beheaded at Hankow for attempting to instigate a mutiny in prison. Thus the Chinese provincial authorities dealt summarily with their enemies as they sought to preserve the government which has been recognized by foreign powers.

Eleven United States gunboats lay in the river at Hankow, while Japan had eight there and four destroyers enroute up the Yangtze. Great Britain, France and Italy also were well represented among the foreign warcraft, and all were prepared to land forces if fighting should break out in Hankow. Great Britain also had military reinforcements enroute to the city.

No foreign troops have been landed at Hankow, it was understood, and none will be unless the situation should become more serious.

Court Notes

Petition for probate of the will of Julia D. Garnett was filed yesterday with County Clerk J. M. Backs. The value of the estate to be disposed of under the terms of the will is reported not in excess of $11,000.

Charles Robb brought action against Earl Abbott, et al, in superior court yesterday, seeking to recover money alleged to be due and owing on a promissory note. Judgment is asked for $350 plus attorney fees and costs.

Asking a decree of quiet title to certain property located in Rancho Santiago de Santa Ana, a complaint was filed yesterday by W. O. Higgins, et al, against Prudencio Bracamontes, et al.

Judge James L. Allen today dismissed from court the contested divorce action brought by Elinor Mayo against B. B. Mayo. The judge ruled that since both parties were under legal age and were not represented by guardians ad litem, the case was not properly in court. The plaintiff is 19 years old and the defendant 20.

The verdict of the damage suits of the Dubb family and Elizabeth Staes against Harvey Leichtfuss, rests in the hands of the jury trying the case today. The matter was submitted to the jury after argument by attorneys in court this morning. The trial began Tuesday before Judge G. K. Scovel. Damages totaling over $50,000 are asked by the plaintiffs in the two actions which were consolidated for the trial.

TWO KILLED IN CLOUDBURST IN ARIZONA CITY

debris, combined with the force of the water, had smashed every store window on the main street of the Mexican city. Furniture was carried from stores and sent swirling down the streets. Basements of buildings in both cities were flooded with water and the merchandise stored there destroyed.

Telephones Down

With both telephone and electric lighting systems down, service was disrupted throughout the night. Inadequate oil lanterns slowed up the work of rescuers.

The only communication with the outside world for hours was over wires of the Southern Pacific of Mexico, at Nogales, Sonora.

Tourists fled from the Nogales auto camp where the flood waters carried away tents and immersed machines in three feet of water.

Police and city officials were unable to get into the city hall of this city. Those inside attempted to communicate with surrounding towns but were unable to do so.

Police and volunteer deputies were keeping residents from the streets. The force of the water was strong enough to throw men off their feet as they attempted to wade to their stores.

There was no indication as to the end of the storm. Rain fell steadily this morning. The sewer system was flooded and the neighboring creeks were over their banks.

PUNCH BOARDS GIVEN 2 MORE WEEKS TO RUN

The district attorney in commenting on the matter today stated that he believed due notice should be given to the merchants who are operating the punch boards in their places of business as they have relied on the experience of the last 12 or 14 years when there was no action taken in this regard.

While satisfaction was expressed in some quarters with the action which means eventual ban on the punch board in the county, considerable comment was heard as to why the boards were given lee-way of two weeks and why they should not be banned at once if they were violating the law. West, it is said, declared there was a large investment affected and believed the merchants should be given time to protect it.

The slot machine question was not discussed at the meeting today, District Attorney West stating when asked about this point that it had not been injected into the matter at the start and that opinions rendered by the majority of city attorneys and himself some 10 years ago, as well as court decisions in approximately half of the states of the nation, held that the delayed pay type of slot machine was legal and could not be interfered with.

APPEAL LOST BY CONVICTED WOMAN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Mrs. Mary Kavanaugh, whose baby was born several weeks ago just outside the walls of San Quentin prison, has lost her fight for freedom.

The appellate court late yesterday affirmed the convictions of Mrs. Kavanaugh and her husband, Edward, on a charge of burglarizing a theater here of $12,000. Mrs. Kavanaugh was an expectant mother when sentenced but was released temporarily so her baby could be born outside of prison.

CAPT. FRANK HAWKS HALTED BY COURT

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Captain Frank Hawks, who yesterday set a new transcontinental east-west flight record, was served today with a court order which will prevent his proposed take-off Sunday for New York in an attempt to break the existing west-east mark.

ACCIDENT VERDICT RETURNED BY JURY

A verdict of accidental death was rendered by a coroner's jury at an inquest in Downey today over the body of W. C. Van Schoyck, 33, of Fullerton, who was fatally injured yesterday morning when his car and one operated by J. Piper of Los Angeles, collided in Artesia. The body is at the Miller mortuary in Downey.

BILLINGS WILL TELL STORY IN FOLSOM PRISON

should a need for Mooney's personal story develop.

The hearing, which opened July 29, adjourned until next Tuesday at conclusion of yesterday's session. The court explained this was necessary because many important legal cases await decision.

The "re-trial" of Billings and Mooney, involving a review of the July 22, 1916 dynamiting in which ten persons were killed, has occupied the court's entire time since the hearing opened.

John MacDonald's return to California, so that he might tell the court his identification of Billings and Mooney as the dynamiters was false, prompted the hearing. The scope of the probe has broadened day by day, every phase of the crime and subsequent trials being subjects of searching examination.

Theory Advanced

It is generally admitted that one important theory has originated at the hearing. Previously those seeking pardons for Billings and Mooney did so on the contention that they were "framed" by local police and prosecutors because they were labor agitators. This was the basis of MacDonald's repudiation.

Edwin V. McKenzie, attorney for Billings, has stressed through the hearing that the only "framing" was in the mind of unreliable witnesses seeking rewards. This is viewed as important by the defense because it permits belief in the innocence of the pair without admitting that many officials, known to be trustworthy men, inspired witnesses to testify falsely.

Edward A. Cunha, one of the prosecutors who aided in convicting Billings and Mooney, was still on the stand when the session adjourned. He was unrelenting in his assertions that both were guilty and declared they should have been hanged.

Cunha differed with Duncan Matheson, captain of detectives during the investigation. Matheson testified that he favored a pardon for both convicts but Cunha was just as violent as he was in 1916 and 1917 when Billings and Mooney were on trial for murder.

Cunha told the court he had documentary evidence to prove that both prisoners were leagued with a direct actionist group known as "The Blasters" and that they aided in planning the parade dynamiting.

The court will rule Tuesday whether the documentary evidence Cunha says he has may be admitted.

been made the basis of a whispering campaign against him.

Huston's statement contained no pledge of allegiance either to President Hoover or the administration, nor did it contain any threat of possible future action on his part against the authorities in the party who made his resignation necessary.

No Promise Made

It left his future course of action wholly unrestrained by any pledge or promise. The statement was, however, couched in a friendly tone and is understood to have been sanctioned by Mr. Hoover and his associates before being issued.

It follows in part:

"As heretofore announced, I have determined to retire as chairman of the Republican National committee.

"For a lifetime I have been a member and an active worker in the Republican party. I have never sought office or reward in any form. It was with a desire to promote its success and that of the administration, that, upon the urging of party leaders, I agreed to accept the chairmanship. I realized that this course involved many sacrifices and in order to serve more effectively I withdrew from active business."

George Keim, Edgewater Park, N. J., was named secretary to succeed Rep. Franklin Fort, Rep., N. J., who retired to enter the senatorial race against Dwight Morrow in New Jersey several months ago. Keim was a Hoover delegate to the 1928 national convention and has been a generous contributor to campaign funds.

Earnest Lee Jahncke, New Orleans, assistant secretary of navy, was chosen national committeeman from Louisiana, succeeding the late Emil Kuntz. He is expected to have some influence in distribution of southern patronage, a question which was raised against the administration. The case of Mann, who was one of the leaders in the Hoover southern campaign, was not discussed at the meeting.

They claimed Horton would carry Shelby, in which Memphis is located, by 25,000. Two years ago Shelby returned a 25,000 majority against Horton when he ran for the same office.

Gwinn's faction estimated they would have a 30,000-vote majority.

Four persons were hurt when an automobile, reported driven by B. A. Crane, 35, of Marvista, Calif., ran off the road and ran into an Edison company pole at Seventeenth street and Grand avenue at 7 o'clock last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane and Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Cobb, of Livermore, Calif., were injured. They were taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where it was reported their injuries were not of a serious nature.

Joe La Mont, 67, Garden Grove barber, was seriously injured at 7:45 p. m. yesterday when he was run down by an automobile reported driven by Keith Wells, 18, of 420 South Pomona street, Brea.

The accident occurred just west of Garden Grove. According to a report made by Wells, the man stepped from the side of the road directly in front of the machine and was struck before the brakes could be applied.

La Mont was taken to the Orange county hospital, where it was said he suffered a broken left leg, between the knee and hip, and that he also received serious cuts and bruises.

FORESEE EARLY COMPLETION OF THROUGHROUTE

Possibility of the opening and completion of Harbor boulevard within the next year, was announced to the county planning commission today by Nat Neff, county superintendent of highways and member of the commission. The boulevard extends from the Brea canyon road at its intersection with the state highway just north of Fullerton, to Newport bay, hooking in with the coast route at the bridge across the bay near the old country club.

Several gaps that are now blocking this through road will be linked up during the year according to the plan outlined by Neff, the most important one of which is a stretch of about a mile where the road will cross the Santa Ana river. The route will follow Palm street from Anaheim, then hook into Buaro road and Fairview road into Costa Mesa. Here it will link up with Seventeenth street and the new road that is to be opened into Costa Mesa past the new Harbor Union High school, down the cliff and into the coast route at the bridge.

Other business that occupied the attention of the planning commission today included a study of the proposed regulations governing sub-divisions, which members hope to have ready for a hearing with real estate men in the near future, possibly at the next session of the commission.

MAKES REPORT ABOUT ORTEGA ROAD BUILDING

A progress report made by F. C. Fulmor, of Riverside, engineer, at the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of joint highway district 15, in charge of building the Ortega highway between San Juan Capistrano and Elsinore, shows that equipment is in place and that preliminary operations consisting of cutting away dangerous points on curves, have been started.

Action was taken appointing P. N. Hood, of the Orange county road department, as assistant secretary. The board also requested the engineer to prepare plans for extension of the work that is being started this year. The frist year's budget was $225,000 for 6.2 miles of the highway, and savings effected in the actual contract price under the estimates point to the possibility that additional mileage may be completed this year.

T. C. Jameson, of Corona, president of the board, George Jeffrey, vice president, Fulmor, Hood and L. W. Blodgett, attorney for the district, attended the meeting yesterday. Regular claims were allowed and routine business transacted. The next meeting is set for September 3.

Court Fines Two Men On Reckless Driving Charges

Two men, charged with driving automobiles while under the influence of liquor when they were arrested here several days ago, were fined in Justice Tom Pickerill's court this morning, after the complaints had been reduced to reckless driving.

Lewie Germain, arrested on East First street, after an accident, was fined $150 and given a 90 day suspended jail sentence when he pleaded not guilty to the latter charge, and George W. Reed, whose car ran off the road, on Buaro road, and crashed into a telephone pole, was fined $50 and given a six months suspended jail sentence.

Editor Register:

Many and varied are the opinions regarding our primary election laws. Regardless of these opinions the fact remains that our state and county officials are nominated or elected by this method.

The intent and purpose of this law was to displace the caucus method of nomination with a popular nomination by all the people.

Many there are who consider the primary election of little or no importance, feeling that the general election is the important event where candidates are elected to office.

This view might be more or less right if the just intent of the primary law had been carried out. This is not the case, however. The politicians, seeing that their power was gradually waning, due to popular nomination, and noting the general lack of public interest in the primary elections, manipulated and lobbied through our legislature amendments to the primary law which makes the primary election in this state a bone fide election in many instances.

The law states that where but two candidates are running for election for the same office, the one receiving the majority of votes cast for this office at the primary, shall be declared elected and his name shall not appear on the general election ballot.

Where more than two are running for election for the same office, if one of such candidates shall receive a majority of all votes cast for that office, he shall be declared elected. If a majority vote is not recorded for a candidate in this instance, then the two highest names shall appear on the ballot at the general election.

With the voters of this country in a progressive attitude for a general house cleaning of our official family, and where the majority of these offices have but two candidates, it can readily be seen that it is of vital importance that the people be wide awake to the possibilities of the ultimate result of the primary election of August 26, this year. Among the more important offices, where there are but two candidates, and the election will be final August 26, are the following: Auditor, assessor, tax collector, surveyor, coroner, supervisor second district, and supervisor fourth district.

Citizens and tax payers, wake up before it is too late. Do not fail to go to the polls on Tuesday the 26th instant, and register your protest, in no uncertain terms, against the machine manipulated control of our county affairs. Vote—by all means vote—and let your conscience and love of county, home and economy be your guide.

DAIRY DIVISION LEADERS GATHER

A dinner meeting of the dairy department of the Orange County Farm bureau was held at 6:30 p. m. yesterday in Ketner's cafe, where communications from F. D. Robson, chairman of the state dairy department and a member of the state committee studying dairy laws, were read and discussed.

In the letter from Robson, matters were discussed relative to forming a tuberculosis control as permitted by the action of the last state legislature and which was recently declared constitutional. This measure would not permit payment of indemnities until such payment was provided for by the state legislature. Furthermore, the counties must be declared tuberculosis control areas before they can secure payment.

In regard to legislation pertaining to changing the present grades of milk as now prescribed by existing dairy laws, the directors of the dairy department expressed themselves as being against such a measure. Plans were made for a general dairy meeting to be held soon to discuss the problems confronting the dairy industry at the present time.

William Segerstrom, chairman of the dairy department, presided over the meeting.

ANY CHILD

WE can never be sure just what makes a child restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as your child has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician.

We accept The Compliment!

COMPARE THE ALLSTATE WITH THESE "FIRST LINE" TIRES:

Firestone—Gum Dipped
Goodrich—Silvertown
Seiberling—All-Tread
Goodyear—All Weather
Kelly-Springfield
General Balloon
Fisk—Airflight
U. S. Royal

NOW that one out of every ten tires bought for replacement is an ALLSTATE, competing producers offer brands which in price appear just as attractive. ALLSTATE, however, is a "first line" tire . . . supreme in quality, in mileage and in satisfaction—whereas those tires claiming to equal the low ALLSTATE prices, are known as "second line" brands. We accept this compliment . . . this admission by manufacturing competitors that we bring you ALLSTATES' unrivalled service at the price of their "second line" tires.

And, to eliminate any possibility of confusion among motorists, we list competing brands which we feel deserve, on a quality and service basis, to be compared with the famous ALLSTATE.

BEEMAN TELLS ABOUT WORLD WAR TREATIES

In his talk last night over KREG, L. L. Beeman, who conducts the radio class in international relations, outlined the similarities and differences between the Paris peace conference and the congress of Vienna. His talk, in part, follows:

"Before taking up the treaties at the end of the World War, I want to call attention to a book which I have just finished reading. It is Emil Ludwig's "July '14." Emil Ludwig is a German biographer and historian. The book deals with the responsibility for the war and covers the events during the month of July, 1914, or from the murder of the Austrian archduke to the outbreak of the war. It discusses the immediate causes of the war as I have tried to do in this series of radio talks. Mr. Ludwig is impartial, quotes at length from documents, criticises his own country and its generals and diplomats and is really more severe on them than I have been in my talks.

"The most outstanding characteristics of the World War is its bigness in every way, its numbers, the large figures required to tell the story. When we come to the end we do not say as at the end of other wars, the treaty, but we say the treaties, as it took nine different treaties to end this war. Besides these nine treaties several conferences and other treaties have been made since and others no doubt will yet be made, all direct results of the war.

"I shall not discuss in detail all these different treaties. The one most interesting and most important is the Treaty of Versailles, between the Allies and Germany.

"No one who is somewhat familiar with the French Revolution and the Napoleonic wars and the Congress of Vienna which settled the affairs of Europe afterwards can help but make a comparison with the World War as he studies it. There are many striking similarities between the two peace congresses, the Congress of Vienna in 1814 and the Congress of Paris in 1918. Let's notice the likenesses and differences. We will give the likenesses.

"1. The two peace conferences were very large. At Vienna all the nations of Europe except Turkey were represented, about 14 in all. At Paris 32 nations with 72 delegates were represented. They represented nations on every continent on the globe.

"2. The leading statesmen and statesmen and diplomats were present. At Vienna were the kings of Austria and Prussia, Czar Alexander I of Russia, Prince Metternich of Austria, Talleyrand of France, Lord Castlereagh and the Duke of Wellington from England and the leading diplomats, lawyers and generals from the other nations. At Paris was President Wilson of the United States, Premier Lloyd George of England, Premier Clemenceau of France, Premier Orlando of Italy, Premier Saionji of Japan and also premiers and diplomats from other nations. In addition there were a host of experts from all the leading nations such as engineers, historians, economists, geographers, ethnologists, army and navy experts, labor representatives, etc.

"3. The Congress of Vienna was in session about nine months, from September, 1814 to June, 1815, the Paris conference was in session from December, 1918 to June, 1919, about seven months, though the first month was spent in collecting data and laying plans. The first session was not held until January 18, 1919.

"4. The Congress of Vienna was dominated by the five big powers, England, France, Prussia, Austria and Russia, though it started out with only four. France, which had been left out, was soon admitted to the council of the big four making it five. At Paris at first the big five dominated. They were United States, England, France, Italy and Japan. Japan soon saw that she was not interested in the purely European affairs which were occupying the time of the council and withdrew. This left the big three, England, France and the United States which decided things for the rest of the world.

"5. Both conferences were dominated by a few men. At Vienna, Metternich from Austria, Talleyrand from France, Czar Alexander I from Russia, and Castlereagh from England dominated. Alexander of Russia thought he was the biggest man while in reality Talleyrand and Metternich were really the men who settled things. At Paris as has been said there were the big three, Wilson, George, and Clemenceau.

"6. The little nations in both congresses were ignored.

"7. Both had the greatest world problems to deal with.

"8. Both had to decide between the old order of things which had failed and a new order of things.

"9. In both cases the session were secret. The Congress of Vienna knew no better. You will remember that one of President Wilsons 14 points was 'open covenants openly arrived at.' The diplomats of Europe would not accept this principle. Besides the feeling of peoples were such at that time it would probably have been impossible to have held open session.

10. Both changed the entire map of Europe.

11. Several conferences were held after both to further modify and enforce the provisions.

12. The main program for both conferences had been laid out and agreed upon by the big nations before the congresses met.

"Now let's notice some of the differences between these two great peace conferences.

"1. At Vienna the delegates spend most of their time in having a good time, drinking, dancing, gambling and entertaining at dinners. In order to win the favor of the other representatives Talleyrand planned a sumptuous and gay dinner to which he invited every influential party. As Talleyrand represented France, he was not in good standing with the other delegates and it was thought no one would accept. But when he advertised that he would bring French chefs from Paris to prepare the dinner, and French girls from Paris to entertain, every one accepted his invitation. At Paris in 1919 there was little revelry. Hard work was the order.

"2. At Vienna, France, the conquered nation, was represented and her representative took a very prominent part in shaping the terms. At Paris no representative from Germany was allowed. Germany had to accept what her conquerors dished out to her.

"3. The terms to France in 1815 were very easy. She lost no territory, and was only required to pay a small indemnity. Germany was punished most severely. Not in modern times has a conquered nation been dealt with so harshly by her conquerors as was Germany.

"4 At Vienna the congress was dominated my men with a backward look. At Paris the principles of democracy, self government and the rights of the people were dominant and prevailed. It is true the little nations and subject peoples had little or not part in determining this, yet those who did, the "big three" did not forget them.

"5. The men at Vienna thought they had done a perfect piece of work that would last forever. There were those who knew better. The men who shaped things at Paris knew the work was not perfect, that mistakes had been made, and that changes would have to be made, but thought it was the best that could be done under the circumstances.

"6. Unfortunately after the Congress of Vienna, Metternich, the very incarnation of absolutism continued to dominate Europe for more than 30 years. But the people had had a taste of self government and Democracy finally won out in most of Europe.

"Luckily after the Paris conference, Clemenceau and Poincare, the men of revenge, lost control. Briand, a man of compromise and forgiveness, has been allowed to direct French foreign policies. Ably assisted by such great hearted and liberal men as Stresemann of Germany, McDonald of England, Dr. Benes of Czecho-Slovakia and the fair minded and impartial and wise men from the United States as General Dawes, Owen Young, J. Parker Gilbert, Charles Evans Hughes and President Hoover, much of the bitterness of the war has been removed.

"The League of Nations should not be forgotten as the greatest force in harmonizing the discordant notes left by the great war, for which the world thanks President Wilson, Lord Cecil and Jan Smuts.

"I will have more to say about the League of Nations in another talk. In my next talk I will take up the difficulties faced by the Peace conference at Paris and tell something of the work done."

YACHTING NEWS

BY STUART H. LUCAS

As the preliminary gun was fired at 1:50 p. m. yesterday, the wind at Newport Beach was blowing from the southwest at about 20 miles per hour. The weather conditions were the best experienced from a racing standpoint during the meet.

The boats were sent away in the opposite direction from that usually adopted and when the start of the F class was called, the Diablo, on approaching the line, found a couple of the little fellows playing around in what they thought was open ground. Finding himself in danger of running them down, Com. Pedder had to jibe to avoid hitting them. In a big two sticker with all canvas set, this is a momentous and back breaking undertaking. It was successfully accomplished, however, with the result that Diablo was that much late in starting. Results will be given in the summary.

In the M class Teva won yesterday, making her a tie with the Corsair.

Endymion wins in the F's, with Amorilla second. Ahmook wins in the X class, with Willtie second. In the eight-meter, Marin wins again with second undetermined on account of an undecided protest. In the R's Friendship wins and breaks yesterday's tie. Ay-ay-ay wins her third race, with Caprice second.

The girls in Roses won second in the Skimmers and are now second in the series, being beaten out by Bat by four seconds.

The Pacific Coast class is all jumbled up, the winner yesterday, Scamp, jumped into the lead from third, Jean the previous leader, finishing last. It is now in second position, while the Jade, who was second, is now third by one-quarter point.

The Stars show Hubbard safely perched in first with 62 1-4 points, the second being Keith (who won yesterday), with 57 1-4; the third is Tom Robin, with 52 1-4, who finished fourth yesterday, tenth Wednesday and first Monday.

In the Star race Plumb and Cheezewright beat the gun and had to return. Plumb reached the weather mark fourteenth, but had regained five places at the finish. Webster secured a good start and was leading at the weather mark by a fair margin. This lead he continued to hold throughout the first round. At the weather mark on the second round he was still leading by a much decreased distance. Keith was leading Hubbard but to leeward. When he came about on the port tack to round, Hubbard who had been pinching, squeezed up close enough to force Keith in stays. As soon as Keith put his helm down, Hubbard flopped and Keith was left dead by having come about three times without regaining headway.

As Hubbard had held on for a short distance to force Keith, Fisher coming down on the port tack, slid through Keith's lee and luffed out after Hubbard. A luffing match ensued, which drove both boats to weather of Webster and as they squared away, blanketed him just enough to hold him until Keith, who had gotten going like a house afire, was cutting off his wind also. This left Webster holding the bag and bobbing in the oldrums until all three had passed him. Keith, in the meantime, was holding between Hubbard and Webster and ran through between them into the lead and was never caught. In fact he increased it slowly all the way home.

In the Arrow class the superiority of the Johnson model seems to be fairly well established, as that design has won first and second on all three days of the inside bay races. The Douglas stars All Star, Turtle Star and Vega have been showing well this season, while the new Ditmar boat, Temple IV, has been a wonderful success.

An incident occurred in the star class race that shows the courtesy a real yachtsman extends to others. On the second leg one of the P. C. class, who had fallen behind and was out of the running in her own class, took and kept the leeward position clear to the mark so as to not interfere with the stars who were running neck and neck for the lead in their race.

Young Messenger Captures Bandit

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 7.—Richard Van Tassel, 19, messenger boy of this city, could easily qualify as a Horatio Alger hero.

Delivering a message in the Mexican-Chinese district at night recently, Van Tassel saw a Mexican dash from a Chinese store, closely pursued by two Chinese, after an attempted hold-up of the store.

The Chinese were getting the worst of the argument, when Van Tassell dashed up on his bicycle, rode directly into the middle of the fracas, jumped from his bicycle and grabbed the Mexican, holding him until the police arrived.

COMPARISONS

The contrasts afforded by Pacific States Savings' Statement of Condition show in a graphic way some of the distinctive characteristics of this institution that are important to discriminating savers and investors.

Our Statement of Condition shows the largest invested capital of any building and loan association in the West. By comparison, there is an absence of non-liquid items, for the Furniture and Fixtures and Real Estate accounts are carried at $1 each.

Our Statement of Condition shows the strongest cash position—including the largest voluntary cash reserve—of any building and loan association in the West. By comparison, there is an absence of bank indebtedness. Here again is an illustration of our rule to give the customers the right of way.

In a word, the strength of this institution is MOBILE strength, providing for our savers' funds a liquidity that in 41 years has never been found wanting.

We invite your investigation of the 6% and 5¼% facilities afforded by this, the largest building and loan association in the Nation.

Ends Piles Quick

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. Cutting and external remedies can't do this—an internal medicine must be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, a specialist, succeeds, because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. HEM-ROD is sold by druggists everywhere, and has such a wonderful record of success right in this city that Schramm-Johnson says to every Pile sufferer, try HEM-ROID at my risk. It must end all Pile agony or you get your money back.—Adv.

RELIEVING HIS FEELINGS

RELIGION FOR INVESTMENT IS ORANGE TOPIC

ORANGE, Aug. 7.—The Rev. P. M. McClure conducted the prayer meeting held at the Christian church last evening in the absence of the pastor, who is on his vacation. Attorney D. G. Wettlin brought the message of the evening on the subject "Religion from an Investment Standpoint." The speaker had given the same subject at the Sunday morning meeting of the Loyal Men's class. It was well received at that time and the attorney was requested to repeat the address last night.

The speaker emphasized the thought that this nation is a Christian nation.

"In the early formation of the constitution," Wettlin said, "the group had continued in session after session without coming to any agreement. Then George Washington proposed that the matter be taken up under the guidance of God, with the result that the constitution as a model for the world. Religion is an investment that is not affected by the stock market. It brings returns today as it has for centuries and will for centuries to come."

Permit For Sewer Line Is Granted

ORANGE, Aug. 7.—The consent of the county supervisors for a sewer line through the orchards of the county hospital too serve a new $15,000 creamery which is to be built near the hospital, has been obtained, City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake reported at a meeting of the council Tuesday. A provision was made by the supervisors that should the hospital sewer become overtaxed the creamery line would have to be taken out.

The consent of the city of Santa Ana to put the line under the paving near the creamery also has been obtained, Bonebrake said, and the consent of the Southern Pacific railway to put the line under tracks of the company was still to be obtained.

The sewer line as planned will be 900 feet long from the city limits. The new creamery will serve Santa Ana, Anaheim and Orange and is to be housed in attractive buildings with landscaped grounds.

BLOCK SIGNAL SYSTEM WILL BE INSTALLED

ORANGE, Aug. 7.—The work of placing the new block signal system along the Santa Fe tracks will be begun Monday, according to W. J. Lee, of Los Angeles, who is in charge of the work of making thousands of the signal foundations and battery boxes to be used in installing the system.

The foundations and blocks are being made north of the Santa Fe depot and the crew to the present time has completed 33 foundations and 99 battery boxes.

The signal foundations and battery boxes will be used in installing an automatic electric block system along the Santa Fe tracks from Fullerton to Fallbrook and from Fallbrook to the coast down to San Diego.

Five cars of gravel and sand and 600 sacks of cement have been used in making the comparatively small number of foundations and boxes now completed.

A crew of men arrived here recently to work on the installation and the crews are housed in 18 cars along the tracks.

The battery boxes are about 10 feet in length and are about four feet in width for the largest boxes which hold 48 cell batteries. Smaller boxes will hold 36, 20 and 8 cell batteries.

The boxes will operate hooded flood lights which will change automatically as the track is cleared or when a train approaches.

It is expected that the crew will be here several months while the required number of signal foundations and blocks are being made.

It is understood that the first signals made here will be placed between this city and Anaheim. Other signals made at San Bernardino were recently installed between Fullerton and Los Angeles.

WOMEN SHOULD LEARN USES OF MAGNESIA

Prepare a small quantity of finely cracked ice—about a wineglassful. Pour over it a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Sip slowly until the mixture is gone or you are entirely relieved. It is seldom necessary to repeat the dose to end sick stomach or any inclination to vomit.

Its anti-acid properties enable Phillips Milk of Magnesia to give immediate relief in heartburn, sour stomach, gas. Its mild, but effective laxative action assures regular bowel movement. Used as a mouthwash it helps prevent acid erosion and tooth decay during expectancy.

With every bottle of Phillips Milk of Magnesia, come full directions for its many uses. All drug stores have the 25c and 50c sizes. Demand the genuine, endorsed by doctors for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.—Adv.

PROOF

By The

1.3 MORE MILES PER GALLON WITH THE NEW MACMILLAN

NOT everyone is directly interested in how many gallons of gasoline a fire department motor consumes per hour . . . but every driver of a motor car is interested in the fact that a test made by the San Diego Fire Department, July 29th and 30th, 1930, demonstrated an approximate

SAVING OF 24½%

You can prove to your complete satisfaction... just as the San Diego Fire Department proved ...that Macmillan "more power...more mileage" is an absolute definite fact.

No matter what car you drive . . . Cadillac or Ford, Lincoln or Studebaker... rain or shine, fair weather or foul . . . Macmillan will give you "more mileage per gallon than any other gasoline you have ever used... or your money back."

The new Macmillan is manufactured by a patented process discovered by Macmillan engineers and chemists, owned and used exclusively by this company. By this process, a combination of qualities is given to you in Macmillan gasoline, heretofore thought impossible: (1) quick starting; (2) 12% greater power; (3) more mileage.

The proof of every Macmillan claim is waiting for you at the red, white and black pumps. If your motor could choose, it would say "Macmillan."

The following is a complete affidavit, proving the superiority of Macmillan gasoline as a motor fuel.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that an official test made on the new Seagraves fire apparatus for San Diego Tuesday, July 29th and Wednesday, July 30th using a premium gasoline and the New Macmillan gasoline, the following results were obtained:

On the premium gasoline we used 13 and one-half gallons per hour and pumped 1023 gallons per minute at 120 pounds pressure with a 10-foot lift.

On New Macmillan gasoline we used 11 and two-thirds gallons per hour and pumped 1189 gallons per minute at 120 pounds pressure with a 13-foot lift, which was 166 gallons more per minute than the above mentioned test.

The New Macmillan gasoline showed much greater efficiency in power, higher water pressure and an approximate saving of 24 and one-half per cent.

Daly's Ozark fiddlers, featuring an old time program, will make an outstanding contribution to the program brought to radio listeners over KREG tomorrow night. The fiddlers will be heard from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m.

The organization is credited with having produced the only all night radio program of old time music ever presented. It recently played over a Los Angeles station for eight continuous hours. A condition of the appearance was that the organization was to stop playing whenever three minutes passed without a request number being phoned in. There were not three minutes free of request until 5:15 a. m., when the all night program ended.

PRODUCE UNIQUE 'RADIO' PROGRAM

The Orange County Radio service presented a very interesting and rather unique program last night, featuring the well known Doc and Ray duo with their Vibrola banjos and guitars. These entertainers are heard regularly on the programs of KREG.

An exact duplicate of a radio studio was installed in the front show window of the store and was complete in detail, even to the extent of special curtains to eliminate echo from reaching the microphone.

Doc and Ray presented popular numbers from the store's "studio" from 7:30 until 10 p. m. The duo's regular program from KREG broadcast between 8:30 and 9 p. m. was picked up and "rebroadcast" by the special equipment.

Why Orange County Needs a New Assessor

GEORGE D. MONTGOMERY
Candidate for Assessor

Two candidates are in the field. One a man of mature years, the other in the maturity of his young manhood.

One has been in the office twenty years, the other has had twenty years training in business, fifteen of which were with a corporation known to recognize ability as the only requisite for advancement. He was the man directly responsible for the elimination of dual telephone service in Southern California. He bore the brunt of the immense amount of detail work in connection with the consolidation of the two great telephone systems of Los Angeles.

One, by reason of years of contact with the same daily grind has, by the simple law of nature, become more or less antiquated. In this advancing age his viewpoint is not the same, his outlook has dimmed, his grasp of assessment problems has necessarily diminished. The other, in the vigor of youth matured by success comes as a new broom, with mind alert, with keen insight into the vital problems of assessment work, with enthusiasm, ambition and determination for accomplishment.

One, because of uninterrupted service has lost sight of many of the necessary qualifications of a public servant. The other thoroughly realizes the importance and necessity of cooperation, he knows what the people expect, he understands their wants.

The incumbent has served his time and has served most faithfully and conscientiously. But some day he must step out and turn over the reins of office to a successor.

The new candidate has every qualification any successor could ever have, he stands at the threshhold of public service and says: "Here am I, prepared and qualified to answer your call to duty. If elected, every honest, sincere and strenuous effort of which I am capable will be made to faithfully and conscientiously prove true to my trust."

Mr. Montgomery is the logical man to select. He is a citrus house president, and exchange director, a university graduate, a Spanish War veteran.

Vote for George D. Montgomery for county assessor.

DE HATE FAVORED OVER MACIAS TONIGHT

Tilden Defeated By Youngster

MIRACLES OF SPORT - - - BY ROBERT EDGREN

SHIELDS WINS AS 'BIG BILL' LOSES TEMPER

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 7—(U.P.)—Frank Shields, New York youngster, scored a major upset today when he defeated "Big Bill" Tilden in a quarter-final match of the Meadow club's annual invitation tennis tournament.

The score was 6-1, 2-6, 6-1.

Shields, national junior titleholder in 1927 and 1928 played superbly to defeat the Wimbledon and American champion. Tilden, just returned from abroad, was badly off his game.

Shield's victory blasted Tilden's hopes of winning a third leg and permanent possession of the Southampton trophy.

Glares At Officials

The Philadelphian appeared to take his first American set-back since 1928 with bad grace. He glared at the officials, argued with the linesmen and even turned his atention to the spectators when he found himself facing defeat in the third set.

After losing the first set, Tilden raced through the second set to win handily. His back court game and heavily topped drives baffled Shields and the gallery warmly applauded "Big Bill's" play.

In the third set, however, when Shields came back with a brilliant and diversified attack, Tilden became petulant and then truculent. Several times play was halted while he glared at some offending official or spectator, a rather ridiculous figure with his young opponent calmly waiting for him to resume pay.

Tilden Ired By Laughter

The match point produced a particularly unfortunate display of temperament on Tilden's part.

He had driven sharply to Shield's backhand and had rushed the net, covering the lefthand court in the belief that Shield's would drive that way in return, but the youngster crossed him neatly, scoring a clean placement, and at the spectacle of Tilden, standing flat-footed and open-mouthed at the net, and in-cautious spectator roared with ungentlemanly laughter.

The champion's glare woud have shriveled a marble statue, but only caused the rest of the gallery to increase its applause for young Shields.

George Lott Routed

Francis T. Hunter defeated Jacobs of Baltimore in straight sets 7-6, 8-6.

Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Texas, recently returned from the Davis cup match, defeated Richard Murphy, of Utica, 7-5, 6-4, and will meet Francis Hunter, veteran star, tomorrow in the semi-finals.

In an upset Sidney B. Wood defeated George M. Lott, of Chicago, member of the Davis cup team, 6-4, 3-6, 9-7.

He will play in tomorrow's semi-final against Frank Shields, New York youngster, who overturned Tilden earlier in the day.

Jo Cruickshank Defeated By Miss Burkhardt

Santa Ana's girl tennis star, Josephine Cruickshank, suffered defeat in the third round of the Maidstone club's tournament at East Hampton, N. Y., yesterday.

She was eliminated by Miss Ethel Burkhardt, San Francisco, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-2.

During Miss Cruickshank's sensational march to the finals of the Seabright tournament last week, she won from Miss Burkhardt, 8-6, 6-4.

Miss Burkhardt is ranked eighth nationally, Miss Cruickshank tenth.

GARDEN GROVE WINNER OVER WESTMINSTER

Garden Grove was one-up on Westminster today in the baseball debate for the championship of the Orange County "B" league.

Overcoming a three-run spot, Claude Anderson's Chilipepper Juniors shattered Westminster's long winning streak with a 5 to 3 victory in the first game of the play-off series between the split schedule winners at Garden Grove last night.

After a wild and ineffective first inning, caused perhaps by his tardiness in arriving at the park and his subsequent inability to warm up, Russell Muir, Garden Grove's young pitching star, settled down and hurled scoreless ball through the final eight stanzas, allowing the Aviators only five more hits.

Westminster started out, however, like it was going to make short work of Muir, to say nothing of the series. "Butch" Burns went out harmlessly enough on a pop fly to Edwards, but Davis walked and McGuire singled and both raced home on Sauers' triple to left after Bill Gardner flied out. Sauers scored on a wild pitch.

Garden Grove got one of these back off Ira DeBusk, Westminster's star moundsman, in the last of the inning. Hodgenson, Marks and Dungan all singled infield and Hodgenson scored on Tyler's sacrifice.

The Peppers marked thrice in the third and took a 4-3 lead. Hodgenson walked, Dungan singled, Tyler sacrificed and Edwards doubled, clearing the bases.

Umphress made Garden Grove's last run with a mighty home run to deep left field. The Ruthian wallop came in the fourth frame.

Marks paced the Garden Grove attack with three hits in four attempts. McGuire and DeBusk both got two each for Westminster.

The box score:

LA HABRA HERE FRIDAY: DALEY MARRIAGE TOLD

The grand rush for tickets to the Santa Ana-La Habra National Night league "championship" game scheduled for the Santa Ana Bowl tomorrow night, was on in dead earnest today.

When 2000 ducats went on sale this morning at the El Corral service station, Third and Birch streets, and at Baker's bakery, 214 West Fourth street, a line of fans was in waiting at both places.

By noon approximately half of the whole block had been sold, Horace Snow, president of the Santa Ana Night Ball association, announced.

Hundreds of fine seats still remain unsold and these will be available until 6 p. m. tomorrow, Snow stated.

Matching the one-two clubs of the race, the Bowl affray will go far in deciding the pennant race. A Santa Ana victory will virtually assure the Stars of first place as both La Habra and Anaheim are approximately two full games back of Herb Salveson's aggregation.

LEAVITT DALEY MARRIED

Leavitt Daley, brilliant second baseman and leading hitter of the Stars, has been married since June 21.

His bride is Helen Degman, June graduate of Long Beach high school.

Accompanied by her cousin, Virginia Devers, Miss Degman and Daley left Santa Ana immediately after the Santa Ana-Fullerton game and motored to Yuma, Ariz. where they were married by the Rev. J. Brooks.

News of the marriage leaked out last night when Miss Degman's parents were hosts at a birthday party for the baseball star.

Miss Degman is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Degman of Long Beach.

Daley is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Daley, 869 West Washington avenue, Santa Ana.

The couple will reside at 6624 Lime street in Long Beach where Daley is employed by the Associated Telephone company.

COLTON VS. ANAHEIM

Colton, leading team of the American Night league and the outfit Santa Ana's Stars would meet in the Southern California titular play-offs if they win the National league streamer, will be seen in action at Anaheim Monday night.

Scores of local baseball fans are expected to attend this contest for which all seats have been reserved. They may be obtained at the J. and N. shop in Anaheim.

SOUTHPAW PHENOM

Much of the credit for Wichita's showing in the Western league this summer is due Charlie Wood, below, 19-year-old southpaw pitcher who won 16 of his first 18 starts and led the circuit in strikeouts with an average of almost 10 per game. Wood also is one of the league's leading hitters. Eyes of major league scouts have been on the young man for several weeks, and it is likely that his performances will be rewarded with a big league offer.

CHOCOLATE AND BERG CLASH IN NEW YORK RING

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Jackie Kid Berg, of England, and Kid Chocolate, of Cuba, the one rising to eminence from the squalor of London's Whitechapel, the other once a half-naked street gamin in Havana, will fight 10 rounds at the Polo Grounds tonight for a stake that is rich in money but far richer in its promise of rewards to come.

The winner, they say, will be the next lightweight champion of the world, which is going pretty far, since the next lightweight champion is quite liable to be the present holder of the title, Al Singer, as a fighter, the latter is nobody's chucklehead.

Singer Got There First

However, only the whimsies of chance have kept Berg from being the champion today. It is obvious now that the first man to get to Sammy Mandell was to win the title. Singer got there first. So tonight Berg must go down to the class below in order to prove that he is an adequate challenger in the lightweight division. New York is like that.

Berg ruled a 6 to 5 favorite today and it is probable that his price will be longer by nightfall.

He can go wrong, particularly if the referee is disposed to be technical about things, but if Berg does go wrong, his explanation will have to be downright plausible. He has almost every advantage—six pounds in weight, greater stamina, greater durability and, at least, a stand off in speed.

Chocolate Good Puncher

Chocolate can outhit the Englishman but whether he will or not remains to be seen, since it is an established fact that one doesn't hurt what one doesn't hit. If Berg fights his fight, a crowding, punch-a-second fight, then Chocolate, the counter-puncher, may never know the moment when he can set himself for a punch.

The fight will do a little better than it might expect but not so well as the promoters thought it would do. It probably wil play to about 30,000 in attendance and perhaps $150,000 in money. The boys are getting all of $13 for ringside seats—when and if they

'WILD MAN' IS REGARDED GOOD SHORT END BET

Fighting a 10-round main event, they figure to give Orange County Athletic club fans one of the greatest aggressive contests in the history of boxing at Delhi.

It is a hard one to figure.

De Hate, on past performances, rates as the better but he has been out of harness for so long there is bound to be a certain amount of uncertainty how well and how long he can go.

A puncher never loses his punch just as a home run hitter never loses his batting eye, and De Hate, a killing puncher, is apt to roll Macias into the rosin at any time. By the same reasoning, Macias is at to stow De Hate away. The Mexican is not a powder-puff socker himself.

Macias Good Short Bet

De Hate has never appeared at Delhi but he has been a top-notcher for several years, and his reputation, if nothing else, makes him favored to win. But Macias, strong as a bull, is in superb condition and looks like a sweet short end bet.

The bout is not likely to go the limit although neither party has taken the count often. De Hate has been knocked out but once or twice. Macias failed to reach the wire just once.

Milford Berglund, classy San Bernardino Swede welterweight, looks like a sure-fire winner over Sid Gregory, Long Beach redhead, in the six-round semi-final. Gregory is game and tough but has neither the punch nor the boxing ability of Berglund, one of Southern California's best young prospects. Berglund may have a lot of trouble utting Gregory down but looks like a decisive winner on points.

Willis Meets Newcomer

The Drewry Willis-Hank Bisk special event, another six-rounder, is intriguing because Bisk is supposed to be a hot number from Chicago, on his way to bigger and better things in Los Angeles. The last such to show here was Tommy McGough who walked right into one of Tony Moreno's right hand swats and gave himself up in the first round. Bisk is said to be the real thing, but Promoter H. T. Foust certainly is feeding him no pushover in Willis. The Pomonan is not much shucks of a boxer but he is game aud tough if anyone is.

Justin Pascua and Micky McGuire meet in the second spot, a four-round affair. Pascua is a Santa Ana Filipino, a southpaw, who looks like a winner.

A rematch between Carl Seibel and Ralph Garcia, lightweights, opens the entertainment. They went to a draw last time. Garcia is favored this trip.

MASTRO, LA BARBA IN MATCH TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Fidel La Barba of California, former world flyweight champion, will make his bid for recognition as the foremost contender for the featherweight title, in a 10-round bout with Earl Mastro of Chicago, at Chicago stadium tonight.

La Barba, Mastro, Kid Chocolate and Champion Bat Battalino are rated as the leaders of the featherweight class, with the champion regarded as a weak fourth. Chocolate has deserted the 126-pound division to try for the lightweight title and unless he suffers a setback in his match with Kid Berg at New York tonight, the winner of the Mastro-La Barba bout probably will get the first chance at Battalino's title.

Mastro and La Barba have met twice before, each winning one decision and there is little to choose between the two on comparative records.

KID MEXICO WINS FROM 'BUD' BAKER

WILMINGTON, Aug. 7.—Kid Mexico, Huntington Beach middleweight, won the verdict in a 10-round fight last night with "Bud" Baker, Long Beach motorcycle cop. Andy Dumler won by a technical knockout in the fifth round of the semi-windup with Ferris Brown.

CULVER CITY, Aug. 7.—Young Papke, brother of the once noted "Ten Second" Papke, will meet Battling Ortego in a six-round main event here tonight.

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

A. J. Cruickshank, president of the First National bank and the naturally proud parent of one of America's finest women tennis players, has graciously given me some clippings that would interest the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

One of them is a full column story about and a two-column picture of Miss Josephine, his daughter, taken from the New York Times, one of the world's largest newspapers. The words "Santa Ana" appear throughout the story. That is publicity money CAN'T buy.

Referring to Miss Cruickshank's impressive victory over the nation's third ranking woman player, Edith Cross, the newspaper said in part:

"The Cross-Cruickshank affair was a swashbuckling battle between two of the hardest drivers among the fair sex.

"Both remained in back court and slugged for all they were worth.

"Miss Cruickshank prevailed by virtue of greater accuracy and power. Her long, low smashes were landing just within the baseline with marked consistency, whereas her rival was exceedingly wild, due chiefly to faulty timing."

Fight fans who saw Baby Sal Sorio in his spectacular fights with Joey Sangor, Dario Barron, Mike Watters, Tod Morgan and others, and then saw him knocked out ruthlessly by Young Peter Jackson at the Orange county athletic club here are watching his comeback with interest.

The little Mexican went on the shelf because of a herian ailment, He got so he couldn't use his right hand—and his right was his payoff. An operation has made him physically sounr, they say.

At 21, with his experience Baby Sal should do well. He has been out of action almost a year and weights about 140 now.

His manager will take him on a tour of Mexico before offering him to matchmakers in Southern California.

In connection with Baby Sal's bout for Promoter H. T. Foust at Delhi, there is an interesting little story that has never been published.

Sal had no idea there was anything the matter with him until a Santa Ana physician, representing the California state boxing commission, made the usual physical examination at "weigh-in" time" which was 3 p. m. the day of the Jackson fight.

No other doctor had been so thorough, apparently.

When the physician made known his findings, Sal's face turned as white as the high school. He was smart enough to know that a low punch might kill him.

He was passed as o. k. for the scrap only on his premise that he would immediately undergo an operation.

Mexicans are temperamental people as a class, and I've often wondered whether the knowledge that he had a hernia knocked out Sal as much as Jackson's punch.

SATIRIZING SCHMELING

The caption above the group is "Deutschlands Aufsteig," which our German operative says means, "The Rise of Germany." And underneath is the legend, "Welch ein Fortschritt: von Goethe uber Bismarck bis zu Schmeling," or, "What progress! from Goethe through Bismarck to Schmeling!"

Which makes it appear the Germans know how to take their little joke as well as their sauerkraut.

PEEK'S MARKET GIVES LEGION FIRST DEFEAT

The first of a two-out-of-three game series between the Dennis Printers and the Orange County Builders' Exchange for the championship of the first half of the Santa Ana City league will be played in the Bowl at 8:15 tonight. The Richfield and Eastern Oil companies met at 6:45 in a preliminary encounter.

"There ain't no justice," Pitcher Earl Jones grumbled today.

He had reference, no doubt, to the Santa Ana City league baseball game he and his American Legion comrades lost, 3 to 2, to Peek's market in the Bowl last night.

For be it known that the Butchers made all their runs and all their hits in one big inning, the fifth, in thus receipting for the Legion's first defeat of the second half of split city circuit season.

For that matter, the Legion made both its runs in one inning and strangely enough its big frame was the fifth, too.

Fred Robertson't willow accounted for both tallies, Ralph Barker and Muckenthaler racing homeward on the big outfielder's line drive which Shortstop Don Smith knocked down but couldn't hold. That was the only damage done to "Red" Angell, the Peek pitcher, who stopped the Legionnaires with five scattered hits.

Arnold Peek's henchmen came right back in their half of the same frame with enough runs to win. Bill Zangraft's home run started it. Berry and West singled. Wright forced Berry at third but Angell's infield hit loaded the bases. Snow was safe on an error, West scoring. Smith forced Wright at home then Jerome walked, forcing Angell home with the winning tally.

The score:

A man desn't buy himself a brand-new automobile and start out to drive it without first taking a few driving lessons. To the vast army of persons who have never played golf, but who will start out this season, I say don't just go out on the course and start playing in a haphazard fashion.

Most everyone likes to do well anything he undertakes. You will become that way about golf, sooner or later, just as in your automobile driving. And golf will be just as valuable to you as your car; it will give you as much pleasure, or as much grief, according to the faults of either.

If you are starting golf this year, see a professional first. Take a half dozen lessons from him. Golf is not a thing to trifle with. Once started out wrong, it is difficult to get on the right path.

The pro will teach you to make the correct swing. More than that, he will give you the knowledge of the fundamentals so that you can understand and appreciate them.

The cost will not be great and the money will be well spent. If you can afford to take a full course of lessons, by all means do so.

CARNERA SAYS HE'S THROUGH WITH 'SETUPS'

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Although Primo Carnera declares he is through fighting "set-ups" and willing to meet any heavyweight in the world it is doubtful that he will be given an opportunity to go through with his proposed fight at White Sox park, August 14.

Primo and his manager, Leon See, arrived in Chicago yesterday but found that Promoter Mique Malloy had not secured a satisfactory victim for the proposed bout. If an opponent is found, Carnera's appearance will depend on the Illinois state athletic commission which has barred See.

"I will not allow Primo to fight unless I can manage and second him," said See. "We don't care who the opponent is, but unless the Illinois commission reverses its action and grants me a license there will be no fight.

"Primo is ready to fight any fighter in the world. He can beat them all and we are willing to put up a substantial side bet that he can knock out any man he meets in six rounds. If he doesn't we not only will pay the bet but will refuse our share of the purse."

pictures under the heading "German Hero Worship" shows Gerhart Hauptmann with Schmeling's mother. The famous writer is asking Frau Schmeling, "Tell me about your great son. I need material for an heroic epic."

Another picture in the group shows police laying hands upon vulgar characters. The lines read, "You spoke in favor of Sharkey? Then I have to arrest you for high treason and blasphemy."

Still another, and perhaps the most keenly humorous of the three, depicts a professor of physiology standing with pointer before a diagram of the anatomy of the genus homo. The professor is pointing to a region below the belt, and the lines say: "Here's the liver, here the gall-bladder and here the world's championship."

Which makes it appear that sundry voices in the Fatherland are not averse to handing the world's heavyweight (by foul) champion the jolly old Bronx cheer.

FIGHT OF THE ROBINS

Recent averages showed the Brooklyn Robins were fourth in the National league in fielding and third in batting. Last year the Dodgers wound up the season batting sixth and fielding seventh, finishing in sixth place. But I don't think that improvement has been responsible for keeping Wilbert's wonders up there so long. Pitching, rather, is the answer to Flatbush success.

"Dazzy" Vance has bettered his last year's mark, but he is pitching only about .500 ball right now, so you can't give him the greatest art of the credit. Young pitchers who have come through under Robbie's careful direction and hasbeens who have been rejuvenated this season are proving to be the props of the team. Phelps, Elliott, Clark and Moss have been pitching winning ball. The veteran Hollis Thurston, brought back from oblivion by Wilbert and kept idle through most of the present campaign by the Brooklyn boss, was turned loose on the lads recently and pitched two shutouts, giving the Cards three hits and the Braves two.

Wilbert, veteran catcher himself, has no peer in the development of pitchers. That's why Brooklyn is up there.

Don George Pins Plestina Easily

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—Don George, former collegiate mat star, had climbed another step toward professional fame today by a victory over Marin Plestina, veteran wrestler, in straight falls here last night.

Although outweighed 35 pounds by his 245-pound opponent, George had little trouble in disposing of Plestina.

Specify SWP and engage a good painter

Why SWP costs less on your house than any other paint

What will it cost to paint your house? This is what concerns you — not what the paint costs per gallon.

While fine old SWP costs more per gallon, it costs less on your home than any other paint. Why? Because one gallon of SWP will thoroughly paint almost twice as much surface as a gallon of cheaper paint. Therefore fewer gallons of SWP are needed.

So — ignoring the fact that SWP lasts twice as long as cheaper paint, and that its weatherproof colors retain their beauty to the very last — the first cost of painting your house with the world's best house paint is actually less than that of cheaper paint. Buy your paint on a job basis and save. Let us prove it to you by simple arithmetic.

CHAPTER 5

"I don't come into it at all," Peter said hastily. Though he had questioned many sheriffs, Peter had never before been the object of their questioning. This turning of the tables was somewhat disconcerting. "I'm a newspaper reporter."

"Well, you must be a good one if you always get this quick on the job," the sheriff mused. 'Got any identification papers on you?"

"I'm on my vacation. Do you think I travel around with a passport?" Peter began indignantly. Who did this fellow think he was to doubt the word of Peter Piper of the Herald.

Then his tightened lips relaxed in a grin. After all, the man didn't know him from Adam, and Peter, the skeptical questioner, was only getting some of his own medicine.

"Got your press badge?"

'Sure." Peter felt mechanically under his coat. "Why, no—as a matter of fact, I haven't."

To Peter's intense annoyance he felt himself twist uneasily under Simpson's gaze. With inward curses, he remembered flinging his press badge into the desk drawer on his last day at the office, in a gesture of repudiation of the Herald and all its works.

"So that's how it is.'

The sheriff's voice was noncommittal.

"Well, folks, we better be going, Everett. I'll have to take both you and Mrs. Everett, till we get this thing straightened out. I guess Julio's sort of a material witness, so he'd better come along. He'll be as comfortable in jail as anywheres else, and we want him where we can lay our hands on him.

"And you too, young feller," he added, turning to Peter. "We'll just hold you on an open charge until we find out something more about you."

"See here, you can't do that!" Peter protested hotly. "You can't go around clapping reporters in jail!"

"Can't, eh?" The sheriff was unimpressed by Peter's indignation. 'As between a reporter and the sheriff of this county, I guess the sheriff has the say-so. Maybe it's different down below."

For the first time, Peter began to take the situation seriously. His cocksureness wavered. It was ridiculous, but the lanky sheriff had somehow obtained the upper hand.

'But I have a perfect alibi!" he announced in sudden triumph. "I was sitting on the verandah with the hotel keeper when Mrs. Coak came and told us about the murder."

"That ain't an alibi for the time of the murder—it's only an alibi for the time of the discovery of the murder, which is something different." the sheriff answered coldly. "Where had you been the rest of the afternoon?"

"I was out panning gold," Peter said with a trace of defiance.

"There ain't no gold left around here worth panning," the sheriff stated with calm finality.

"I was only doing it for fun."

"It ain't what I'd call fun—a lot of hard work for nothing. And I suppose you was having this fun all by yourself?"

"Well—yes; as a matter of fact, I was." Peter clutched at his rapidly waning self assurance. "But see here! You don't mean to say you're going to round up everybody in the whole countryside who spent the afternoon without witnesses!"

"I ain't talking about the whole countryside. I'm just talking about you. And all I'm saying bout you is, that you're a suspicious character. I find you reporting a murder that's barely had time to happen —and without credentials. Maybe you never saw Mrs. Everett before, just like you say. But you turned Julio out, so you could talk things over with her, before anybody else came. Anyhow, if everything's the way you say it is, you needn't be so scared of going to jail. You've got nothing to be afraid of."

"But I haven't time to go to jail! I've got to hunt up a typewriter in this godforsaken town and then hit the telegraph office the quickest thing you know, and get this story on the wire. You can't go and clap me in jail just when the story breaks, you blatherskite!"

Simpson listened quite unmoved to Peter's mingled plea and tirade.

"That's all right—if it is all right," he said calmly. "I guess the story'll be right here waiting for you, if what you say is true—and mind you, I don't say it ain't."

"My God," Peter breathed with awe, "don't you know one goldarned thing about newspapers? Don't you know that there never was a story in the world that would wait while one single blessed reporter within forty miles sat around in jail."

"Maybe you're right," the sheriff conceded. "But you see, I ain't running any newspaper. I'm running the sheriff's office — along with the recorders office and the county clerkship. Right now I'm the sheriff.

"The nearest telegraph ofice is in the next town, and how do I know, if you got started you wouldn't keep right on going? I don't know much about newspapers, but it seems mighty funny a reporter'd be smart enough to get on the scene of a murder just about as soon as there was a murder.

"You can write out your telegram if you want to, and I'll take it over for you, the first thing in the morning."

"Can't you telephone? I'll pay the charges. But for the love of Mike, tell Jimmy Sears I've got a story. He'd be mad as a hatter to be hauled out of bed just to get me out of jail," Peter pleaded.

For the first time in his life, Peter, who had slapped police chiefs on the back, "fixed" traffic tags, and gaily banged open the door of offices in the city hall marked "strictly private," found himself helplessly under the thumb of authority. He knew when he was beaten, and he even contrived to bestow on the sheriff a weak imitation of his usual beaming grin.

"When this gets straightened out," he said, "you'll jolly well owe me all the breaks of the story."

"If I've got anything to apologize for, I won't forget it," the sheriff agreed. "I ain't got any ill will, but till I know something about you, backed up by a little evidence, it pays to be careful."

Seated on a thin-mattressed bunk in a cell smelling of white-wash, Peter scribbled his message to Jimmy while Simpson waited outside the iron-grilled door.

But he did not see the rare smile transform the sheriff's pale eyes into sunny gray pools as he thrust in the clutch of his mud-stained car and drove ten miles through the night to the next town in order to send Peter's telegram without delay.

Still smiling, he unfolded the slip of paper in his hand and read Peter's call for succor—a call which Peter had thriftily marked "collect."

"Big story mystery murder sex appeal great stuff will wire opening story tomorrow exclusive stop rush camera man and type writer Hangtown hotel stop for God's sake rush identification to Bill Simpson sheriff Hangtown county and get me out of jail before other papers tumble to story stop sheriff has me parked as suspect, Signed Peter Piper."

"So that's how it is," the sheriff remarked aloud. "I guess he's a newspaper man all right—else he wouldn't have got all het up about the story first and left the part about his being in jail till the tail end. Well, I pretty much believed him all along. But he sure needed a lesson. He's too used to city ways, thinking he can talk back to. Sheriff Bill Simpson and get away with it. Sort of a pleasant lookin' feller though. I can't say I'm sorry I fixed it so's I owe him something and I can treat hi mright without showin' undue partiality. 'Cause in a day or two Hangtown's goin' to be as full of reporters as a sieve full of gravel."

Jimmy Sears, city editor of the Herald, roused from sleep by the persistent ringing of the telephone, reached one arm out of bed for the receiver.

"Hello. Yes, read it please . . . Would you mind repeating the message? Read it again from the beginning."

When he had banged the receiver back on the hook, Jimmy ran his fingers through his shock of rust colored hair.

"If that fool Peter Piper woke me up for a crazy idea of a joke, he's fired! I don't care if he is the best reporter the Herald ever had," he sputtered. He stared for a moment reflectively at the alarm clock on the bed stand. " If he did —" he said, in tones that boded ill for any jesting Peter's fate. In his mind he repeated the words of the telegram, then hunched himself higher on the pillow. "By jimminy, that isn't a fake! There's just one thing on God's green earth that Peter would never joke about, and that's a story."

Jimmy jerked the telephone again from the stand and held it propped against his chest.

"Western Union. Take a message. To William Simpson, sheriff Hangtown county. Hangtown, California. Peter Piper is authorized representative Herald stop urgently request you do not hold for murder unless absolutely necessary stop if suspected suggest you release on own recognisance to enable him report facts this office stop your cooperation highly appreciated. Signed James Sears, city editor."

"My — aunt — Maria," Jimmy breathed as he replaced the telephone instrument and clicked off the light, "that's what you get for letting 'em loose on vacations. God only knows what its all about. But if Peter's gone and got mixed up in a murder, it's a cinch he'll take care to make it a Herald exclusive. And it's another cinch we've got to get him out of jail to write it, suspected or not. There are plenty of people to put in jail, but there are all too few good reporters."

Peter Piper at the moment deserved the city editor's unheard tribute for sitting up in a narrow bunk, by the light of a single lamp swaying in the corridor outside, he was busily taking notes on a soiled scrap of paper with the stub of a copy pencil fished fro mthe depth of his trousers pocket.

At intervals the pencil wabbled, cigarette-fashion between his lips. Peter Piper had forgotten that he was in jail. He was framing the "lead" for his story, and his mind sang pleasantly to the refrain, "exclusive to the Herald."

Presently his lips puckered. Down the corridor floated the wailing strains of a whistled fragment of tune, pitched in a nerve-scraping minor.

"Hoo—oo—oo, hu-hu-hu-hu!"

A heavy stick banged on the barred door.

'Shut up in there!"

Peter grinned.

"Lots of people have wanted to say that to me, but this is the first time the current opinion of musical critics has been expressed by a jailor," he chortled. "All the same, that's a damn good lead."

Well content, he flung himself back on the lumpy mattress.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped other women and I went to the drug store and got me six bottles. It has done me good in more ways than one and now I work every day without having to lie down. Breakfast Club Entertains County Office Seekers

INTRODUCES 36 CANDIDATES AT HUGE MEETING

Political candidates and members of the Santa Ana Breakfast club were still laughing this afternoon at the jokes and pointed remarks that "Noodles" Fagan, one of the funniest funsters on the stage, produced this morning when he was master of ceremonies at the meeting of the Breakfast club at St. Anne's inn.

Nearly 150 candidates, newspaper guests and club members gathered for ham and eggs at 7:15 a. m. Although all candidates for governor were also invited, none showed up. Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, who was expected, was absent.

The entertainment, with Earl Morrow and Eugene Kahen in charge, consisted of tap dancing numbers by Junior and Mildred Martin, talented young dancers from the Hollywood Breakfast club who are engaged in motion picture work. President B. Z. McKinney read telegrams of regret from Will Rogers, President Herbert Hoover, Al Smith, Hiram Johnson and Bobby Jones, most or all of which were suspected to be "written" for the occasion.

From the time "Noodles" Fagan took the floor until the close of the meeting, laughter was continuous and the famous comedian had an ever-flowing stock of stories and remarks. Brought here by Norman Sprowl, manager of the Fox-West Coast theaters, Fagan was the "hit" of the morning.

Each candidate was personally introduced by Fagan, and whether it was his necktie, bald head, reputation, office, physique or any other characteristic, each office-seeker was the victim of appropriate remarks.

There were 36 candidates at the meeting, including the following: sheriff, Sam Jernigan, Logan Jackson, Leo Porter, Ralph McFadden and William Sylvester; district attorney, Dave Wettlin, Sam Collins, Harry Westover and Harry Haynes. Z. B. West incumbent, was present.

County supervisor: Charles Artz, Stuart Lucas, Lew Wallace, Willard Smith, Eugene Fenelon, Frank Snowden and J. W. Sauers; county auditor: W. C. Jerome and W. T. Lambert; county clerk: J. M. Backs; county coroner: Charles Brown; county tax collector, Belle Spangler and J. C. Lamb.

County school superintendent: Ray Adkinson and R. P. Mitchell; county treasurer: J. C. Joplin, E. B. Trago and Earl Abbey; county assessor: James Sloeper and George Montgomery; county surveyor: W. K. Hillyard and W. G. Knox.

Santa Ana township constable: Jesse Elliott, Vernon Barnhill, Frank Lutz, Cornish Roehm and Bert Dawson.

Other guests at the meeting were Terry Stephenson and Freeman Bloodgood, promoters of Governor C. C. Young; Dr. C. D. Ball and J. C. Metzgar, managers for Buron Fitts for governor; Dr. R. A. Cushman, manager for James Rolph, Jr., F. C. Drumm, former superior judge, who was to introduce Mrs. Foltz; A. S. Bradford, president of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce; F. M. May, secretary of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce; George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, and Thomas E. Pickerill, secretary of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce.

Among the newspapermen present were Justus Craemer, of Orange; Edward Long of Anaheim, Frank Rospaw, of Placentia, and Ernest Wooster of Laguna.

ASKED BIG SUM

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 7.—A new court ruling was established here when Vito Peragolise, a laborer asked $25,000 damages for injuries received on a structural iron job. Counsel contended Peragolise was going blind from an injury to his optic nerve, beside being crippled. Judge E. M. Dickenson, of superior court, who heard the case, decided in favor of the laborer but would not name a compensatory sum of money. Instead, he ordered physicians to study the case until late in the fall and then report to him. On that report is to depend the amount of the award.

CHUBBY AND 'PUPPIES'

"Aren't they pups that any dog would be proud of?" is what the proud smile of Chubby, the Boston Bull, seems to say in this picture which her owner, W. E. Patterson, snapped of her with her adopted family at his home on Newport road. Chubby adopted four chickens on the day they were hatched when their hen mother refused to own them, and has made a marvelous foster mother for them.

DOG PREVENTS CHICKEN YARD TRAGEDY BY ADOPTING CHICKS AFTER HEN ABANDONS FAMILY

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

The scandalous news flashed all over the chickenyard out at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Patterson on Newport road. The old hens cackled away on the subject, while even the big chesty he-men among the Cornish game chickens deigned to cock a weather eye up towards the sun and wonder what this younger generation was coming to.

For Mrs. Biddy, to whom the stork had just brought four cunning, roly-poly baby chicks, had turned up her nose in disdain, and declared emphatically that she was in sympathy with the new feministic movement, and had no mind to be tied down with the cares of a home and family.

"Take the ugly fuzzy little creatures way," she cried fretfully. "I don't want them—it was all a mistake from first to last, and I was a poor weak fool to spend so much time hovering a setting of eggs for four miserable little runts like those. Take them away, I say!" And her voice rose in an angry squawk, as she pecked spitefully at the head of her nearest child.

The little creature peeped pitifully. It had lain so cozily in its snug warm shell, anticipating a life of corn grits and nice long wiggly worms, and here its own mother was refusing to acknowledge it as a child of her bosom. As it drew nearer, hoping that it had been mistaken in what she said, she gave another angry peck at its soft little head, and it ran peeping shrilly, for cover, followed hastily by the three little brothers and sisters, as the thoroughly angry hen fluttered after them, clucking loudly and aiming ferocious pecks at their slight bodies.

"Here, here! What's going on? What does this mean?" growled a deep and authoritative voice, and Chubby, the Boston bull, acknowledged queen of the whole animal world so far as the Patterson acreage is concerned, ambled slowly across the lawn. "I'm sure it's none of my affair, and I don't care to be mixed up with any such scandal," said the big gray cat coolly, stretching herself out in a nice sunny spot, and sheathing her claws luxuriously.

The Cornish game chickens tried to explain, but were constantly interrupted by the thoroughly angry Mrs. Biddy. "Do I understand you to say that you refuse to admit that these are your children, and that you have no intention of providing for them?" asked Chubby. Mrs. Biddy almost sputtered in her haste to assert that she had been understood—perfectly.

"Very well then. In my official capacity as queen of this country, and judge of the supreme animal court, I shall henceforth deny you even a daily visit with these children, and still I can find a suitable nursemaid for them, I'll take the responsibility myself," announced Chubby haughtily. "Come little chickens, you're going to be my puppies from now on," and gathering the four forlorn stragglers together, she nosed them in between her forepaws, and allowed them to snuggle under her nice warm velvety muzzle.

Such is virtually the story of what occurred a few weeks ago at the Patterson home, and Chubby has made a perfect mother for the four orphan chicks, as friends of the family can attest. She has hovered them and sheltered them, watched over them as they ate, fending off greedy larger chickens, and alas for the animal, whether cat, dog or fowl, that attempts to molest one of her adopted brood! The chickens have been perfectly happy under Chubby's kindly guidance, and it is one of the favorite amusements of visitors to the home, to watch some danger seem to threaten, and see them scurry to the friendly haven of the Boston bull!

Chubby is really quite an individual in herself, and has displayed many other sagacious traits that have endeared her to her owners. When W. E. Patterson used to maintain a used car market on North Broadway, it was an entertaining sight for those in the vicinity to see Chubby go to market to purchase her own special brand of dog biscuits. Nor did she ever attempt to open the sack until she had it safely home.

On a recent trip up through the northwestern section of the United States and into Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson took the dog with them. She stopped at the best hotels in the land too. When the Santa Anans would approach the desk to register, they always were informed that the hotels denied admission to dogs, but Chubby would put on one of her own special acts for the amused clerks, and if her master stooped to her side, would remove his hat so gravely, and with a little air of correcting a social error on his part, that the interview invariably ended with Chubby's entry with her master and mistress.

TO STOP DRIVERS

LONDON, Aug. 7.— Tests taken in England show that the ordinary automobile driver is not apt to stop at stop lights or stop signs, and that they are less likely to drive past a barrier of an illuminated line across the street pavement. Consequently, such illuminated lines are being installed in several streets as an experiment. The lights are buried underneath small glass lenses flush with the pavement.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS TALK ON SOUTHERN TRIP

Bringing to his listeners another of the interesting and instructive descriptions of his recent trip to South America, Harry Lewis, of Santa Ana, spoke on the country of Colombia, at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon at St. Ann's Inn.

Theo Winbigler, who acted as chairman, introduced Lewis, who illustrated his talk with two large maps. Colombia, Lewis pointed out, is as large as the Atlantic states, with Ohio and Pennsylvania combined. The many rivers comprise the transportation of the country with the exception of short railroads, which connect the coast, rivers and canals.

The Magdelena river is the main artery for travel through the country, Lewis declared, but with the primitive methods of transportation, it costs $600 to get a motor car to Bogota, the capital. As gasoline sells at 75 cents per gallon, motor travel is comparatively light.

An interesting portion of Lewis' talk was his description of the jewels in the cathedral at Bogota, which were appraised by Tiffany's in New York at $4,000,000 for one and $4,500,000 for the second.

Mrs. Jessie Johnson sang two solos, "Wishes" and "Roamin' In The Gloamin'." Announcement was made of the invitation to join with the Anahei mKiwanis club in a supper and entertainment at the Anaheim city park tomorrow night. It was voted by the club not to have appearances or speeches of candidates for high state offices at the meetings. Leslie Steffenson, delegate to the international convention at Atlantic City, gave a brief account of the affair.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Arthur Bond Yockney made what is thought to be one of the shortest wills ever made out in England. And even it had room for shortening. With these words, "I leave all of my sister, Augusta, and no tommy rot about it," Yockney disposed of his estate of about $10,000.

FILM ROMANCE

MEANEST MAN

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—Thomas Murphy, 35, classed as "as mean a man as ever came before" Magistrate Campbell, was sentenced to a year in jail after the magistrate has personally investigated conditions at the Murphy home on complaint of Murphy's wife. After she had supported him for 11 years, during which he had not done a tap of work, he came home one night and broke up the furniture. Mrs. Murphy thought that was too much.

LIONS CLUB IS ADDRESSED BY NATURE EXPERT

Alfred Cookman, noted ornithologist of Pomona college, presented a most remarkable lecture this noon at the weekly meeting of the Lions club at St. Ann's inn, giving an illustrated talk on "Life Habits of Birds."

Bird life is divided into four distinct divisions, Cookman stated, sporting, scientific, commercial and sentimental. California has 582 species of birds and over 10,000 types of trees and bushes. The greatest enemy to these natural resources is fire, and the speaker made a plea for the conservation of the most valuable assets the state possesses.

Cookman, who has an unusually rapid and dramatic manner of speaking, presented many statistics on birds, diet, speed of flight, habits in mating and migration. He had a stuffed specimen of each bird, as well as many victims of brids, including gophers, mice, squirrels and snakes. He displayed the barn owl or monkey faced owl as the greatest boon to the American farmer and told the amazing amount of food consumed. His demonstration of a fight between a road runner and a rattlesnake was very graphic.

Dr. Merrill W. Hollingsworth was program chairman and Carson Smith, vice president, was in charge of the meeting. Wayne Goble, program chairman next week, announced that Congressman Phil Swing would be the guest and speaker. This will be an open meeting and other clubs and the citizens of Santa Ana will be welcome to attend.

Popular Ball Player Reveals Wedding Of Mid-June

The fact that Leavitt Daley, one of the best-known ball players in Santa Ana sports circles, had been a benedict since June 21, was revealed last night at a merry birthday party given in Long Beach by Mr. and Mrs. J. Degman, parents of Mr. Daley's charming young bride, formerly Miss Helen Degman.

The announcement was a decided surprise to the guests assembled for the pleasant evening, and all were interested in learning the details of the romantic nuptials. They took place in Yuma, Ariz., on the June date, when the young people were accompanied to that city by Miss Virginia Devers, a cousin of the bride. The Rev. Father J. Brooks, pastor of the Yuma Catholic church, read the impressive service.

Mr. Daley, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Daley, 809 West Washington avenue, is with the Associated Telephone company of Long Beach. In athletic circles he is well known as second baseman for the Santa Ana Stars, this city's crack night baseball team.

His bride is a very charming young Long Beach girl who graduated from the high school of that city in June, just a short time in advance of her wedding date. The young people are to make their home in Long Beach where they will receive their friends at 6624 Lime avenue.

Wife Plans Surprise On Birthday of Her Husband

One of those birthday surprise parties when the honor guest was completely unaware of plans for the occasion was a successful affair of last evening, when Mrs. D. B. Peddy was hostess at a gathering in honor of her husband, better known as "Doug" to all his friends. The party was given in their attractive home at 1326 West Fourth street.

Asters in varying hues formed a background for the evening's diversion of cootie. Prizes for high score were awarded Mrs. M. B. Morrison and Harry Hustler, while Mrs. J. O. Gulledge and Howard Sutherland were content with low score.

During the refreshment course the small tables were spread with white linens, enhanced by colored birthday napkins. Admiration of the many gifts presented the honor guest was the main feature of the conversation at this time.

Those sharing in the pleasant evening with Mr. and Mrs. Peddy, and their daughters, Mary Helen and Mildred Marie, were Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Gulledge, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. English, Dr. and Mrs. R. O. Grover, Mrs. Elmira Sutherland and son, Howard Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hustler, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Wisdom, Mrs. Emma Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sudduth and daughter, Peggy, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence House of Long Beach, and Mrs. Laura Martin of Anaheim.

Miss Diehl Is Honored Before Departure For College

Honoring Miss Dorothy Diehl, popular young co-ed of this city who left this morning to take up college studies in her junior year at Berkeley, was the lovely affair given last evening, in the N. E. Lentz home on Tustin avenue, when Miss Marguerite Lentz and Miss Ethel West entertained with a buffet supper.

The delectable menu was served from a long table, centered with a bowl of fragrant pink sweet peas, flanked by slim pink tapers, and the guests grouped themselves at small tables nearby. Following supper the young people adjourned to the living room, ablaze with multi-colored zinnias, where they lingered until 9 o'clock, when they attended a local theater.

The happy affair was the last which members of the little group will share until they meet again for the Christmas holidays, for although they have been together almost since grade school days, all are separating for different colleges. The honoree, Miss Diehl, who is the first to leave, made the trip on the Yale from Wilmington, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. C. B. Diehl, who will return shortly.

Guests present to enjoy the affair last evening, in addition to Miss Diehl, and the hostesses, Miss Marguerite Lentz and Miss Ethel West, were Miss Florence Brownridge, Miss Clara Kate Owens, Miss Shirley Marble and Messrs. William Jerome, Wylie Carlyle, Crawford Nalle, Van Pomeroy, Joe Warner and Stewart McPherson.

California Visitors Taken on Tour of Packing Plant

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wilson, 630 Orange avenue, has proven a pleasant haven for eastern and out-of-state guests during the past two days and yesterday Mrs. Wilson entertained with a daintily appointed dinner complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Trivillian of Portland, Ore. A bowl of delicate pink asters centered the table.

During the afternoon, the guests visited the Santiago Packing plant at Orange, which was a novel sight to them, indeed.

Those present were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Trivillian of Portland, Mrs. H. S. Plough, and son, Stanley, of Los Angeles and Ralph Meyers, of Portland, who has been a house guest in the Wilson home for some time.

Mrs. Wilson again entertained today, this time in honor of her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Rivett, of Detroit, who are now visiting in Long Beach. A third guest was Mrs. Rivett's mother, Mrs. Jessie Vanderburg of Long Beach, who completed the happy party. Following the delectable dinner this group also visited the Santiago Orange packing plant, which proved a novel sight to the easterners and was of especial interest to B. J. Rivett, superintendent of the Northwestern high school in Detroit.

Luncheon Is Compliment To Bride-elect of Anaheim

Since the announcement was made recently of the betrothal of Miss Ethel Phillips of Anaheim, and M. R. Eisenhauer of Los Angeles, the attractive bride-elect has found herself the center of interest among her friends, and the object of their pleasant attentions. The most recent courtesy paid her, was when Mrs. Edward Gary of this city entertained in her home, 1001 South Sycamore street.

Guests were aske dfor luncheon and the enjoyable menu was served at a flower-decked table where covers were placed for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Gray, the honoree, Miss Phillips, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Phillips of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. George Post of this city and Mrs. Ida Cumberland of Orange.

In the afternoon, the feminine guests sewed on articles which were given the honoree for use in the new home to be established in the near future. Late in the afternoon, the serving of iced watermelon provided a refreshing interlude.

Young Musician Will Join Relatives in This City

Mrs. Marietta Philleo of 1115 French street, was made happy by the announcement that her grandson, Donald Abbott, formerly of Lincoln, Neb., and now in Paris for the summer, would arrive in this city early in September to join his mother, Mrs. C. B. Abbott, and his grandmother, Mrs. Philleo. Mrs. Abbott arrived only recently from the east, and has entered the business world here, having leased the Rustic Inn on Anaheim boulevard, which she is opening as a delightful tea room and restaurant.

Donald Abbott graduated from the high school of Lincoln in June, with special honors and as a member of the National Honor society. He is a musician of much talent, having played the trumpet since he was eight years old. Immediately after graduation, he and a young school friend motored to New York City where Donald joined the orchestra of Florida University in a trip abroad. The young collegian served as ship's orchestra on the French liner, La France, and have played in Paris during the summer months.

A special honor came to the players when they were called to Belgium recently to play at the fete given by English subjects in that city, complimenting the King and Queen of Belgium and visiting royalty, notabl the Prince of Wales.

Returning to this country, young Abbott will motor to California by the northern route, stopping at various large cities and points of scenic interest. It is felt that he will be a decided acquisition to school, music and social circles of the city, and undoubtedly he will take active part in all junior college activities.

Hermosa Chapter

In carrying out the Spanish motif in compliment to their special guests of the evening, twelve San Clemente delegates, members of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S., met Tuesday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall for their regular session. Zinnias in brightest tones of red and yellow were used lavishly to express the chosen theme.

Mrs. Neal Beisel, worthy matron, presided over the meeting, which featured a most interesting program. Miss Catherine Grover offered a whistling solo, and was followed by Earl Motley who gave a piano number. That talented young trio, composed of Miss Mary Henrietta Nau, Miss Betty Smedley, and Marion Nau provided the group numbers, while Richard Garrick lent variation to the musical selections with a delightful reading. An appetizing refreshment course was served late in the evening.

Newly Wedded Pair Seek Mountain Honeymoon

Returning late last night from Pasadena, where they attended the pretty wedding of Mrs. Irene Roach and R. Fred Chambers, of this city, the guests privileged to be present were delighting their friends today with accounts of the ceremony.

Both Mr. Chambers and his bride are prominent in young people's work in the First Baptist church, where the former is assistant to the pastor, the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, and is also minister of Christian education. The new Mrs. Chambers has served as senior high and World Wide guild counslor, and both plan to make such activities their future life work.

In chosing the Rev. Stanley V. Silke as the minister to conduct the wedding rites, they selected a close friends and one whose duties in Pasadena approximate those of Mr. Chambers in this city.

Mrs. Roach, who was at her loveliest in a red ensemble costume with smart white hat, was attended by Miss Grace Richards as honor maid. Miss Richards chose a pretty frock in soft green. George Ash assisted Mr. Chambers as best man. The chapel of the First Baptist church in Pasadena, was bright with flowers in honor of the event.

Dinner was served at the Maryland to the new Mr. and Mrs. Chambers, Mrs. Clara Tolifaro, mother of the bride; Miss Grace Richards, Miss Gladys Dunn, Miss Ruth Dunn and Mr. Ash. The honeymooners will spend the week in the San Bernardino mountains, and after their return, Mr. Chambers will complete his plans to leave soon for New Haven where he will take special work at Yale and will be joined, in mid-winter, by Mrs. Chambers.

He has been in Santa Ana for nearly two years, coming from Denison university in Ohio, where he was assistant professor of history, with the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Owings. Mr. Owings, at that time, had the college church. Mr. Chambers' parents still reside in his former home in Indiana. He took his graduate work at Franklin university in his native state, later securing his master degree at the University of Colorado, Boulder.

Church Societies

B. Y. P. U. Assembly

Members of the young people's groups of the First Baptist church are responding enthusiastically to the plans for the B. Y. P. U. assembly which convenes the eleventh of this month at the Pacific Palisades and will continue until August 23. Thus far 11 have registered, and the group includes the Misses Irene Catland, Lula Hodge, Geneva Scotton, and Messrs. Robert Clingan, John Davis, Royce Edson, William Gibbs, Jayson Hodge, Seldon Martin, Owen G. Owings, and Rutherford Williams.

Local division members are to be hosts to the other groups, and will leave for camp Monday, in company with George Ash. It is expected that the program will be exceptionally worth while, as two of the speakers who were so popular during the conference in San Francisco early in the summer, are to be featured. One of these is Dr. Carl S. Knopf of U. S. C. and the other is Dr. Fred P. Wollner, author and teacher at U. C. L. A. as well as chapel leader of the 1928 conference. He will base his discussion on his latest book, "High Lands of the Mind."

Three Hostesses Join To Give Attractive Tea and Shower

Uniting in their hospitality, Mrs. Dale Brockett, Mrs. Homer DeWeese and Mrs. Herbert Kauffman were recent hostesses at a charming shower honoring Mrs. Herbert Meisinger, and chose as the setting for the well-planned affair, the attractive Kauffman home on Tustin and Santa Clara avenues.

Bridge was played during the afternoon hours, and prize awards were given Mrs. Rollo Hays, jr., holder of high score; Mrs. William Riley, second, and Mrs. C. W. Hoyle, low.

The delicacy of the chosen pink and blue motif was expressed during the refreshment course, when cradles in those colors were favors, and tiny wicker bassinets centering the tables, were filled with the daintiest of pink sweet peas and baby blue delphinium. These flower containers served as introductions to the delightful surprise which was awaiting the honoree, for when the doors of the music room were swung open, they revealed a cluster of vari-colored late summer blossoms surrounding an adorable bassinet filled with a variety of baby accessories.

Mrs. Meisinger will be remembered as Miss Margaret Haley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Haley. The latter part of the week she motored to San Diego to meet her husband, who has been in South America for the past several weeks.

Those sharing the pleasures of the afternoon with the three hostesses, Mrs. Brockett, Mrs. DeWeese and Mrs. Kauffman, were the honoree, Mrs. Herbert Meisinger, and Mesdames Edith Brooks, Rollo Hays, jr., Courtney Chandler, Newton Richards, Helen McCollum, C. The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

The Secret of Mayonnaise

Twenty years ago mayonnaise was hardly known outside the big restaurant or hotel, and when women did essay its making they approached the job with fear and trembling and counted themselves fortunate if they had good luck half the time.

Some of my readers will remember the paraphernalia thought necessary to the making . . . the special covered whipping bowl, sitting in another bowl, surrounded by ice . . . only egg yolks permissible . . . seasonings added in pinches . . . oil run in, drop by drop, with painful waiting to see the mixture start to thicken. Sometimes it did, more often it didn't do anything but separate and run, and the remedy was to add more egg yolk and beat briskly until in sheer desperation and disgust the whole mess was pitched into the garbage pail.

Today, we know that the secret of successful mayonnaise making lies in having both oil, egg and acid of the same temperature, icy-cold.

The whole egg is used, seasonings added to the egg, beaten a little to mix, a few spoonfuls of oil added and beaten, a few more until the mixture thickens, then larger amounts until the mixture is so thick it has to be thinned with the lemon juice or vinegar.

I do not believe women know half of the possible uses of mayonnaise. Try it—

As a dressing for hot cauliflower, hot spinach or hot artichokes. It has subtle flavorings which make it twice as effective as butter.

Mayonnaise for cold salmon or halibut is greatly improved by the addition of a small amount of curry powder.

Creamed Tuna, that standby for hurried lunches or dinner, is elevated to the realms of perfection by adding one-fourth cup of mayonnaise to each cup of cream sauce, with finely shredded green pepper for garnish mixed through the sauce.

Ordinary cream gravies are taken out of their class by the addition of a small amount of tangy mayonnaise and plenty of paprika Add just before serving.

Use it in Oyster Cocktail Sauce, 2 tablespoons to 1 cup of sauce.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Curried Cauliflower

1 large head of cooked cauliflower
1 onion and apple, ground
4 tablespoons butter for frying
1 tablespoon curry powder
Salt and pepper to taste
Pinch of cayenne
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup thick cream sauce
10-cent package Parmesan cheese

While the cauliflower is cooking in salted water let's make the curry sauce. First make the cream sauce, using 2 tablespoons each of butter and flour cooked to a thick sauce with 1 cup milk. Have this ready in a double boiler. In a small frying pan put the ground apple and onion to slowly fry in the butter. When both are soft, add the curry powder and stir for a few minutes before adding the rest of the seasonings. Combine with the cream sauce and let stand for a few minutes.

In a shallow baking dish arrange the cauliflower broken into small flowerets. Pour the sauce over, sprinkle generously with grated cheese and bake in a hot oven to brown and melt the cheese. This is an unusual and delicious way of cooking cauliflower.

The recipe serves six quite generously. The calories per person total about 235. Fats and starches and proteins are so well balanced in this dish it might serve as a substitute for meat at any meal. Serve one leafy cooked vegetable, and potatoes your favorite way, with this dish.

DUNCAN SISTERS BIG HIT AT WALKER'S

"It's a Great Life," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture starring the Duncan Sisters, closing tonight at Walker's State, is an all-talking, singing and dancing film directed by Sam Wood and filmed with technicolor sequences. The story might be a biography of the dancers dealing with a sister act in vaudeville which finds itself in difficulties when a quarrel separates the pair who find themselves "flops" as singles.

The new film incorporates a number of skillfully executed dance routines handled by Sammy Lee, who has received no little distinction as a result of his work in several Broadway musical comedy successes.

Tells How Fat Men Can Lose Half a Pound a Day

Here is a simple way to get rid of that corporation and quickly feel in both body and mind the joy of living.

It's the safe way, too—for every day you continue this easy method of losing unwanted and unneeded flesh you'll gain in energy, vigor and endurance.

Nine times in ten obesity means inactivity—It means that your blood is starving for the six vital salts your internal organs need to keep you youthful, active, ambitious and keen in mind.

When you take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts every morning in a glass of hot or cold water you get these six vital salts which modern foods and cooking do not supply.

Start taking Kruschen Salts—that's the common-sense way to reduce—but don't take them with the idea that they possess reducing qualities in themselves.

This is what they do—they clean out the impurities in your blood by keeping the bowels, kidneys and liver in splendid working shape and fill you with a vigor and tireless energy you'd most forgotten had existed.

The urge for activity will be so marked that even at the end of a hard day's work you'll feel ready for any social activity or recreation—you can play as hard as you work.

And after two weeks your excess flesh starts to go—you'll know it—feel it—see it—the scales will tell the story.

As one, once corpulent man remarked—"I feel so energetic that I want to get up with the lark and I'm just as lively as a cricket.

Kruschen Salts is not a purgative or a cathartic, but a real system conditioner and for those who are the victims of constipation or toxemia its daily use soon means blissful regularity.

Get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts—last 4 weeks—at Mateer's Drug Co., and Givens and Cannon—or any druggist in the world.—adv.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The Mediterranean Sea was quite a scene and every Tinymite enjoyed the boat ride they were on. It was a heap of fun. Our sight of land they never went and 'round the deck their time was spent. The ship was very large and there was lots of room to run.

"I'll tell you what," said Clowny. "We can play some games. Now, hark to me and I'll suggest one we'll all like. Let's make it hide and seek. We'll find a lot of spots, all right, where we can hide far out of sight. Now, I'll be it and while I count, the rest of you all sneak!"

He started counting, "Two, four, six—" and Scouty cried, "None of your tricks. Be fair and count off one by one." So that's what Clowny did. The others scampered merrily and it was lots of fun to see the funny places they picked out. In jig time they all hid.

Then Clowny shouted, "Here I come. You'll find that I am not so dumb. No matter where you're hiding, I will find you mighty quick." Then, shortly, as he found each one, right back to goal he'd promptly run. The whole bunch had a lot of laughs and thought the game was slick.

The Travel Man then said, "Well, boys, you'll have to stop your fun and noise. We're pulling into Istanbul. My, what treats it has in store." Up to the deck rail they all ran. The shore line they could easily scan. The boat then landed safely and they scampered out on shore.

"Constantinople was the name of this big town and then there came a change and now it's's Instan-bul," said the Travel Man. "Take note of boats that bog 'round, side by side. They're here to take folks for a ride. You see, a man is waiting for his trade, in every boat."

(The Tinymites take a pleasure ride in the next story.)

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.
3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

NEW SCHOOL BUS FOR WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 7.—The Westminster school district has purchased a bus of 58-student capacity at a cost of $3900. The bus was purchased by Fred Basse and Armand Heil of the school board.

Westminster district has theretofore hired a bus of Oril Hare, local garage man, who has driven the machine. The new bus is to be driven by one of the teachers of the school or the janitor of the district as most convenient. A garage for the bus will not be erected this year and the bus will be kept in the Penhall Brothers garage.

One year ago, when Prof. James Monroe took over the supervision of the Westminster schools on a 12 months a year contract for five years, the district was in debt to the extent of $2000, the Hoover school having been erected. At the present date the books of the school stand with this debt paid and a $4000 surplus with which the bus has been purchased with $100 remaining. Besides this there have been extensive improvements on the school grounds, sidewalks, fencing, arcade, playground improvements and the planting of extensive shrubbery on the grounds, all of which have been paid for.

Work On Schools In La Habra Being Pushed By Builders

LA HABRA, Aug. 7.—The Washington school rooms have been refinished with a coat of gray paint and the woodwork has been revarnished ready for the opening of the school term September 15.

The painting job, which was completed yesterday by S. L. McGregor, is only a small part of the construction program now under way at the three schools. The painting contract included the hall corridors and two class rooms.

Work is progressing nicely on the new buildings. Much of the foundation work at the Washington school has been completed and construction work on the walls is being started. The total building program at the three schools amounts to nearly $60,000.

BOND ELECTION CONSIDERED AT NEXT SESSION

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 7.—Action on calling a special election to vote bonds to purchase land and erect a fire house was postponed last night until next council meeting after a somewhat prolonged discussion in which a modified proposal was tentatively put forward. Councilman McCrea thought that city property might be used as a site and the project enlarged to provide for city offices and a police station in addition. Firemen present viewed this without enthusiasm, voicing a fear that the bonds would be defeated. That the matter may take an alternative form on the ballot was the trend of the conversation.

City Clerk G. W. Prior's statement showed $14,225.93 in the general fund, $15,529.19 in all funds August 1. Mayor J. E. Bishop commented on the fact that at the end of six months all items in the budget showed deficits, some being entirely exhausted.

Question was raised to some items in the bills listed and were laid over for investigation. The question arose over the amounts due A. J. Stead. A plot submitted by H. K. Peabody for Hallam Cooley was approved on the recommendation of City Engineer Frank Gowan. A resolution was adopted authorizing the county auditor to collect funds for maintenance of sewers, retiring of sewer bonds, etc., the sum named being $17,00, the same as last year.

Housing of the city engineer was laid over for a week, with the police station suggested as a suitable place. Ordinance No. 78, setting the hours for golf courses, was passed. An electric clock to control lights in the city sign was ordered. Josie Rice was granted permit to use the corner near the new hotel as a taxi stand. Request to refuse license to builder not having a state license was filed. Complaint by Robert and Alice Parker regarding erecting of a telephone pole was filed.

Mayor Bishop suggested that the city consider appointment of a planning commission soon, but after some discussion this met with expression of disapproval from Councilmen McCrea, McMillan and Clapp, though the matter was not put to vote.

Laguna P. O. Receipts In July Boosted

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 7.—Substantial gains in the post office during July despite a season below last season in point of number of visitors indicated that business is on the up grade in some respects at any rate.

The money order business during July, 1930, was the largest in the history of the office, with a gain of 17 per cent over the same month last year. The postal gain was 6 1-2 per cent over last July, the gain in incoming mails approximately 20 per cent, and for outgoing mails the increase was 15 per cent.

"When it is remembered that July of last year was a record-breaking month in all classes of business, owing to hot weather, etc., the above gains are significant when present conditions, financially, are borne in mind," Postmaster Brayton S. Norton commented.

The growth of the community, as reflected in the post office business, is shown month by month and quarter by quarter to be steady and consistent.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS

Pursuant to Statute and to Resolution of the City Council of the City of Santa Ana directing this notice, said City of Santa Ana hereby invites sealed proposals or bids for doing the following work in said City, to-wit:

That the portion of street in the

TENT ON LAND MAY RESULT IN DAMAGE ACTION

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 7.—That the city's claim to the disputed portion of Ruby street at the ocean front may be taken to court soon was the expectation expressed by members of the council Wednesday evening, when Stillman Jamieson was given 10 days to move a tent from the questioned area.

It arose out of the reading of a letter from Mr. Jamieson. This letter, directed to the council, stated: "Your actions, coupled with the vociferous demands of some few of your constituents, indicate that you prefer to litigate. I had no thought of starting any argument when I had my employes erect a temporary tent on your property. Any one with a senseof perspicuity could see that it was only temporary, just as piles of lumber and cement are stacked up outside of every new building and I was told by your building inspector that no permit for it was required.

"I withdraw my two offers. I hereby notify you that I have purchased the 75 feet of land adjoining Mrs. Booth's property on the west, have a deed and guarantee policy covering it . Am in possession and intend to remain in possession. If you desire a lawsuit you have a choice of several courses of action and whenever you have decided how you wish to proceed if you will notify Mr. H. C. Head of Santa Ana he will appear for Mrs. Booth and me."

That the burden of proof should be on Mr. Jamieson, and that legal notice to remove the tent, if not complied with, would result in having it taken down by the police, perhaps to result in a damage suit, was points discussed.

Dana Lamb, reporting on beach saving efforts, told of the need of a couty wide organization, with county officers as members, but of the difficulty now because of the approaching election. He had been advised, he said, to proceed along lines which would not result i nlegal recourse if possible. He asked that a committee made up of representatives from different committees be formed to devise ways and means. City Attorney L. F. Kimmell reported that ex-Orange County Coast assoc of might take similar action. cted

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Grain prices swept through a series of spectacular ups and downs on the Chicago Board of Trade today and ended a session of tumultuous trading fractionally lower than yesterday's close.

Paper millions were added to wavering farm fortunes i the fast rises but melted just as rapidly in the declines that started around noon under the pressure of profit taking.

March and May wheat, which hit newk highs at the opening, closed at $1.06⅞ and $1.09½, off respectively ⅝ and ½ cents.

March and May corn closed at 98⅝ and $1.00⅜, off 1½ and 1⅜ cents.

Three corn futures sold under the dollar mark at the close whereas only one, December, opened below that figure.

The late break came when part of the unusual public interest was withdrawn about noon.

Buying on the dips stemmed the decline somewhat but failed to hold the prices quite to yesterday's levels.

EVENING SALUTATION

VIOLATIONS AND A RAID

In the news columns last night it was brought out that the gambling devices were still being run without let or hindrance, and without any apparent fear of the law or its enforcement by those who are interested in the devices.

We are not surprised at this—the truth is we believe the district attorney has taken the only position he could take under all the circumstances. They have been permitted to carry on with full knowledge of the situation—why has anything come up that should cause the law to be enforced at this time? The suggestion had been made that the sheriff should make a raid because of the flagrancy of the law violations. This the district attorney headed off, and in view of the permission which the men had had to conduct their devices, with the full knowledge of the authorities, there was an element of unfairness in punishing them for doing that which they felt they had permission to do.

This emphasizes the question before the voters of the importance of the district attorney's office. The district attorney, in a very real sense, is the law of the county for which he is elected. His standards are the standards of the county. His ideas are put into effect. His ideals must be lived up to. If he does not have personal convictions upon these matters, he is not likely to fight for standards for which he does not have convictions.

The sheriff cannot enforce the law without the district attorney. To elect a sheriff in Orange county who has high ideals of law enforcement, and to elect a district attorney who has low or no ideals of law enforcement, would be, from a law enforcement point of view, futile and from the standpoint of the sheriff-elect a personal injury.

If he should go out and arrest men who are violating the law, whom the district attorney does not desire to be molested, the district attorney has the power to release these men simply by the declaration that there is not sufficient evidence to hold them. If the sheriff's idea is that the law is being violated, however flagrantly in his judgment, and the district attorney's interpretation is that the law is not being violated, the sheriff is in no position to do anything about it.

In view of the fact that the district attorney is the judge of the law in such a case the sheriff might not only be broken in spirit, but made fool of in the bargain. In case public sentiment or people outside of the sheriff's office determined to attempt to enforce the law without the district attorney's friendly co-operation, virtually the same thing would happen.

His declaration that there is not sufficient evidence, in his judgment, to convict is practically the determining factor in the whole matter. And finally if a matter is forced to trial, and the district attorney is unfriendly, the witnesses who may have volunteered can be so neglected or treated that they declare: "Never again for us." The half-hearted, if not hostile method of treatment and prosecution would defeat the purposes, however worthy.

So we see that the most important thing is the attitude of mind, is the spirit of the district attorney in respect to law and its enforcement His standards become the standards really of the county.

The serious objection is not that these gambling places are not immediately closed up. It is not to be expected that there would be any excitement about it now. We would rather commend the district attorney for not at this particular hour raiding the gambling devices for in view of the fact that for all this period of time this condition has prevailed, it would have been contrary to his own record and then interpreted as simply a political move at this time. But this little spasm, however it was started, has aided in bringing into the limelight and before the public a condition which has been known to exist. It is a condition which will continue to exist and be made worse unless the voters of Orange county select a man who has charge of the law enforcement machinery of the county with ideals different than those which have prevailed.

Sir Oliver Lodge, British scientist, said in a broadcast the other day that the police force of the world will untimately be in the hands of the United States. Well, we could stand developing a bulls market right now.

LEARNING "MORE FUN"

The joy and wonder of adult education never cease and so far have not diminished. Some folks are still shy about revealing their need for education. But the people who really should feel ashamed, though they never do, are those who don't recognize that they don't know it all.

Adult Education and Library quotes a Minnesota farmer as follows:

"The world's just burst open like a kernel of popcorn. I used to be a fair-to-middling crop grower with a side line of killing rattlesnakes and shooing away hawks. But now I'm a mechanic, a chauffeur and a business man besides. I used to plant my crops because they had always been planted that way, and now I read a book about it.....They used to say you can't teach the old dog new tricks, but the way I figure is the old dog has his choice of learning or starving. And there's no argument about learning being more fun than a husking bee."

THE MOSQUITO, A LA AMERICA

A writer in the Survey reports that the Y. M. C. A. in Bombay showed a movie which presented a scientific account of the cause and prevention and cure of malaria. In the picture the carrier, the mosquito, was magnified many times. The titles were in English, so were explained to the people, many of whom couldn't read them in any language. The writer says that the film was shown three times before the audience grasped the idea that the mosquito is a trouble-maker. After the show, one man was heard to say to another, "Well, if the mosquitos in America are as large as that, no wonder they screen the window!"

Patience is the first requisite for the instructor. If that was the comment of the Indian after seeing the film three times, he wouldn't recognize a mosquito in his own environment.

THIRTEEN HOURS OF TRAVEL

Another advance in limitation of time in crossing the continent has been made. This time an airplane pilot drives his machine from Long Island to Los Angeles in the short space of 14 hours and 50 minutes. Subtracting the time that was taken out for landing and refueling, we have about 13 hours time.

At the same time that remarkable flight was accomplished, the news is released of the test of a machine that can go upward, forward or backward, and in case of the stalling of the engine, falls as slowly as 13 feet per second. In other words, this would retard the operation of the law of gravity by three feet. If the last 13 feet of fall is at this rate, the resiliency of the wheels and springs upon which it lands would save the life and limb of the occupant. We will soon travel that way.

QUITE A PARADE

It is reported that the Maharajah of Pithapuram who with his family and retainer is to visit Los Angeles the latter part of this month when on shipboard crossing the Atlantic twice a day lined up his wife, two sons, a daughter-in-law, four daughters, a lady-in-waiting, a secretary, and seven servants and they all marched around the deck.

Being the head of such a considerable group must make the Maharajah feel very important. That is probably why they take their walk ensemble. Economic necessity has almost made the large family, as a means of flattering the ego, an impracticability.

A Nickel Bun On a Dollar Plate

Christian Science Monitor

If a hungry man with but a dollar to spend should purchase ninety-five cents worth of dishes on which to serve a five-cent bun, he would be displaying an attitude not dissimilar to that expressed by the United States government in continually acquiring new areas of forest land while persisting in doling out but a comparative pittance for the care and development of areas already held.

This is the gist of the plaint raised by conservationists over the proposal that the government add several million more acres to the nearly 200,000 acres of forest land taken up last year. Their point seems well taken, even though the retort be made that the case of acquiring greater forest areas is nowhere comparable to the cost of clothing them with forests.

Since the days of William Penn men have talked conservation, but the thought that, while conservation demands cash, the cash thus expended is likely to pay worth-while dividends seems slow in reaching the public consciousness. Consequently, the items of conservation on administration budgets frequently suffer the fate of the forests they are designed to save—they are ruthlessly cut. Since this has appeared to be the rule, friends of the trees are apparently justified in wondering if further land acquisition will not formulate itself into a liability rather than an asset.

They are wondering why, if money is available for forest lands, it should not be much more available for the forests themselves. They point out that, since the solution of the conservation problem involves approximately one-fourth of the land area of the United States and the stability of a $10,000,000,000 industry, Congress might do well to turn its gaze away from acreage and toward productivity. But they warn the lawmakers that round dollars rather than rhetoric are needed properly to fertilize the seed of forest rehabilitation. In short, they insist that a platter piled with buns is more impressive than a bun on a pile of platters.

Making New Wealth

The Riverside Enterprise

Mining is one of the few industries that create new wealth.

It takes metals from the ground, where they are worthless, and transforms them into wages, taxes, dividends and the necessities and luxuries of life. It literally makes new dollars, which have never been used before.

Every other industry has a use for metals. It has been well said that there never was a great nation without metal resources and that is truer today than ever before.

Thus, every state and every citizen has an interest in mining, and particularly western states where it is one of the principal employers, taxpayers and purchasers. Mining is a mainstay of agriculture and other industries within those states. It is vital, not only to western progress, but to western existence.

Efforts directed toward raising mining taxes to an exorbitant level and over-regulating the industry are inimical to the prosperity of every citizen of the west.

And Mencken Was Wrong

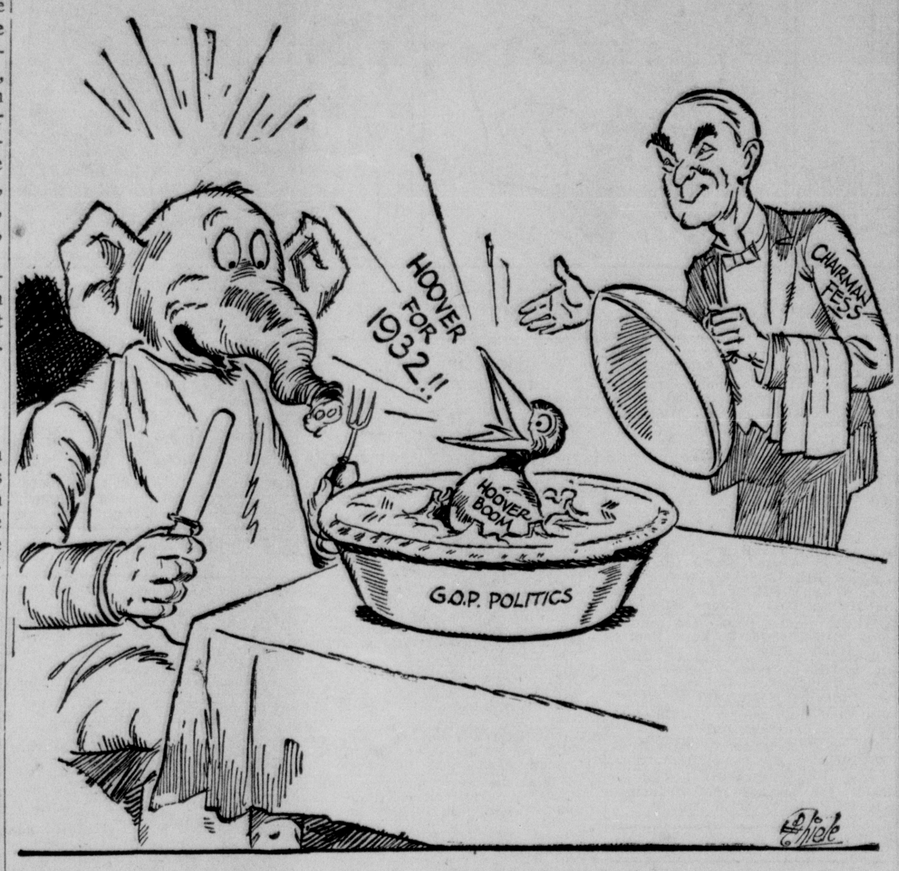
Oakland Tribune

Many of the sophisticated remarks which pass current as clever and have matrimony as their target were invented by H. L. Mencken. On that subject, as on small towns, the average mind, service clubs, and the deportment of men in office he has been consistently "belittling."

Those who know the view of Mencken on matrimony, and they are to be found here and there, almost everywhere, in his books and articles, read with interest the announcement he is to be married.

"I formerly was not as wise as I am now," says the sage of the sophisticates and the plain everyday duffers whom he has long derided have the privilege of smiling.

"When the Pie Was Opened the Bird Began to Sing"



More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE ELEMENT OF TIME

If I were Zara Agha
  Who scorn's Time's hurrying flight,
I'm sure my golfing saga
  Would be worthwhile to write.
No more the course I'd cumber,
  I'd deftly ply the sticks,
If but my years could number
  A full one fifty-six.

For twenty years I've puttered
  On fairway, trap and green,
The grass with clods I've cluttered
  And dredged the brooks between,
But when with fresh disaster
  My weary soul was sore
I've said, "This fame I'll master
  In two or three years more."

And though still vainly groping
  For the elusive ball,
I still am fondly hoping
  To triumph after all.
And while I dub and blunder
  And flounder in the rough,
I still might prove a wonder
  If I had time enough.

Were I as old as Agha,
  And played the game that long,
I know I'd not go ga-ga
  When drives and putts go wrong.
I should not play in sorrow
  Emitting sighs and moans,
But write a note tomorrow
  To challenge Bobby Jones.

What Everybody Knows

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Here is something that everybody knows:

The more use Illinois makes of improved machinery the more wealth she produces per unit of labor.

The more wealth Illinois produces, the greater is her buying power.

The greater the buying power of Illinois, the greater is the market for Florida oranges, Michigan furniture, Missouri shoes, and California films.

Wage-earners have prospered in Chicago, partly because the automobile industry has prospered in Detroit.

Anything that hurts business in Michigan hurts business in every other State.

In short, no part of this country can prosper without helping all other parts. Everybody knows that.

Here, however, is something that everybody does NOT know:

What is true of two parts of the same country is true of two different countries. Economic laws are constantly making nonstop flights across international boundaries.

Anything that increases the productivity of Europe increases the market for American goods.

America can rise to higher standards of living most rapidly, not by keeping European standards down, but by putting them up.

The productivity per worker is about three and one-half times as great in this country as it is in Europe. If, through our help, European workers were lifted to our level of efficiency, their buying power might be increased by over seven hundred billion dollars a year.

Even if only five per cent of that increased buying power were used to buy the products of the United States, that would enlarge our markets by 50 per cent.

That, in turn, would enable us to enjoy, on a basis helpful to both sides of the Atlantic, a corresponding increase of imports from Europe.

Nothing ever works out, it is true, with such mathematical precision. Growth in that direction, however, is immediately feasible, and should receive the constant stimulus of our foreign policy.

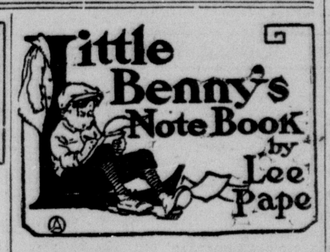
Little Benny's Note Book by Lee Pape



Pop was smoking to himself and ma was thinking, saying, Willyum, do you know, Ive come to the conclusion that our grandchild is going to be a perfect gentleman.

Meeing my sister Gladdises baby, and pop sed, Why, whats he been doing, calling for a finger bowl after his bottle?

Its about that ferst tooth of his, ma sed. Ive felt all along that it would of been through long ago unless there was some reason why he's holding it back. He knows very well that I wunt him to hurry it along and have it before the Shooster grand dawter has hers, and now I realize that that's pust the identical reason why he's holding it back, proberly at grate personel discomfort to himself. In other werds he's already too much of a gentleman to precede a lady, even with his first tooth, she sed.

I hope he wont be too much of a gentleman to go to werk when the time comes, pop sed, and ma sed, Thats precisely whats worrying me. I dont mean about werking, I mean about standing the ruff blows and pushes of life as he grows older. After all, this is a selfish werld made up of selfish people, and if he continues to think too much of the rites of others before consulting his own wishes and the wishes of his family, he'll end up by being nuthing but a polite failure, she sed.

Its an awful prospect but perhaps its a bit soon to lose sleep over, pop sed. Lets make a mental note of it and bring up the subjeck again in 20 years or so, he sed.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files 14 Years Ago Today

AUGUST 7, 1916

Among those from this city who will attend the summer conference of the State Christian Endeavor which opens at Mt. Herman tomorrow are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rankin and Miss Lula Minter.

According to the annual report made by Dr. H. E. Zaiser, superintendent of the county hospital and county farm, 480 patients were received at the institution during the year ending June 30, 1916, not over one-third of which were Mexicans.

It has been announced that the Santa Ana canyon road is open from Olive to Corona, although quite narrow and rough in places.

Glenn L. Martin, aviator and airplane inventor and manufacturer, is one of the principal figures in a $10,000,000 merger just completed in New York, and which includes the joining of the Glenn L. Martin Aeroplane company of Los Angeles, the Wright Aeroplane company of Dayton Ohio, and the Simplex Automobile company.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sebastian and their daughters, Misses Lela and Sarah, have just returned from a vacation spent in Long Beach.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

IF JEFFERSON WROTE AGAIN

Yesterday I tried to imagine what that gentle - democrat, Thomas Jefferson, might write, by way of counsel, to the Democratic party, if communication between the mortal and post-mortal worlds were in active operation, assuming that Jefferson had been watching the changing American scene during the last century.

At the end of that little adventure in political crystal-gazing, I suggested, but did not discuss, the likelihood that Jefferson would urge the Democratic party to work out in detail the obviously necessary new application of his opposition to centralization and his advocacy of decentralization.

Today I want ot indicate a little more in detail why I think Jefferson, were he alive and leading the Democratic party, would try to focus the statesmanship of the party on this issue.

When Jefferson was alive and actively participating in American politics, the issue of centralization versus decentralization was the issue of the Federal government versus the State governments.

But were Jefferson alive today and leading the Democratic party, I think he would urge his followers to recognize the fact that the battle of centralization versus decentralization has shifted to a new battle-ground.

I think he would call the party's attention to the fact that the arbitrary lines that bound or states have less and less meaning as life in America becomes increasingly complicated, technical, and corporate.

I think he would recognize that whether an American today is a Texan or a Tennessean, a citizen of New York or New Mexico, is less significant than whether he is a capitalist or carrier of a dinner pail, an independent merchant or employee of a chain system, farmer or financier.

Economic functions and economic rights are, in contemporary America, more significant than geographical frontiers or geographical residence.

Jefferson would, of course, urge his followers to remember that always and in every sort of civilization some measure of social control of private power is necessary, but I think he would recognize the danger of awkward and amateur government interference with the going processes of a social order like ours that is complicated, technical, and corporate.

And so, I think Jefferson would urge the Democratic party to consider the wisdom of rethinking the whole issue of centralization versus decentralization in terms of those things that should be decentralized, not out of one big political unit into the hands of smaller political units, but out of politics altogether into the hands of the men actually on the job in business, industry, finance, agriculture, labor, and so on.

Just as Jefferson, when alive and active in American politics, thought the future of the Republic depended upon our ability to evolve sound and sufficient government in our several states, so, I think, Jefferson, were he alive and active in American politics now, would think the future of the Republic depends upon our ability to evolve sound and sufficient self-regulation, with a minimum of amateur political control, in the various sections of our economic order.

This he would announce, I think, as the New Jeffersonianism.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

TOO WATCHFUL

These are the months when a child can be granted a little larger freedom for his soul's sake. You see, unless a child is allowed to experiment a little with life and its activities he cannot grow in mental power. He cannot become a self-sustaining, self-directing person unless you allow him to try to be that sort of person.

It is very, very difficult to draw the line for safety without drawing it too close. Nobody wants to have a child hurt in any way. Experiment always has the threat of disaster within it. But life never promises safety. Only with risk can we make ourselves master of our field. Then let us try to loosen the line a little just now. Lengthen the rope.

Today two little girls came into my garden attended by an everwatchful governess. She was very, very big and they were very small. Instead of turning the little ones loose to find their way along the perfectly clear paths, winding, twisting interesting little tracks just wide enough for such wee feet, she trundled along ahead or behind them saying, "Observe, my children. The color, the form, the fragrance of this plant. It is a dianthus, the species—the variety, Japonica."

Dear, dear. The pinks that looked so gaily up to the children hung their heads in grief for without a look or a sign those poor little things went up and down beside them.

The terriers, Mike and Pat, came galloping smartly down the hill. "Here are two playmates for you children. Mike and Pat. They love to plan. Don't you like them?"

The children had retreated in terror-stricken silence behind the stout governess. Their faces were blank. Helplessness was written all over them. "Do the children speak English?" I asked, thinking they might be foreign-born children and utter strangers to us and our ways.

"O yes, yes, yes. They are American children. They are just a little shy."

A little shy. They were nine and ten years of age. They could not smile; they could not speak to perfectly friendly dogs and people. They swim with the governess, they walk under her eye in measured place; they come when she calls and they move only at her bidding. Two hundred pounds of governess can squash a couple of children quite flat.

It is wise to guard children but not overmuch. Put overalls on them and turn them into the meadow; dress them in bathing suits and let them play on the shore, guarded but not obviously. Encourage them to swim to the boat to your arms, to the rock, where you stand. Encourage them to investigate, to plan, to do.

If they are summering in a country home, let them try their hands at whatever activity offers—gathering eggs, cleaning the coops, setting pans of water for little animals, weeding, housekeeping, cooking, cleaning, serving, fishing, hiking, camping. Let they try. A few bumps, a scratch, a mistake, what of it if the intelligence of the child is gathering power? Summer is the opportunity for hosts of fresh and inspiring experiences. Let the children go out after them.

GENERAL WOOD'S DEATH

On August 7, 1927, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, governor-general of the Philippines, and veteran of the Spanish-American and World wars, died at a Boston hospital following a brain operation.

Wood entered the army as a surgeon after graduating from Harvard medical school. When McKinley became president, Wood went to the White House as his personal physician. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war in 1898, Wood helped his close friend Theodore Roosevelt, raise and lead the famous regiment of "Rough Riders." For his conduct in the war he was elevated to major general.

Following his services after the war as governor of Cuba, where he made many great improvements in education and sanitation, Wood was appointed governor in the Philippines. Here he stamped out polygamy and tamed the Sulu chieftains. When he returned to the United States in 1908 he was made chief of staff.

Wood was given inferior commands during the World war because he was thought to have given rise to certain views on preparedness which were unfavorable to the administration.

In 1919 he announced himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, and made considerable headway until the steel strike in Indiana, in which he felt it his duty to participate, spoiled his chances. Two years later he was appointed governor-general of the Philippines.

3000 Made Homeless When Cloudburst Hits Nogales

TWO KILLED, 10 MISSING EARLY TODAY

HOTEL COLLAPSES

Raging Torrents Sweep Out Huts of Native Mexicans—50 Demolished

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 7.—(UP)—Two persons were dead, 10 missing and more than 3,000 were homeless today as the result of a cloudburst which struck the twin cities of Nogales in Arizona and Sonora, Mexico, early today. Property damage was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

To care for the refugees, the Nogales chapter of the American Red Cross will ask national headquarters in Washington for $25,000.

The dead were identified tentatively as Jose Morelon and his wife, both 60 years of age.

Line Washed Out

Transportation into Mexico was carried away more than 200 feet of the main line of the Southern Pacific of Mexico. Telegraph service was at a standstill and telephone and electric systems were crippled.

Shortly before 10 a. m. the rear of the Velsco hotel, largest hostelry in the Sonora city, collapsed.

Continued rains this morning increased the height of the water in the American city. Offices of the Nogales Herald and Nogales International, the city's only newspapers, were flooded, as well as the city hall, police station and principal stores.

Raging torrents swept away the adobe huts of native Mexicans. Not even a trace of the earthen buildings was left to indicate the location of some of the homes. More than 50 of them were demolished.

Merchants swam to their stores and reported thousands of dollars worth of goods damaged. Sand and

PRICE OF FLOUR UP 20 CENTS ON COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—(UP)—An official of the Sperry Flour company, one of the largest mills on the Pacific coast, told the United Press today that, effective immediately, his company will institute a per barrel increase of 20 cents.

There is no connection, he said, between the increase and rumored shortage in the American wheat crop, which is, he said, virtually harvested. His company is actually following the recent rise in the wheat market, and this, he said, is probably attributable to a probable shortage in the Canadian crop.

A preponderance of rust has been reported in Canadian fields.

Federal Troops Get Ready to Take Offensive in Hunan and Hupeh

SHANGHAI, Aug. 7.—(UP)—The Chinese nationalist government made ready today to take the offensive in Hunan and Hupeh provinces against Chinese communists who have been advancing northward for weeks, using bandit like tactics.

One of the largest concentrations of foreign forces in years has been made at Hankow, about 600 miles up the Yangtze river from Shanghai, and still others were enroute there today as the nationalist government strove to halt the communist advance.

General Ho Ying-Ching, the Kuo Min News service said, has been instructed by the state council of the nationalist government to direct the campaign. A detachment of nationalist troops also was dispatched to northern Hupeh, where Hankow is located, to reinforce other government troops recalled from the northern China battlefront.

Hankow Is Safe

Chinese authorities at Hankow informed Frank P. Lockhart, United States consul there, that they considered the city safe from danger.

Barbed wire barricades, however, have been erected in the French and Japanese concessions in the city, but no evacuation orders have been issued.

The American citizen named Cameron, who remained in Changsha when the communists occupied that city and was rumored to have been slain, now has been found to be alive, advices said.

Martial law was clamped down more tightly on Hankow today as provincial authorities sought to protect that city from the ravages Changsha, 200 miles to the south, endured when the communists burst into the city with

JURY SELECTED IN OESTERREICH CASE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—(UP)—A jury of six men and six women was to hear first evidence in the trial of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, charged with the murder of her wealthy husband eight years ago, in superior court today.

The jury was approved late yesterday after three days of questioning veniremen by defense and prosecution counsel, and was excused until court opened today.

Deputy District Attorney James Costello combined his jury selection work with a search for Herman Shapiro, important state witness, who was located last night in St. Louis and exchanged heated telegrams with the state's attorney.

1 Killed Every 4 Hours, State Auto Records Disclose

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 7 (UP)—One person killed every four hours is the death toll from automobile accidents in California.

Such is the report today of Victor Killick, statistician of the state division of motor vehicles.

In this state 1,066 persons met death through automobile crashes during the first six months of 1930—a gain of 56 deaths or 5.5 per cent over the same period last year.

A total of 18,696 persons were injured in 14,218 accidents during the same period. Of the fatalities, 383 pedestrians were struck down and killed by motorists, an average of two such tragedies daily.

The death toll by months was announced by Killick as follows: January 180, February 172, March 170, April 159, May 203, and June 182.

Calvin Coolidge Says

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

PLYMOUTH, VT., Aug. 7.—Because of the natural and inevitable unity of the human race, some day there is bound to be a federation of the world. Perhaps the league of Nations is a beginning. It long has been a vision of conquering nations, always in terms of the sword, France, Spain, England, Germany, all have been under its sway. But the sword has invariably failed. Now there is a proposal for a confederation of Europe. It is logical but probably premature. The national spirit has been of great benefit to mankind. Its work is not yet completed.

Britain not being a European but a world power is out. The league of nations could not be sympathetic with a league of Europe encouraging other leagues and challenging its supremacy. One league at the present time is about all the national instinct of people can bear. As we have receded from the war period, the desire to confederate for protection was weakened. With the league, with the Locarno treaty, with the world peace treaty, with the limitation of navies treaty, the immediate field is about exhausted. But the proposal is interestingly suggestive. Whatever insures peace and really promotes commerce anywhere in the world will be in harmony with the policy of our best thought.

CROSS-NATION RECORD IS SET BY CAPT. HAWKS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Captain Frank M. Hawks, holder of a new east-west transcontinental airplane record, prepared today for a return flight on which he hoped to break the speed mark set last Easter by Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Hawks landed at Mines field here yesterday at 4:50:43 p. m., P. S. T., setting a New York to Los Angeles mark of 14 hours, 50 minutes 43 seconds. This was three hours 52 minutes 11 seconds better than the record of Colonel Roscoe Turner, who recently made the flight in 18 hours, 42 minutes 54 seconds.

Captain Hawks averaged between 190 and 200 miles an hour despite the inclement weather that dogged his trail for almost the entire distance. At one time his instruments showed a speed a 230 miles an hour.

The flier hoped to make the return journey in 12 hours, which would be more than two hours under Lindbergh's record of 14 hours seven minutes. Hawks will visit his parents in Hollywood several days before starting, he said.

"The flight was no cinch," he said in recounting the record journey. "I ran into rainstorms and 25 to 30 mile an hour headwinds after leaving New York. At Albuquerque, N. M., the winds died down a little but still were strong enough to cause my motor to fight. From Kingman, Ariz., most of the way to Los Angeles I was swinging out of line to avoid electrical storms."

Hawks believed his flight was evidence of the practicability of an aerial "pony express" for rapid transit of valuables. He said the plane he used would serve well on proper routes.

PUNCH BOARDS GIVEN TWO MORE WEEKS TO RUN

District Attorney at Conference to Prosecute After That Time

OWNERS AND operators of punch boards in territory outside of the incorporated cities of Orange county will be given two weeks to get all punch boards cleaned up and out of operation, according to a decision announced by District Attorney Z. B. West today at a conference, with heads of police departments and city attorneys, in his office. Newspapermen were barred from the meeting by West.

At the end of that time if the boards are not removed county authorities will take necessary steps to confiscate them and prosecute the merchants who are permitting their operation. The dead line as set by the district attorney gives the punch board operators and "addicts" two more weeks before the clean up drive will be made.

Not to Intrude

"The district attorney's office will not intrude into the cities in the county on misdemeanors, which is the classification under which the operation of punch boards falls," West stated. He made a clear statement of the procedure to be followed by his office in the county territory to the police officials and city attorneys who crowded his office for the conference today, and left the matter of municipal co-operation up to city officials. He placed the facts before them, told them the steps the county would take in the matter and left the handling of the situation in cities up to the responsible officials.

Practically all the cities in the county were represented at the conference West said. From officials who attended it was learned that there was a favorable reaction on the part of the city authorities, that all agreed it was time for the punch boards to cease operating in the county, that cooperation would be extended in the cleanup and that the city councils in the various communities would be looked to for advice as to action to take in each city.

Hoover Supporters Win Victories In Kansas Elections

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 7.—The nomination of Frank "Chief" Haucke as Republican candidate for governor of Kansas by a majority of more than 25,000 votes was conceded today by Gov. Clyde M. Reed, his opponent, who has been a foe of Federal Farm board policies.

The defeat of Reed and nomination for the Junior Senatorial seat of Sen. Henry J. Allen, Hoover supporter, were generally recognized today as indications Kansas definitely was committing itself in favor of the administration's farm relief program.

Allen was conceded about a two to one majority over his nearest opponent, W. H. Sproul, former congressman. Ralph Snyder and James F. Getty ran far behind.

Toronto And Ottawa Trip For Dirigible

MONTREAL, Can., Aug. 7.—(UP)—A flight by the dirigible R-100 to Toronto and Ottawa again was a possibility today with the announcement by Wing Commander R. B. B. Colmore, British director of airship development, that such plans still were considered.

The Canadian ministry of defense previously ordered the flight to the two cities cancelled, giving no reason. Wing Commander Colmore, who was an official passenger on the dirigible's Atlantic crossing, announced that if weather conditions were favorable it still was hoped to visit those cities before departing for England.

Repairs on the damaged tail fin were nearing completion today.

DEMOCRATS OF TENNESSEE AT POLLS TODAY

Every Candidate for Important Office Dry and Is No Issue

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 7.—(UP)—Tennessee voters were choosing party candidates for senator and governor today with rival factions keeping a close watch at the polls for possible election frauds.

State and local issues were the chief points at stake, and national policies entered in only a casual fashion. Prohibition was no issue, as every candidate for important office in Tennessee is assumed to be dry.

The Horton-Gwinn race for the gubernatorial nomination, drew the greatest attention. The candidates are Democrats. Gwinn forces centered their attack on Horton's administration of highway funds. They indicated their fear of election frauds, particularly in Memphis.

Cordell Hull and A. S. Todd opposed each other for the Democratic senatorial nomination, long term, and Senator W. E. Brock, serving the unexpired term of the late Senator Tyson, was opposed by John R. Neal.

Hull emphasized his friendship for the farmer and announced

Farm Board Ready To Help Farmers In Drought Area

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(UP)—The Federal Farm board today announced it would lend money to farmers in drought-stricken areas to permit them to purchase feed for livestock.

Under the plan, it has formulated, farmers and business men in stricken areas will form local co-operative agencies for borrowing money from the farm board through its gain stabilization corporation. These local associations will guarantee repayment of the loans, which will enable farmers to carry their livestock through the winter.

Senator Fess Fills Office Temporarily

Ohio Senator Named Chairman Until Fall Meeting of Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Claudius H. Huston submitted his resignation as chairman of the Republican national committee today, and informed the executive committee, to whom he presented it, that he was resigning because he placed interests of the party ahead of personal considerations.

Immediately after the resignation was received Senator Fess of Ohio was elected without objection by the 26 members of the executive committee, or other proxies, to be temporary chairman until fall, when the full national committee can confirm the selection.

Robert H. Lucas, Louisville, Ky., as elected "executive director" of the executive committee, likewise without opposition or discussion. Lucas now is commissioner of internal revenue.

At Headquarters

He will serve at headquarters here in a capacity similar to that of Jouett Shouse for the Democrats. Shouse is chairman of the national Democratic executive committee and is in charge of national headquarters here.

In his statement submitting his resignation and making way for temporary election of Senator Fess of Ohio, as chairman in his place, Huston said:

"In the past it has been the policy of the party leaders to maintain a solid front when under the enemy fire, but as this has not been the policy in the present case I have reached the conclusion, putting the interest of the Republican party ahead of personal consideration, that I should tender my resignation for I am wholly unwilling to be accused of imposing any burdens personal to me upon the party during the coming senatorial and congressional campaign."

Prefers to Resign

"I am sure that no such risk exists but rather than incur the charge of creating it, I prefer to withdraw," he said.

In the statement, Huston thus have insisted upon his resignation took a parting shot at those who ever since the senate lobby committee revealed that he had diverted funds of the Tennessee river improvement association temporarily to cover his stock margins.

His resignation today brought an end to a long controversy in Republican party ranks, during which he refused, persistently, to step out. He submitted his resignation today in keeping with a promise a few weeks ago, exacted by emissaries acting for President Hoover.

Huston defended himself for the first time against the attacks directed against him because of the lobby committee disclosures. He contended these attacks were aimed generally at the party and the administration and that they had

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Aug. 7.—(UP)—Dolores Del Rio, Mexican film star, and Cedric Gibbons, screen art director, left on a honeymoon trip through northern California today after their wedding in an old Franciscan mission.

In a chapel of the historic Santa Barbara mission, the two were married late yesterday by the Rev. Father Augustine Hobrecht, Franciscan superior. A group of intimate friends from the Hollywood film colony attended. The ceremony took place near a secluded garden of the mission in which no woman has ever set foot.

Only the altar lights, which have burned since Fathers Junipero Serra and Juan Lasuen built the mission in 1784, illuminated the scene.

Bridge Report Sent Hoover And Governor

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—(UP)—A dream of 50 years moved a step nearer realization today with the transmittal by the Hoover-Young bay bridge commission of its complete report to President Hoover and Governor Young.

The commission, it was announced, is in unanimous accord in its solution of every problem of economics, engineering, national defense, navigation and traffic.

The report recommends construction of a $72,000,000 bridge of the cantilever type from Rincon hill, at the foot of Harrison street, San Francisco, to Goat island to a point on the east shore near the junction of Oakland and Emeryville.

SHOWERS BRING LITTLE RELIEF TO SUFFERERS

Small Hope of Lower Temperatures For Midwest Given By Bureau

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Rain and harbingers of rain brought a small measure of relief to the sun-parched midwest today.

After an early morning downpour in Chicago an oppressive haze settled over the city. The temperature was not high but the haze made the air seem hotter than ever to a perspiring populace.

Today's weather report for the central states indicated that cloudiness, a possible forerunner of rain, was general throughout the Chicago forecast area.

The weather map showed precipitation extending from Central South Dakota, down into Nebraska, east through Iowa and northern Illinois, across Indiana and Ohio and down through West Virginia to the Atlantic seaboard.

The general forecast gave little hope of lower temperatures:

"The indications are for mostly fair and continued warm weather over the northern central states tonight and Friday, except that slightly cooler weather will overspread some northern sections with a slight possibility of scattered light showers."

DURANT EUROPEAN MERGER INDICATED

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—(UP)—William C. Durant, financial genius, who twice has headed General Motors, today appeared ready to step into the automotive industry limelight again.

Durant announced at Lansing that there chief executives of the Durant Motor company would retire shortly and indicated that Durant Motors soon would be allied with strong European autotime interests.

He refused to amplify his statements before leaving for Covington, Ky., but is expected to return early next week, at which time details are to be made public.

Leaders of the automobile world and financial circles awaited impatiently for Durant's next move. For a year and a half he has been more or less in the background, having turned over the direction of the company he controls to others.

Legal Doubt Arises About Court's Power to Take Billings Out of Prison

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—(UP) The California Supreme court probably will convene in Folsom prison next week and listen to the plea of Warren K. Billings for a pardon from a life sentence imposed upon conviction in 1916 of complicty in the Preparedness Day bombing.

Possibility of the prison session, climaxing the most amazing procedure in California judicial history, came about when Court Smith, Folsom's warden, declined to accept responsibility for Billings while out of prison testifying before the pardon hearing.

There also is a legal doubt as to the court's power to summon Billings, Chief Justice William H. Waste explained.

Decision rests with U. S. Webb, state attorney general, who will give an opinion to the pardon advisory board next Saturday. Should the opinion be that Billings cannot go from prison to the hearing then the hearing will go to prison.

To Hear Billings

There is no doubt whatever but that the court will hear Billings testify, either in or out of prison, Chief Justice Waste told the United Press.

And along with the possibility of a prison session to hear the Billings story, there is a chance that the court may convene in San Quentin where Thomas J. Mooney, convicted of the bombing also, is confined.

A request by Frank P. Walsh, attorney for Mooney, that his client be called as a witness is now before the court and will be granted

THOUSANDS JOIN IN OBSERVING FIESTA

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Thousands of visitors joined the townspeople today in opening the annual three-day old Spanish days fiesta with a lengthy street pageant depicting the channel city's romantic history.

The crowds dressed in Spanish costume formed a picturesque background to the pageantry as they filled streets to overflowing and crowded on low hung balconies. The parade was featured by a score of blooded horses from the mountains back of the city.

A night pageant in Peabody stadium and other entertainments will fill the three days of merry-making. The fiesta officially opened last night with the ringing of bells at the old mission.

DURANT PUBLICITY MAN MEETS DEATH

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Edward J. Clapp, 49, personal publicity representative of William C. Durant, automobile manufacturer, jumped or fell to his death today from the roof of the Grosvenor apartment hotel, narrowly missing several persons.

Clapp was a Yale graduate and was noted as a track athlete while there, some of his hurdle records still being unbroken. He was well known in advertising and publicity circles here.

He handled the Durant $25,000 prohibition enforcement prize contest in 1928. Previous to his connection with the automobile magnate he had been on the faculty of New York university and at one time was financial editor of the New York American.

THREE WIVES ASK DIVORCES TODAY

Three divorce complaints were filed in superior court today by wives who charge their husbands with cruelty. In each instance it happens that each mother has two children.

Lydia Nirenberg, who has been married since 1917, charges her husband, Gustave Nirenberg, with extreme cruelty. Gladys Musch, who separated from her husband, Paul Musch, on August 2, charged that he forced her and the children into the car, took them to her mother's and left them, saying he didn't want any more to do with them. Beatrice Old is the third wife charging cruelty in an attempt to secure a divorce. She was married to Floyd Old on July 20, 1927, and the couple separated last Tuesday.

Police News

A number of valuable chickens were reported stolen from the place of W. White, of 517 East Second street, La Habra, some time last night, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office.

Sixty bales of hay were stolen from a field near Buena Park by two men who used a big six-wheel truck, some time yesterday, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office. The hay was the property of M. Makato of Buena Park.

Deputy sheriffs today were investing a report that a house at Lyon and McFadden streets was entered by a burglar yesterday. Hazel Miller reported that she saw a man tear a screen off the house several hours before officers went to the place. The house was entered but apparently nothing was taken, according to Lloyd Fuller, deputy sheriff, who investigated.

Girls Beheaded

Five communists, two of them girls, were beheaded at Hankow for attempting to instigate a mutiny in prison. Thus the Chinese provincial authorities dealt summarily with their enemies as they sought to preserve the government which has been recognized by foreign powers.

Eleven United States gunboats lay in the river at Hankow, while Japan had eight there and four destroyers enroute up the Yangtze. Great Britain, France and Italy also were well represented among the foreign warcraft, and all were prepared to land forces if fighting should break out in Hankow. Great Britain also had military reinforcements enroute to the city.

No foreign troops have been landed at Hankow, it was understood, and none will be unless the situation should become more serious.

Court Notes

Petition for probate of the will of Julia D. Garnett was filed yesterday with County Clerk J. M. Backs. The value of the estate to be disposed of under the terms of the will is reported not in excess of $11,000.

Charles Robb brought action against Earl Abbott, et al, in superior court yesterday, seeking to recover money alleged to be due and owing on a promissory note. Judgment is asked for $350 plus attorney fees and costs.

Asking a decree of quiet title to certain property located in Rancho Santiago de Santa Ana, a complaint was filed yesterday by W. O. Higgins, et al, against Prudencio Bracamontes, et al.

Judge James L. Allen today dismissed from court the contested divorce action brought by Elinor Mayo against B. B. Mayo. The judge ruled that since both parties were under legal age and were not represented by guardians ad litem, the case was not properly in court. The plaintiff is 19 years old and the defendant 20.

The verdict of the damage suits of the Dubb family and Elizabeth Staes against Harvey Leichtfuss, rests in the hands of the jury trying the case today. The matter was submitted to the jury after argument by attorneys in court this morning. The trial began Tuesday before Judge G. K. Scovel. Damages totaling over $50,000 are asked by the plaintiffs in the two actions which were consolidated for the trial.

debris, combined with the force of the water, had smashed every store window on the main street of the Mexican city. Furniture was carried from stores and sent swirling down the streets. Basements of buildings in both cities were flooded with water and the merchandise stored there destroyed.

Telephones Down

With both telephone and electric lighting systems down, service was disrupted throughout the night. Inadequate oil lanterns slowed up the work of rescuers.

The only communication with the outside world for hours was over wires of the Southern Pacific of Mexico, at Nogales, Sonora.

Tourists fled from the Nogales auto camp where the flood waters carried away tents and immersed machines in three feet of water.

Police and city officials were unable to get into the city hall of this city. Those inside attempted to communicate with surrounding towns but were unable to do so.

Police and volunteer deputies were keeping residents from the streets. The force of the water was strong enough to throw men off their feet as they attempted to wade to their stores.

There was no indication as to the end of the storm. Rain fell steadily this morning. The sewer system was flooded and the neighboring creeks were over their banks.

PUNCH BOARDS GIVEN 2 MORE WEEKS TO RUN

The district attorney in commenting on the matter today stated that he believed due notice should be given to the merchants who are operating the punch boards in their places of business as they have relied on the experience of the last 12 or 14 years when there was no action taken in this regard.

While satisfaction was expressed in some quarters with the action which means eventual ban on the punch board in the county, considerable comment was heard as to why the boards were given lee-way of two weeks and why they should not be banned at once if they were violating the law. West, it is said, declared there was a large investment affected and believed the merchants should be given time to protect it.

The slot machine question was not discussed at the meeting today, District Attorney West stating when asked about this point that it had not been injected into the matter at the start and that opinions rendered by the majority of city attorneys and himself some 10 years ago, as well as court decisions in approximately half of the states of the nation, held that the delayed pay type of slot machine was legal and could not be interfered with.

APPEAL LOST BY CONVICTED WOMAN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Mrs. Mary Kavanaugh, whose baby was born several weeks ago just outside the walls of San Quentin prison, has lost her fight for freedom.

The appellate court late yesterday affirmed the convictions of Mrs. Kavanaugh and her husband, Edward, on a charge of burglarizing a theater here of $12,000. Mrs. Kavanaugh was an expectant mother when sentenced but was released temporarily so her baby could be born outside of prison.

CAPT. FRANK HAWKS HALTED BY COURT

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Captain Frank Hawks, who yesterday set a new transcontinental east-west flight record, was served today with a court order which will prevent his proposed take-off Sunday for New York in an attempt to break the existing west-east mark.

ACCIDENT VERDICT RETURNED BY JURY

A verdict of accidental death was rendered by a coroner's jury at an inquest in Downey today over the body of W. C. Van Schoyck, 33, of Fullerton, who was fatally injured yesterday morning when his car and one operated by J. Piper of Los Angeles, collided in Artesia. The body is at the Miller mortuary in Downey.

should a need for Mooney's personal story develop.

The hearing, which opened July 29, adjourned until next Tuesday at conclusion of yesterday's session. The court explained this was necessary because many important legal cases await decision.

The "re-trial" of Billings and Mooney, involving a review of the July 22, 1916 dynamiting in which ten persons were killed, has occupied the court's entire time since the hearing opened.

John MacDonald's return to California, so that he might tell the court his identification of Billings and Mooney as the dynamiters was false, prompted the hearing. The scope of the probe has broadened day by day, every phase of the crime and subsequent trials being subjects of searching examination.

Theory Advanced

It is generally admitted that one important theory has originated at the hearing. Previously those seeking pardons for Billings and Mooney did so on the contention that they were "framed" by local police and prosecutors because they were labor agitators. This was the basis of MacDonald's repudiation.

Edwin V. McKenzie, attorney for Billings, has stressed through the hearing that the only "framing" was in the mind of unreliable witnesses seeking rewards. This is viewed as important by the defense because it permits belief in the innocence of the pair without admitting that many officials, known to be trustworthy men, inspired witnesses to testify falsely.

Edward A. Cunha, one of the prosecutors who aided in convicting Billings and Mooney, was still on the stand when the session adjourned. He was unrelenting in his assertions that both were guilty and declared they should have been hanged.

Cunha differed with Duncan Matheson, captain of detectives during the investigation. Matheson testified that he favored a pardon for both convicts but Cunha was just as violent as he was in 1916 and 1917 when Billings and Mooney were on trial for murder.

Cunha told the court he had documentary evidence to prove that both prisoners were leagued with a direct actionist group known as "The Blasters" and that they aided in planning the parade dynamiting.

The court will rule Tuesday whether the documentary evidence Cunha says he has may be admitted.

PHELAN IS SINKING, PHYSICIANS REPORT

SARATOGA, Calif., Aug. 7—(UP)—Former Senator James D. Phelan, seriously ill for three months, was reported sinking today.

His family was at the bedside where two physicians kept an all-night vigil.

been made the basis of a whispering campaign against him.

Huston's statement contained no pledge of allegiance either to President Hoover or the administration, nor did it contain any threat of possible future action on his part against the authorities in the party who made his resignation necessary.

No Promise Made

It left his future course of action wholly unrestrained by any pledge or promise. The statement was, however, couched in a friendly tone and is understood to have been sanctioned by Mr. Hoover and his associates before being issued.

It follows in part:

"As heretofore announced, I have determined to retire as chairman of the Republican National committee.

"For a lifetime I have been a member and an active worker in the Republican party. I have never sought office or reward in any form. It was with a desire to promote its success and that of the administration, that, upon the urging of party leaders, I agreed to accept the chairmanship. I realized that this course involved many sacrifices and in order to serve more effectively I withdrew from active business."

George Keim, Edgewater Park, N. J., was named secretary to succeed Rep. Franklin Fort, Rep., N. J., who retired to enter the senatorial race against Dwight Morrow in New Jersey several months ago. Keim was a Hoover delegate to the 1928 national convention and has been a generous contributor to campaign funds.

Earnest Lee Jahncke, New Orleans, assistant secretary of navy, was chosen national committeeman from Louisiana, succeeding the late Emil Kuntz. He is expected to have some influence in distribution of southern patronage, a question which was raised against the administration. The case of Mann, who was one of the leaders in the Hoover southern campaign, was not discussed at the meeting.

himself ready to support all practicable plans of farm relief. Todd promised, if elected, to lay before congress an intricate scheme of excess profits taxes, the revenue to be divided among the states for support of schools, highways, and public health work.

Horton's manager claimed an overwhelming victory would be given their candidate, and conceded Gwinn only one county—his home county of Tipton.

They claimed Horton would carry Shelby, in which Memphis is located, by 25,000. Two years ago Shelby returned a 25,000 majority against Horton when he ran for the same office.

Gwinn's faction estimated they would have a 30,000-vote majority.

FIVE PERSONS ARE INJURED IN ACCIDENTS

Five persons were injured and one man was arrested as the result of two automobile accidents near here last night.

Four persons were hurt when an automobile, reported driven by B. A. Crane, 35, of Marvista, Calif., ran off the road and ran into an Edison company pole at Seventeenth street and Grand avenue at 7 o'clock last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane and Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Cobb, of Livermore, Calif., were injured. They were taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where it was reported their injuries were not of a serious nature.

Crane was arrested a short time later by deputy sheriffs and today is in the county jail, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He also is being held for investigation, pending an inquiry into the accident, it was said.

Joe La Mont, 67, Garden Grove barber, was seriously injured at 7:45 p. m. yesterday when he was run down by an automobile reported driven by Keith Wells, 18, of 420 South Pomona street, Brea.

The accident occurred just west of Garden Grove. According to a report made by Wells, the man stepped from the side of the road directly in front of the machine and was struck before the brakes could be applied.

La Mont was taken to the Orange county hospital, where it was said he suffered a broken left leg, between the knee and hip, and that he also received serious cuts and bruises.

FORESEE EARLY COMPLETION OF THROUGH ROUTE

Possibility of the opening and completion of Harbor boulevard within the next year, was announced to the county planning commission today by Nat Neff, county superintendent of highways and member of the commission. The boulevard extends from the Brea canyon road at its intersection with the state highway just north of Fullerton, to Newport bay, hooking in with the coast route at the bridge across the bay near the old country club.

Several gaps that are now blocking this through road will be linked up during the year according to the plan outlined by Neff, the most important one of which is a stretch of about a mile where the road will cross the Santa Ana river. The route will follow Palm street from Anaheim, then hook into Buaro road and Fairview road into Costa Mesa. Here it will link up with Seventeenth street and the new road that is to be opened into Costa Mesa past the new Harbor Union High school, down the cliff and into the coast route at the bridge.

Other business that occupied the attention of the planning commission today included a study of the proposed regulations governing sub-divisions, which members hope to have ready for a hearing with real estate men in the near future, possibly at the next session of the commission.

MAKES REPORT ABOUT ORTEGA ROAD BUILDING

A progress report made by F. C. Fulmor, of Riverside, engineer, at the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of joint highway district 15, in charge of building the Ortega highway between San Juan Capistrano and Elsinore, shows that equipment is in place and that preliminary operations consisting of cutting away dangerous points on curves, have been started.

Action was taken appointing P. N. Hood, of the Orange county road department, as assistant secretary. The board also requested the engineer to prepare plans for extension of the work that is being started this year. The frist year's budget was $225,000 for 6.2 miles of the highway, and savings effected in the actual contract price under the estimates point to the possibility that additional mileage may be completed this year.

T. C. Jameson, of Corona, president of the board, George Jeffrey, vice president, Fulmor, Hood and L. W. Blodgett, attorney for the district, attended the meeting yesterday. Regular claims were allowed and routine business transacted. The next meeting is set for September 3.

Court Fines Two Men On Reckless Driving Charges

Two men, charged with driving automobiles while under the influence of liquor when they were arrested here several days ago, were fined in Justice Tom Pickerill's court this morning, after the complaints had been reduced to reckless driving.

Lewie Germain, arrested on East First street, after an accident, was fined $150 and given a 90 day suspended jail sentence when he pleaded not guilty to the latter charge, and George W. Reed, whose car ran off the road, on Buaro road, and crashed into a telephone pole, was fined $50 and given a six months suspended jail sentence.

Editor Register:

Many and varied are the opinions regarding our primary election laws. Regardless of these opinions the fact remains that our state and county officials are nominated or elected by this method.

The intent and purpose of this law was to displace the caucus method of nomination with a popular nomination by all the people.

Many there are who consider the primary election of little or no importance, feeling that the general election is the important event where candidates are elected to office.

This view might be more or less right if the just intent of the primary law had been carried out. This is not the case, however. The politicians, seeing that their power was gradually waning, due to popular nomination, and noting the general lack of public interest in the primary elections, manipulated and lobbied through our legislature amendments to the primary law which makes the primary election in this state a bone fide election in many instances.

The law states that where but two candidates are running for election for the same office, the one receiving the majority of votes cast for this office at the primary, shall be declared elected and his name shall not appear on the general election ballot.

Where more than two are running for election for the same office, if one of such candidates shall receive a majority of all votes cast for that office, he shall be declared elected. If a majority vote is not recorded for a candidate in this instance, then the two highest names shall appear on the ballot at the general election.

With the voters of this country in a progressive attitude for a general house cleaning of our official family, and where the majority of these offices have but two candidates, it can readily be seen that it is of vital importance that the people be wide awake to the possibilities of the ultimate result of the primary election of August 26, this year. Among the more important offices, where there are but two candidates, and the election will be final August 26, are the following: Auditor, assessor, tax collector, surveyor, coroner, supervisor second district, and supervisor fourth district.

Citizens and tax payers, wake up before it is too late. Do not fail to go to the polls on Tuesday the 26th instant, and register your protest, in no uncertain terms, against the machine manipulated control of our county affairs. Vote—by all means vote—and let your conscience and love of county, home and economy be your guide.

DAIRY DIVISION LEADERS GATHER

A dinner meeting of the dairy department of the Orange County Farm bureau was held at 6:30 p. m. yesterday in Ketner's cafe, where communications from F. D. Robson, chairman of the state dairy department and a member of the state committee studying dairy laws, were read and discussed.

In the letter from Robson, matters were discussed relative to forming a tuberculosis control as permitted by the action of the last state legislature and which was recently declared constitutional. This measure would not permit payment of indemnities until such payment was provided for by the state legislature. Furthermore, the counties must be declared tuberculosis control areas before they can secure payment.

In regard to legislation pertaining to changing the present grades of milk as now prescribed by existing dairy laws, the directors of the dairy department expressed themselves as being against such a measure. Plans were made for a general dairy meeting to be held soon to discuss the problems confronting the dairy industry at the present time.

William Segerstrom, chairman of the dairy department, presided over the meeting.

ANY CHILD

WE can never be sure just what makes a child restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as your child has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician.

COMPARE THE ALLSTATE WITH THESE "FIRST LINE" TIRES:

Firestone—Gum Dipped
Goodrich—Silvertown
Seiberling—All-Tread
Goodyear—All Weather
Kelly-Springfield
General Balloon
Fisk—Airflight
U. S. Royal

Now that one out of every ten tires bought for replacement is an ALLSTATE, competing producers offer brands which in price appear just as attractive. ALLSTATE, however, is a "first line" tire . . . supreme in quality, in mileage and in satisfaction—whereas those tires claiming to equal the low ALLSTATE prices, are known as "second line" brands. We accept this compliment . . . this admission by manufacturing competitors that we bring you ALLSTATES' unrivalled service at the price of their "second line" tires.

And, to eliminate any possibility of confusion among motorists, we list competing brands which we feel deserve, on a quality and service basis, to be compared with the famous ALLSTATE.

BEEMAN TELLS ABOUT WORLD WAR TREATIES

In his talk last night over KREG, L. L. Beeman, who conducts the radio class in international relations, outlined the similarities and differences between the Paris peace conference and the congress of Vienna. His talk, in part, follows:

"Before taking up the treaties at the end of the World War, I want to call attention to a book which I have just finished reading. It is Emil Ludwig's "July '14." Emil Ludwig is a German biographer and historian. The book deals with the responsibility for the war and covers the events during the month of July, 1914, or from the murder of the Austrian archduke to the outbreak of the war. It discusses the immediate causes of the war as I have tried to do in this series of radio talks. Mr. Ludwig is impartial, quotes at length from documents, criticises his own country and its generals and diplomats and is really more severe on them than I have been in my talks.

"The most outstanding characteristics of the World War is its bigness in every way, its numbers, the large figures required to tell the story. When we come to the end we do not say as at the end of other wars, the treaty, but we say the treaties, as it took nine different treaties to end this war. Besides these nine treaties several conferences and other treaties have been made since and others no doubt will yet be made, all direct results of the war.

"I shall not discuss in detail all these different treaties. The one most interesting and most important is the Treaty of Versailles, between the Allies and Germany.

"No one who is somewhat familiar with the French Revolution and the Napoleonic wars and the Congress of Vienna which settled the affairs of Europe afterwards can help but make a comparison with the World War as he studies it. There are many striking similarities between the two peace congresses, the Congress of Vienna in 1814 and the Congress of Paris in 1918. Let's notice the likenesses and differences. We will give the likenesses.

"1. The two peace conferences were very large. At Vienna all the nations of Europe except Turkey were represented, about 14 in all. At Paris 32 nations with 72 delegates were represented. They represented nations on every continent on the globe.

"2. The leading statesmen and statesmen and diplomats were present. At Vienna were the kings of Austria and Prussia, Czar Alexander I of Russia, Prince Metternich of Austria, Talleyrand of France, Lord Castlereagh and the Duke of Wellington from England and the leading diplomats, lawyers and generals from the other nations. At Paris was President Wilson of the United States, Premier Lloyd George of England, Premier Clemenceau of France, Premier Orlando of Italy, Premier Saionji of Japan and also premiers and diplomats from other nations. In addition there were a host of experts from all the leading nations such as engineers, historians, economists, geographers, ethnologists, army and navy experts, labor representatives, etc.

"3. The Congress of Vienna was in session about nine months, from September, 1814 to June, 1815, the Paris conference was in session from December, 1918 to June, 1919, about seven months, though the first month was spent in collecting data and laying plans. The first session was not held until January 18, 1919.

"4. The Congress of Vienna was dominated by the five big powers, England, France, Prussia, Austria and Russia, though it started out with only four. France, which had been left out, was soon admitted to the council of the big four making it five. At Paris at first the big five dominated. They were United States, England, France, Italy and Japan. Japan soon saw that she was not interested in the purely European affairs which were occupying the time of the council and withdrew. This left the big three, England, France and the United States which decided things for the rest of the world.

"5. Both conferences were dominated by a few men. At Vienna, Metternich from Austria, Talleyrand from France, Czar Alexander I from Russia, and Castlereagh from England dominated. Alexander of Russia thought he was the biggest man while in reality Talleyrand and Metternich were really the men who settled things. At Paris as has been said there were the big three, Wilson, George, and Clemenceau.

"6. The little nations in both congresses were ignored.

"7. Both had the greatest world problems to deal with.

"8. Both had to decide between the old order of things which had failed and a new order of things.

"9. In both cases the session were secret. The Congress of Vienna knew no better. You will remember that one of President Wilsons 14 points was 'open covenants openly arrived at.' The diplomats of Europe would not accept this principle. Besides the feeling of peoples were such at that time it would probably have been impossible to have held open session.

10. Both changed the entire map of Europe.

11. Several conferences were held after both to further modify and enforce the provisions.

12. The main program for both conferences had been laid out and agreed upon by the big nations before the congresses met.

"Now let's notice some of the differences between these two great peace conferences.

"1. At Vienna the delegates spend most of their time in having a good time, drinking, dancing, gambling and entertaining at dinners. In order to win the favor of the other representatives Talleyrand planned a sumptuous and gay dinner to which he invited every influential party. As Talleyrand represented France, he was not in good standing with the other delegates and it was thought no one would accept. But when he advertised that he would bring French chefs from Paris to prepare the dinner, and French girls from Paris to entertain, every one accepted his invitation. At Paris in 1919 there was little revelry. Hard work was the order.

"2. At Vienna, France, the conquered nation, was represented and her representative took a very prominent part in shaping the terms. At Paris no representative from Germany was allowed. Germany had to accept what her conquerors dished out to her.

"3. The terms to France in 1815 were very easy. She lost no territory, and was only required to pay a small indemnity. Germany was punished most severely. Not in modern times has a conquered nation been dealt with so harshly by her conquerors as was Germany.

"4 At Vienna the congress was dominated my men with a backward look. At Paris the principles of democracy, self government and the rights of the people were dominant and prevailed. It is true the little nations and subject peoples had little or not part in determining this, yet those who did, the "big three" did not forget them.

"5. The men at Vienna thought they had done a perfect piece of work that would last forever. There were those who knew better. The men who shaped things at Paris knew the work was not perfect, that mistakes had been made, and that changes would have to be made, but thought it was the best that could be done under the circumstances.

"6. Unfortunately after the Congress of Vienna, Metternich, the very incarnation of absolutism continued to dominate Europe for more than 30 years. But the people had had a taste of self government and Democracy finally won out in most of Europe.

"Luckily after the Paris conference, Clemenceau and Poincare, the men of revenge, lost control. Briand, a man of compromise and forgiveness, has been allowed to direct French foreign policies. Ably assisted by such great hearted and liberal men as Stresemann of Germany, McDonald of England, Dr. Benes of Czecho-Slovakia and the fair minded and impartial and wise men from the United States as General Dawes, Owen Young, J. Parker Gilbert, Charles Evans Hughes and President Hoover, much of the bitterness of the war has been removed.

"The League of Nations should not be forgotten as the greatest force in harmonizing the discordant notes left by the great war, for which the world thanks President Wilson, Lord Cecil and Jan Smuts.

"I will have more to say about the League of Nations in another talk. In my next talk I will take up the difficulties faced by the Peace conference at Paris and tell something of the work done."

YACHTING NEWS

BY STUART H. LUCAS

As the preliminary gun was fired at 1:50 p. m. yesterday, the wind at Newport Beach was blowing from the southwest at about 20 miles per hour. The weather conditions were the best experienced from a racing standpoint during the meet.

The boats were sent away in the opposite direction from that usually adopted and when the start of the F class was called, the Diablo, on approaching the line, found a couple of the little fellows playing around in what they thought was open ground. Finding himself in danger of running them down, Com. Pedder had to jibe to avoid hitting them. In a big two sticker with all canvas set, this is a momentous and back breaking undertaking. It was successfully accomplished, however, with the result that Diablo was that much late in starting. Results will be given in the summary.

In the M class Teva won yesterday, making her a tie with the Corsair.

Endymion wins in the F's, with Amorilla second. Ahmook wins in the X class, with Willtie second. In the eight-meter, Marin wins again with second undetermined on account of an undecided protest. In the R's Friendship wins and breaks yesterday's tie. Ay-ay-ay wins her third race, with Caprice second.

The girls in Roses won second in the Skimmers and are now second in the series, being beaten out by Bat by four seconds.

The Pacific Coast class is all jumbled up, the winner yesterday, Scamp, jumped into the lead from third, Jean the previous leader, finishing last. It is now in second position, while the Jade, who was second, is now third by one-quarter point.

The Stars show Hubbard safely perched in first with 62 1-4 points, the second being Keith (who won yesterday), with 57 1-4; the third is Tom Robin, with 52 1-4, who finished fourth yesterday, tenth Wednesday and first Monday.

In the Star race Plumb and Cheezewright beat the gun and had to return. Plumb reached the weather mark fourteenth, but had regained five places at the finish. Webster secured a good start and was leading at the weather mark by a fair margin. This lead he continued to hold throughout the first round. At the weather mark on the second round he was still leading by a much decreased distance. Keith was leading Hubbard but to leeward. When he came about on the port tack to round, Hubbard who had been pinching, squeezed up close enough to force Keith in stays. As soon as Keith put his helm down, Hubbard flopped and Keith was left dead by having come about three times without regaining headway.

As Hubbard had held on for a short distance to force Keith, Fisher coming down on the port tack, slid through Keith's lee and luffed out after Hubbard. A luffing match ensued, which drove both boats to weather of Webster and as they squared away, blanketed him just enough to hold him until Keith, who had gotten going like a house afire, was cutting off his wind also. This left Webster holding the bag and bobbing in the oldrums until all three had passed him. Keith, in the meantime, was holding between Hubbard and Webster and ran through between them into the lead and was never caught. In fact he increased it slowly all the way home.

In the Arrow class the superiority of the Johnson model seems to be fairly well established, as that design has won first and second on all three days of the inside bay races. The Douglas stars All Star, Turtle Star and Vega have been showing well this season, while the new Ditmar boat, Temple IV, has been a wonderful success.

An incident occurred in the star class race that shows the courtesy a real yachtsman extends to others. On the second leg one of the P. C. class, who had fallen behind and was out of the running in her own class, took and kept the leeward position clear to the mark so as to not interfere with the stars who were running neck and neck for the lead in their race.

Young Messenger Captures Bandit

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 7.—Richard Van Tassel, 19, messenger boy of this city, could easily qualify as a Horatio Alger hero.

Delivering a message in the Mexican-Chinese district at night recently, Van Tassel saw a Mexican dash from a Chinese store, closely pursued by two Chinese, after an attempted hold-up of the store.

The Chinese were getting the worst of the argument, when Van Tasselll dashed up on his bicycle, rode directly into the middle of the fracas, jumped from his bicycle and grabbed the Mexican, holding him until the police arrived.

Ends Piles Quick

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. Cutting and external remedies can't do this—an internal medicine must be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, a specialist, succeeds, because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. HEM-ROD is sold by druggists everywhere, and has such a wonderful record of success right in this city that Schramm-Johnson says to every Pile sufferer, try HEM-ROID at my risk. It must end all Pile agony or you get your money back.—Adv.

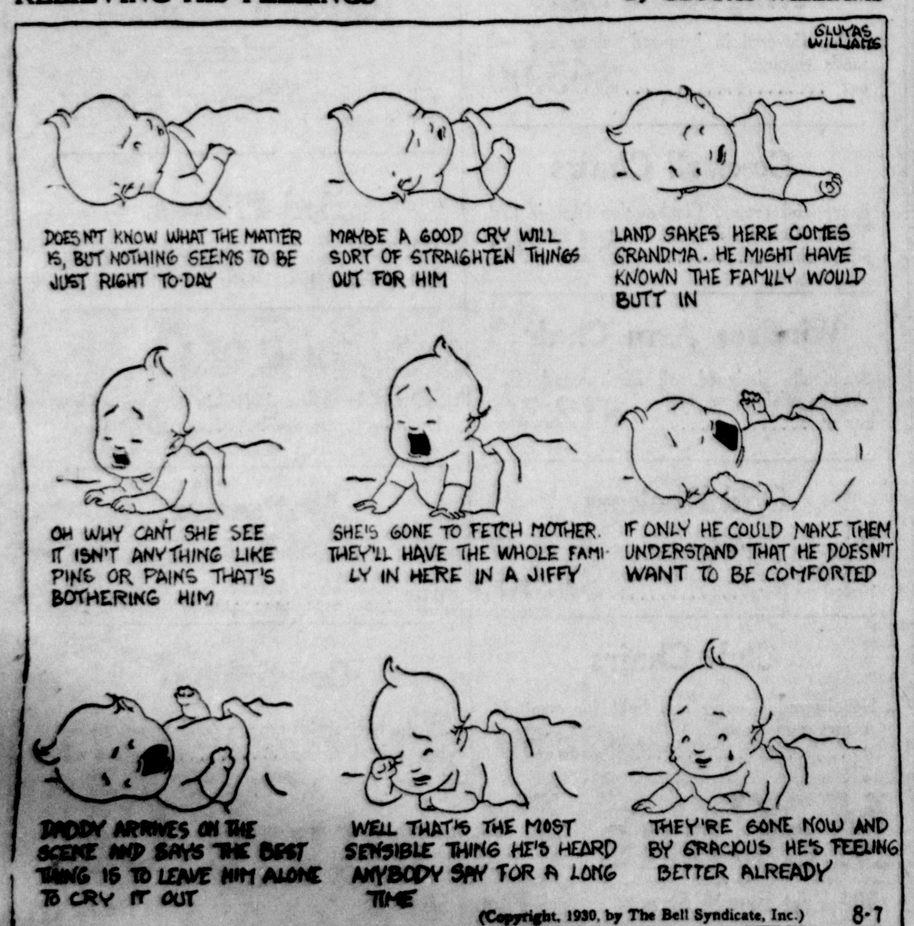
RELIEVING HIS FEELINGS

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS



RELIGION FOR INVESTMENT IS ORANGE TOPIC

ORANGE, Aug. 7.—The Rev. P. M. McClure conducted the prayer meeting held at the Christian church last evening in the absence of the pastor, who is on his vacation. Attorney D. G. Wettlin brought the message of the evening on the subject "Religion from an Investment Standpoint." The speaker had given the same subject at the Sunday morning meeting of the Loyal Men's class. It was well received at that time and the attorney was requested to repeat the address last night.

The speaker emphasized the thought that this nation is a Christian nation.

"In the early formation of the constitution," Wettlin said, "the group had continued in session after session without coming to any agreement. Then George Washington proposed that the matter be taken up under the guidance of God, with the result that the constitution as a model for the world. Religion is an investment that is not affected by the stock market. It brings returns today as it has for centuries and will for centuries to come."

Permit For Sewer Line Is Granted

ORANGE, Aug. 7.—The consent of the county supervisors for a sewer line through the orchards of the county hospital too serve a new $15,000 creamery which is to be built near the hospital, has been obtained, City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake reported at a meeting of the council Tuesday. A provision was made by the supervisors that should the hospital sewer become overtaxed the creamery line would have to be taken out.

The consent of the city of Santa Ana to put the line under the paving near the creamery also has been obtained, Bonebrake said, and the consent of the Southern Pacific railway to put the line under tracks of the company was still to be obtained.

The sewer line as planned will be 900 feet long from the city limits. The new creamery will serve Santa Ana, Anaheim and Orange and is to be housed in attractive buildings with landscaped grounds.

BLOCK SIGNAL SYSTEM WILL BE INSTALLED

ORANGE, Aug. 7.—The work of placing the new block signal system along the Santa Fe tracks will be begun Monday, according to W. J. Lee, of Los Angeles, who is in charge of the work of making thousands of the signal foundations and battery boxes to be used in installing the system.

The foundations and blocks are being made north of the Santa Fe depot and the crew to the present time has completed 33 foundations and 99 battery boxes.

The signal foundations and battery boxes will be used in installing an automatic electric block system along the Santa Fe tracks from Fullerton to Fallbrook and from Fallbrook to the coast down to San Diego.

Five cars of gravel and sand and 600 sacks of cement have been used in making the comparatively small number of foundations and boxes now completed.

A crew of men arrived here recently to work on the installation and the crews are housed in 18 cars along the tracks.

The battery boxes are about 10 feet in length and are about four feet in width for the largest boxes which hold 48 cell batteries. Smaller boxes will hold 36, 20 and 8 cell batteries.

The boxes will operate hooded flood lights which will change automatically as the track is cleared or when a train approaches.

It is expected that the crew will be here several months while the required number of signal foundations and blocks are being made.

It is understood that the first signals made here will be placed between this city and Anaheim. Other signals made at San Bernardino were recently installed between Fullerton and Los Angeles.

WOMEN SHOULD LEARN USES OF MAGNESIA

Prepare a small quantity of finely cracked ice—about a wineglassful. Pour over it a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Sip slowly until the mixture is gone or you are entirely relieved. It is seldom necessary to repeat the dose to end sick stomach or any inclination to vomit.

Its anti-acid properties enable Phillips Milk of Magnesia to give immediate relief in heartburn, sour stomach, gas. Its mild, but effective laxative action assures regular bowel movement. Used as a mouthwash it helps prevent acid erosion and tooth decay during expectancy.

With every bottle of Phillips Milk of Magnesia, come full directions for its many uses. All drug stores have the 25c and 50c sizes. Demand the genuine, endorsed by doctors for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.—Adv.

PROOF

By The

1.5 MORE MILES PER GALLON WITH THE NEW MACMILLAN

NOT everyone is directly interested in how many gallons of gasoline a fire department motor consumes per hour . . . but every driver of a motor car is interested in the fact that a test made by the San Diego Fire Department, July 29th and 30th, 1930, demonstrated an approximate

SAVING OF 24½%

You can prove to your complete satisfaction... just as the San Diego Fire Department proved ...that Macmillan "more power...more mileage" is an absolute definite fact.

No matter what car you drive . . . Cadillac or Ford, Lincoln or Studebaker... rain or shine, fair weather or foul . . . Macmillan will give you "more mileage per gallon than any other gasoline you have ever used... or your money back."

The new Macmillan is manufactured by a patented process discovered by Macmillan engineers and chemists, owned and used exclusively by this company. By this process, a combination of qualities is given to you in Macmillan gasoline, heretofore thought impossible: (1) quick starting; (2) 12% greater power; (3) more mileage.

The proof of every Macmillan claim is waiting for you at the red, white and black pumps. If your motor could choose, it would say "Macmillan."

The following is a complete affidavit, proving the superiority of Macmillan gasoline as a motor fuel.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that an official test made on the new Seagraves fire apparatus for San Diego Tuesday, July 29th and Wednesday, July 30th using a premium gasoline and the New Macmillan gasoline, the following results were obtained:

On the premium gasoline we used 13 and one-half gallons per hour and pumped 1023 gallons per minute at 120 pounds pressure with a 10-foot lift.

On New Macmillan gasoline we used 11 and two-thirds gallons per hour and pumped 1189 gallons per minute at 140 pounds pressure with a 13-foot lift, which was 166 gallons more per minute than the above mentioned test.

The New Macmillan gasoline showed much greater efficiency in power, higher water pressure and an approximate saving of 24 and one-half per cent.

Daly's Ozark fiddlers, featuring an old time program, will make an outstanding contribution to the program brought to radio listeners over KREG tomorrow night. The fiddlers will be heard from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m.

The organization is credited with having produced the only all night radio program of old time music ever presented. It recently played over a Los Angeles station for eight continuous hours. A condition of the appearance was that the organization was to stop playing whenever three minutes passed without a request number being phoned in. There were not three minutes free of request until 5:15 a. m., when the all night program ended.

PRODUCE UNIQUE 'RADIO' PROGRAM

The Orange County Radio service presented a very interesting and rather unique program last night, featuring the well known Doc and Ray duo with their Vibrola banjos and guitars. These entertainers are heard regularly on the programs of KREG.

An exact duplicate of a radio studio was installed in the front show window of the store and was complete in detail, even to the extent of special curtains to eliminate echo from reaching the microphone.

Doc and Ray presented popular numbers from the store's "studio" from 7:30 until 10 p. m. The duo's regular program from KREG broadcast between 8:30 and 9 p. m. was picked up and "rebroadcast" by the special equipment.

Why Orange County Needs a New Assessor

GEORGE D. MONTGOMERY
Candidate for Assessor

Two candidates are in the field. One a man of mature years, the other in the maturity of his young manhood.

One has been in the office twenty years, the other has had twenty years training in business, fifteen of which were with a corporation known to recognize ability as the only requisite for advancement. He was the man directly responsible for the elimination of dual telephone service in Southern California. He bore the brunt of the immense amount of detail work in connection with the consolidation of the two great telephone systems of Los Angeles.

One, by reason of years of contact with the same daily grind has, by the simple law of nature, become more or less antiquated. In this advancing age his viewpoint is not the same, his outlook has dimmed, his grasp of assessment problems has necessarily diminished. The other, in the vigor of youth matured by success comes as a new broom, with mind alert, with keen insight into the vital problems of assessment work, with enthusiasm, ambition and determination for accomplishment.

One, because of uninterrupted service has lost sight of many of the necessary qualifications of a public servant. The other thoroughly realizes the importance and necessity of cooperation, he knows what the people expect, he understands their wants.

The incumbent has served his time and has served most faithfully and conscientiously. But some day he must step out and turn over the reins of office to a successor.

The new candidate has every qualification any successor could ever have, he stands at the threshhold of public service and says: "Here am I, prepared and qualified to answer your call to duty. If elected, every honest, sincere and strenuous effort of which I am capable will be made to faithfully and conscientiously prove true to my trust."

Mr. Montgomery is the logical man to select. He is a citrus house president, and exchange director, a university graduate, a Spanish War veteran.

Vote for George D. Montgomery for county assessor.

SHIELDS WINS AS 'BIG BILL' LOSES TEMPER

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 7—(U.P.)—Frank Shields, New York youngster, scored a major upset today when he defeated "Big Bill" Tilden in a quarter-final match of the Meadow club's annual invitation tennis tournament.

The score was 6-1, 2-6, 6-1.

Shields, national junior titleholder in 1927 and 1928 played superbly to defeat the Wimbledon and American champion. Tilden, just returned from abroad, was badly off his game.

Shield's victory blasted Tilden's hopes of winning a third leg and permanent possession of the Southampton trophy.

Glares At Officials

The Philadelphian appeared to take his first American set-back since 1928 with bad grace. He glared at the officials, argued with the linesmen and even turned his atention to the spectators when he found himself facing defeat in the third set.

After losing the first set, Tilden raced through the second set to win handily. His back court game and heavily topped drives baffled Shields and the gallery warmly applauded "Big Bill's" play.

In the third set, however, when Shields came back with a brilliant and diversified attack, Tilden became petulant and then truculent. Several times play was halted while he glared at some offending official or spectator, a rather ridiculous figure with his young opponent calmly waiting for him to resume pay.

Tilden Ired By Laughter

The match point produced a particularly unfortunate display of temperament on Tilden's part.

He had driven sharply to Shield's backhand and had rushed the net, covering the lefthand court in the belief that Shield's would drive that way in return, but the youngster crossed him neatly, scoring a clean placement, and at the spectacle of Tilden, standing flat-footed and open-mouthed at the net, and in-cautious spectator roared with ungentlemanly laughter.

The champion's glare woud have shriveled a marble statue, but only caused the rest of the gallery to increase its applause for young Shields.

George Lott Routed

Francis T. Hunter defeated Jacobs of Baltimore in straight sets 7-6, 8-6.

Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Texas, recently returned from the Davis cup match, defeated Richard Murphy, of Utica, 7-5, 6-4, and will meet Francis Hunter, veteran star, tomorrow in the semi-finals.

In an upset Sidney B. Wood defeated George M. Lott, of Chicago, member of the Davis cup team, 6-4, 3-6, 9-7.

He will play in tomorrow's semi-final against Frank Shields, New York youngster, who overturned Tilden earlier in the day.

Jo Cruickshank Defeated By Miss Burkhardt

Santa Ana's girl tennis star, Josephine Cruickshank, suffered defeat in the third round of the Maidstone club's tournament at East Hampton, N. Y., yesterday.

She was eliminated by Miss Ethel Burkhardt, San Francisco, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-2.

During Miss Cruickshank's sensational march to the finals of the Seabright tournament last week, she won from Miss Burkhardt, 8-6, 6-4.

Miss Burkhardt is ranked eighth nationally, Miss Cruickshank tenth.

GARDEN GROVE WINNER OVER WESTMINSTER

Garden Grove was one-up on Westminster today in the baseball debate for the championship of the Orange County "B" league.

Overcoming a three-run spot, Claude Anderson's Chilipepper Juniors shattered Westminster's long winning streak with a 5 to 3 victory in the first game of the play-off series between the split schedule winners at Garden Grove last night.

After a wild and ineffective first inning, caused perhaps by his tardiness in arriving at the park and his subsequent inability to warm up, Russell Muir, Garden Grove's young pitching star, settled down and hurled scoreless ball through the final eight stanzas, allowing the Aviators only five more hits.

Westminster started out, however, like it was going to make short work of Muir, to say nothing of the series. "Butch" Burns went out harmlessly enough on a pop fly to Edwards, but Davis walked and McGuire singled and both raced home on Sauers' triple to left after Bill Gardner flied out. Sauers scored on a wild pitch.

Garden Grove got one of these back off Ira DeBusk, Westminster's star moundsman, in the last of the inning. Hodgenson, Marks and Dungan all singled infield and Hodgenson scored on Tyler's sacrifice.

The Peppers marked thrice in the third and took a 4-3 lead. Hodgenson walked, Dungan singled, Tyler sacrificed and Edwards doubled, clearing the bases.

Umphress made Garden Grove's last run with a mighty home run to deep left field. The Ruthian wallop came in the fourth frame.

Marks paced the Garden Grove attack with three hits in four attempts. McGuire and DeBusk both got two each for Westminster.

LA HABRA HERE FRIDAY: DALEY MARRIAGE TOLD

The grand rush for tickets to the Santa Ana-La Habra National Night league "championship" game scheduled for the Santa Ana Bowl tomorrow night, was on in dead earnest today.

When 2000 ducats went on sale this morning at the El Corral service station, Third and Birch streets, and at Baker's bakery, 214 West Fourth street, a line of fans was in waiting at both places.

By noon approximately half of the whole block had been sold, Horace Snow, president of the Santa Ana Night Ball association, announced.

Hundreds of fine seats still remain unsold and these will be available until 6 p. m. tomorrow, Snow stated.

Matching the one-two clubs of the race, the Bowl affray will go far in deciding the pennant race. A Santa Ana victory will virtually assure the Stars of first place as both La Habra and Anaheim are approximately two full games back of Herb Salveson's aggregation.

LEAVITT DALEY MARRIED

Leavitt Daley, brilliant second baseman and leading hitter of the Stars, has been married since June 21.

His bride is Helen Degman, June graduate of Long Beach high school.

Accompanied by her cousin, Virginia Devers, Miss Degman and Daley left Santa Ana immediately after the Santa Ana-Fullerton game and motored to Yuma, Ariz. where they were married by the Rev. J. Brooks.

News of the marriage leaked out last night when Miss Degman's parents were hosts at a birthday party for the baseball star.

Miss Degman is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Degman of Long Beach.

Daley is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Daley, 809 West Washington avenue, Santa Ana.

The couple will reside at 6624 Lime street in Long Beach where Daley is employed by the Associated Telephone company.

COLTON VS. ANAHEIM

Colton, leading team of the American Night league and the outfit Santa Ana's Stars would meet in the Southern California titular play-offs if they win the National league streamer, will be seen in action at Anaheim Monday night.

Scores of local baseball fans are expected to attend this contest for which all seats have been reserved. They may be obtained at the J. and N. shop in Anaheim.

SOUTHPAW PHENOM

Much of the credit for Wichita's showing in the Western league this summer is due Charlie Wood, below, 19-year-old southpaw pitcher who won 16 of his first 18 starts and led the circuit in strikeouts with an average of almost 10 per game. Wood also is one of the league's leading hitters. Eyes of major league scouts have been on the young man for several weeks, and it is likely that his performances will be rewarded with a big league offer.

CHOCOLATE AND BERG CLASH IN NEW YORK RING

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Jackie Kid Berg, of England, and Kid Chocolate, of Cuba, the one rising to eminence from the squalor of London's Whitechapel, the other once a half-naked street gamin in Havana, will fight 10 rounds at the Polo Grounds tonight for a stake that is rich in money but far richer in its promise of rewards to come.

The winner, they say, will be the next lightweight champion of the world, which is going pretty far, since the next lightweight champion is quite liable to be the present holder of the title, Al Singer, as a fighter, the latter is nobody's chucklehead.

Singer Got There First

However, only the whimsies of chance have kept Berg from being the champion today. It is obvious now that the first man to get to Sammy Mandell was to win the title. Singer got there first. So tonight Berg must go down to the class below in order to prove that he is an adequate challenger in the lightweight division. New York is like that.

Berg ruled a 6 to 5 favorite today and it is probable that his price will be longer by nightfall.

He can go wrong, particularly if the referee is disposed to be technical about things, but if Berg does go wrong, his explanation will have to be downright plausible. He has almost every advantage—six pounds in weight, greater stamina, greater durability and, at least, a stand off in speed.

Chocolate Good Puncher

Chocolate can outhit the Englishman but whether he will or not remains to be seen, since it is an established fact that one doesn't hurt what one doesn't hit. If Berg fights his fight, a crowding, punch-a-second fight, then Chocolate, the counter-puncher, may never know the moment when he can set himself for a punch.

The fight will do a little better than it might expect but not so well as the promoters thought it would do. It probably wil play to about 30,000 in attendance and perhaps $150,000 in money. The boys are getting all of $13 for ringside seats—when and if they

'WILD MAN' IS REGARDED GOOD SHORT END BET

Fighting a 10-round main event, they figure to give Orange County Athletic club fans one of the greatest aggressive contests in the history of boxing at Delhi.

It is a hard one to figure.

De Hate, on past performances, rates as the better but he has been out of harness for so long there is bound to be a certain amount of uncertainty how well and how long he can go.

A puncher never loses his punch just as a home run hitter never loses his batting eye, and De Hate, a killing puncher, is apt to roll Macias into the rosin at any time. By the same reasoning, Macias is at to stow De Hate away. The Mexican is not a powder-puff socker himself.

Macias Good Short Bet

De Hate has never appeared at Delhi but he has been a top-notcher for several years, and his reputation, if nothing else, makes him favored to win. But Macias, strong as a bull, is in superb condition and looks like a sweet short end bet.

The bout is not likely to go the limit although neither party has taken the count often. De Hate has been knocked out but once or twice. Macias failed to reach the wire just once.

Milford Berglund, classy San Bernardino Swede welterweight, looks like a sure-fire winner over Sid Gregory, Long Beach redhead, in the six-round semi-final. Gregory is game and tough but has neither the punch nor the boxing ability of Berglund, one of Southern California's best young prospects. Berglund may have a lot of trouble utting Gregory down but looks like a decisive winner on points.

Willis Meets Newcomer

The Drewry Willis-Hank Bisk special event, another six-rounder, is intriguing because Bisk is supposed to be a hot number from Chicago, on his way to bigger and better things in Los Angeles. The last such to show here was Tommy McGough who walked right into one of Tony Moreno's right hand swats and gave himself up in the first round. Bisk is said to be the real thing, but Promoter H. T. Foust certainly is feeding him no pushover in Willis. The Pomonan is not much shucks of a boxer but he is game aud tough if anyone is.

Justin Pascua and Micky McGuire meet in the second spot, a four-round affair. Pascua is a Santa Ana Filipino, a southpaw, who looks like a winner.

A rematch between Carl Seibel and Ralph Garcia, lightweights, opens the entertainment. They went to a draw last time. Garcia is favored this trip.

MASTRO, LA BARBA IN MATCH TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Fidel La Barba of California, former world flyweight champion, will make his bid for recognition as the foremost contender for the featherweight title, in a 10-round bout with Earl Mastro of Chicago, at Chicago stadium tonight.

La Barba, Mastro, Kid Chocolate and Champion Bat Battalino are rated as the leaders of the featherweight class, with the champion regarded as a weak fourth. Chocolate has deserted the 126-pound division to try for the lightweight title and unless he suffers a setback in his match with Kid Berg at New York tonight, the winner of the Mastro-La Barba bout probably will get the first chance at Battalino's title.

Mastro and La Barba have met twice before, each winning one decision and there is little to choose between the two on comparative records.

KID MEXICO WINS FROM 'BUD' BAKER

WILMINGTON, Aug. 7.—Kid Mexico, Huntington Beach middleweight, won the verdict in a 10-round fight last night with "Bud" Baker, Long Beach motorcycle cop. Andy Dumler won by a technical knockout in the fifth round of the semi-windup with Ferris Brown.

CULVER CITY, Aug. 7.—Young Papke, brother of the once noted "Ten Second" Papke, will meet Battling Ortego in a six-round main event here tonight.

MIXED DOUBLES NET TOURNEY UNDER WAY

Results yesterday:

Bell and Miss Louise Rurup beat F. W. Bettis and Miss Stalnacker, 6-1, 6-1; Lund and Miss Lauderbaugh defeated Dr. Kenneth Coulson and Miss Maag, 8-6, 6-3; Lecil Slaback and Miss Patton won from Ira Dameral and Miss Heath, 6-1, 6-0; Cress and Miss Bowers beat L. W. Slaback and Mary Ortiz, 6-3, 6-1; Wetherell and Miss Kims won from Smith and Miss B. Rurup, 16-14, 6-4.

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

A. J. Cruickshank, president of the First National bank and the naturally proud parent of one of America's finest women tennis players, has graciously given me some clippings that would interest the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

One of them is a full column story about and a two-column picture of Miss Josephine, his daughter, taken from the New York Times, one of the world's largest newspapers. The words "Santa Ana" appear throughout the story. That is publicity money CAN'T buy.

Referring to Miss Cruickshank's impressive victory over the nation's third ranking woman player, Edith Cross, the newspaper said in part:

"The Cross-Cruickshank affair was a swashbuckling battle between two of the hardest drivers among the fair sex.

"Both remained in back court and slugged for all they were worth.

"Miss Cruickshank prevailed by virtue of greater accuracy and power. Her long, low smashes were landing just within the baseline with marked consistency, whereas her rival was exceedingly wild, due chiefly to faulty timing."

Fight fans who saw Baby Sal Sorio in his spectacular fights with Joey Sangor, Dario Barron, Mike Watters, Tod Morgan and others, and then saw him knocked out ruthlessly by Young Peter Jackson at the Orange county athletic club here are watching his comeback with interest.

The little Mexican went on the shelf because of a herian ailment. He got so he couldn't use his right hand—and his right was his payoff. An operation has made him physically sounr, they say.

At 21, with his experience Baby Sal should do well. He has been out of action almost a year and weights about 140 now.

His manager will take him on a tour of Mexico before offering him to matchmakers in Southern California.

In connection with Baby Sal's bout for Promoter H. T. Foust at Delhi, there is an interesting little story that has never been published.

Sal had no idea there was anything the matter with him until a Santa Ana physician, representing the California state boxing commission, made the usual physical examination at "weigh-in" time' which was 3 p. m. the day of the Jackson fight.

No other doctor had been so thorough, apparently.

When the physician made known his findings, Sal's face turned as white as the high school. He was smart enough to know that a low punch might kill him.

He was passed as o. k. for the ring only on his promise that he would immediately undergo an operation.

Mexicans are temperamental people as a class, and I've often wondered whether the knowledge that he had a hernia knocked out Sal as much as Jackson's punch.

The caption above the group is "Deutschlands Aufsteig," which our German operative says means, "The Rise of Germany." And underneath is the legend, "Welch ein Fortschritt: von Goethe uber Bismarck bis zu Schmeling," or, "What progress! from Goethe through Bismarck to Schmeling!"

Which makes it appear the Germans know how to take their little joke as well as their sauerkraut.

PEEK'S MARKET GIVES LEGION FIRST DEFEAT

The first of a two-out-of-three game series between the Dennis Printers and the Orange County Builders' Exchange for the championship of the first half of the Santa Ana City league will be played in the Bowl at 8:15 tonight. The Richfield and Eastern Oil companies met at 6:45 in a preliminary encounter.

"There ain't no justice," Pitcher Earl Jones grumbled today.

He had reference, no doubt, to the Santa Ana City league baseball game he and his American Legion comrades lost, 3 to 2, to Peek's market in the Bowl last night.

For be it known that the Butchers made all their runs and all their hits in one big inning, the fifth, in thus receipting for the Legion's first defeat of the second half of split city circuit season.

For that matter, the Legion made both its runs in one inning and strangely enough its big frame was the fifth, too.

Fred Robertson't willow accounted for both tallies, Ralph Barker and Muckenthaler racing homeward on the big outfielder's line drive which Shortstop Don Smith knocked down but couldn't hold. That was the only damage done to "Red" Angell, the Peek pitcher, who stopped the Legionnaires with five scattered hits.

Arnold Peek's henchmen came right back in their half of the same frame with enough runs to win. Bill Zangraft's home run started it. Berry and West singled. Wright forced Berry at third but Angell's infield hit loaded the bases. Snow was safe on an error, West scoring. Smith forced Wright at home then Jerome walked, forcing Angell home with the winning tally.

SHOOTING with SHUTE

A man desn't buy himself a brand-new automobile and start out to drive it without first taking a few driving lessons. To the vast army of persons who have never played golf, but who will start out this season, I say don't just go out on the course and start playing in a haphazard fashion.

Most everyone likes to do well anything he undertakes. You will become that way about golf, sooner or later, just as in your automobile driving. And golf will be just as valuable to you as your car; it will give you as much pleasure, or as much grief, according to the faults of either.

If you are starting golf this year, see a professional first. Take a half dozen lessons from him. Golf is not a thing to trifle with. Once started out wrong, it is difficult to get on the right path.

The pro will teach you to make the correct swing. More than that, he will give you the knowledge of the fundamentals so that you can understand and appreciate them.

The cost will not be great and the money will be well spent. If you can afford to take a full course of lessons, by all means do so.

Take at least half a dozen lessons. You'll never regret it.

CARNERA SAYS HE'S THROUGH WITH 'SETUPS'

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Although Primo Carnera declares he is through fighting "set-ups" and willing to meet any heavyweight in the world it is doubtful that he will be given an opportunity to go through with his proposed fight at White Sox park, August 14.

Primo and his manager, Leon See, arrived in Chicago yesterday but found that Promoter Mique Malloy had not secured a satisfectory victim for the proposed bout. If an opponent is found, Carnera's appearance will depend on the Illinois state athletic commission which has barred See.

"I will not allow Primo to fight unless I can manage and second him," said See. "We don't care who the opponent is, but unless the Illinois commission reverses its action and grants me a license there will be no fight.

"Primo is ready to fight any fighter in the world. He can beat them all and we are willing to put up a substantial side bet that he can knock out any man he meets in six rounds. If he doesn't we not only will pay the bet but will refuse our share of the purse."

Carnera was scheduled to meet "Bombo" Chevalier in the "battle of vindication" but for some reason—possibly the chance of the Oakland Negro again refusing to "dive" and forcing Primo's handlers to re-enact their towel throwing stunt—he has been dropped from consideration. Malloy is now attempting to publicize his show by wiring challenges to Schmeling, Sharkey, Stribling, Campolo and other first rank heavies, who either are out of the country or out of training.

pictures under the heading "German Hero Worship" shows Gerhart Hauptmann with Schmeling's mother. The famous writer is asking Frau Schmeling, "Tell me about your great son. I need material for an heroic epic."

Another picture in the group shows police laying hands upon vulgar characters. The lines read, "You spoke in favor of Sharkey? Then I have to arrest you for high treason and blasphemy."

Still another, and perhaps the most keenly humorous of the three, depicts a professor of physiology standing with pointer before a diagram of the anatomy of the genus homo. The professor is pointing to a region below the belt, and the lines say: "Here's the liver, here the gall-bladder and here the world's championship."

FIGHT OF THE ROBINS

Recent averages showed the Brooklyn Robins were fourth in the National league in fielding and third in batting. Last year the Dodgers wound up the season batting sixth and fielding seventh, finishing in sixth place. But I don't think that improvement has been responsible for keeping Wilbert's wonders up there so long. Pitching, rather, is the answer to Flatbush success.

"Dazzy" Vance has bettered his last year's mark, but he is pitching only about .500 ball right now, so you can't give him the greatest art of the credit. Young pitchers who have come through under Robbie's careful direction and hasbeens who have been rejuvenated this season are proving to be the props of the team. Phelps, Elliott, Clark and Moss have been pitching winning ball. The veteran Hollis Thurston, brought back from oblivion by Wilbert and kept idle through most of the present campaign by the Brooklyn boss, was turned loose on the lads recently and pitched two shutouts, giving the Cards three hits and the Braves two.

Wilbert, veteran catcher himself, has no peer in the development of pitchers. That's why Brooklyn is up there.

Don George Pins Plestina Easily

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—Don George, former collegiate mat star, had climbed another step toward professional fame today by a victory over Marin Plestina, veteran wrestler, in straight falls here last night.

Although outweighed 35 pounds by his 245-pound opponent, George had little trouble in disposing of Plestina.

Specify SWP and engage a good painter

Why SWP costs less on your house than any other paint

What will it cost to paint your house? This is what concerns you — not what the paint costs per gallon.

While fine old SWP costs more per gallon, it costs less on your home than any other paint. Why? Because one gallon of SWP will thoroughly paint almost twice as much surface as a gallon of cheaper paint. Therefore fewer gallons of SWP are needed.

So — ignoring the fact that SWP lasts twice as long as cheaper paint, and that its weatherproof colors retain their beauty to the very last — the first cost of painting your house with the world's best house paint is actually less than that of cheaper paint. Buy your paint on a job basis and save. Let us prove it to you by simple arithmetic.

CHAPTER 5

"I don't come into it at all," Peter said hastily. Though he had questioned many sheriffs, Peter had never before been the object of their questioning. This turning of the tables was somewhat disconcerting. "I'm a newspaper reporter."

"Well, you must be a good one if you always get this quick on the job," the sheriff mused. 'Got any identification papers on you?"

"I'm on my vacation. Do you think I travel around with a passport?" Peter began indignantly. Who did this fellow think he was to doubt the word of Peter Piper of the Herald.

Then his tightened lips relaxed in a grin. After all, the man didn't know him from Adam, and Peter, the skeptical questioner, was only getting some of his own medicine.

"Got your press badge?"

'Sure." Peter felt mechanically under his coat. "Why, no—as a matter of fact, I haven't."

To Peter's intense annoyance he felt himself twist uneasily under Simpson's gaze. With inward curses, he remembered flinging his press badge into the desk drawer on his last day at the office, in a gesture of repudiation of the Herald and all its works.

"So that's how it is.'

The sheriff's voice was noncommittal.

"Well, folks, we better be going, Everett. I'll have to take both you and Mrs. Everett, till we get this thing straightened out. I guess Julio's sort of a material witness, so he'd better come along. He'll be as comfortable in jail as anywheres else, and we want him where we can lay our hands on him.

"And you too, young feller," he added, turning to Peter. "We'll just hold you on an open charge until we find out something more about you."

"See here, you can't do that!" Peter protested hotly. "You can't go around clapping reporters in jail!"

"Can't, eh?" The sheriff was unimpressed by Peter's indignation. 'As between a reporter and the sheriff of this county, I guess the sheriff has the say-so. Maybe it's different down below."

For the first time, Peter began to take the situation seriously. His cocksureness wavered. It was ridiculous, but the lanky sheriff had somehow obtained the upper hand.

'But I have a perfect alibi!" he announced in sudden triumph. "I was sitting on the verandah with the hotel keeper when Mrs. Coak came and told us about the murder."

"That ain't an alibi for the time of the murder—it's only an alibi for the time of the discovery of the murder, which is something different," the sheriff answered coldly. "Where had you been the rest of the afternoon?"

"I was out panning gold," Peter said with a trace of defiance.

"There ain't no gold left around here worth panning," the sheriff stated with calm finality.

"I was only doing it for fun."

"It ain't what I'd call fun—a lot of hard work for nothing. And I suppose you was having this fun all by yourself?"

"Well—yes; as a matter of fact, I was." Peter clutched at his rapidly waning self assurance. "But see here! You don't mean to say you're going to round up everybody in the whole countryside who spent the afternoon without witnesses!"

"I ain't talking about the whole countryside. I'm just talking about you. And all I'm saying bout you is, that you're a suspicious character. I find you reporting a murder that's barely had time to happen—and without credentials. Maybe you never saw Mrs. Everett before, just like you say. But you turned Julio out, so you could talk things over with her, before anybody else came. Anyhow, if everything's the way you say it is, you needn't be so scared of going to jail. You've got nothing to be afraid of."

"But I haven't time to go to jail! I've got to hunt up a typewriter in this godforsaken town and then hit the telegraph office the quickest thing you know, and get this story on the wire. You can't go and clap me in jail just when the story breaks, you blatherskite!"

Simpson listened quite unmoved to Peter's mingled plea and tirade.

"That's all right—if it is all right," he said calmly. "I guess the story'll be right here waiting for you, if what you say is true—and mind you, I don't say it ain't."

"My God," Peter breathed with awe, "don't you know one goldarned thing about newspapers? Don't you know that there never was a story in the world that would wait while one single blessed reporter within forty miles sat around in jail."

"Maybe you're right," the sheriff conceded. "But you see, I ain't running any newspaper. I'm running the sheriff's office — along with the recorders office and the county clerkship. Right now I'm the sheriff.

"The nearest telegraph ofice is in the next town, and how do I know, if you got started you wouldn't keep right on going? I don't know much about newspapers, but it seems mighty funny a reporter'd be smart enough to get on the scene of a murder just about as soon as there was a murder.

"You can write out your telegram if you want to, and I'll take it over for you, the first thing in the morning."

"Can't you telephone? I'll pay the charges. But for the love of Mike, tell Jimmy Sears I've got a story. He'd be mad as a hatter to be hauled out of bed just to get me out of jail," Peter pleaded.

For the first time in his life, Peter, who had slapped police chiefs on the back, "fixed" traffic tags, and gaily banged open the door of offices in the city hall marked "strictly private," found himself helplessly under the thumb of authority. He knew when he was beaten, and he even contrived to bestow on the sheriff a weak imitation of his usual beaming grin.

"When this gets straightened out," he said, "you'll jolly well owe me all the breaks of the story."

"If I've got anything to apologize for, I won't forget it," the sheriff agreed. "I ain't got any ill will, but till I know something about you, backed up by a little evidence, it pays to be careful."

Seated on a thin-mattressed bunk in a cell smelling of white-wash, Peter scribbled his message to Jimmy while Simpson waited outside the iron-grilled door.

But he did not see the rare smile transform the sheriff's pale eyes into sunny gray pools as he thrust in the clutch of his mud-stained car and drove ten miles through the night to the next town in order to send Peter's telegram without delay.

Still smiling, he unfolded the slip of paper in his hand and read Peter's call for succor—a call which Peter had thriftily marked "collect."

"Big story mystery murder sex appeal great stuff will wire opening story tomorrow exclusive stop rush camera man and type writer Hangtown hotel stop for God's sake rush identification to Bill Simpson sheriff Hangtown county and get me out of jail before other papers tumble to story stop sheriff has me parked as suspect, Signed Peter Piper."

"So that's how it is," the sheriff remarked aloud. "I guess he's a newspaper man all right—else he wouldn't have got all het up about the story first and left the part about his being in jail till the tail end. Well, I pretty much believed him all along. But he sure needed a lesson. He's too used to city ways, thinking he can talk back to Sheriff Bill Simpson and get away with it. Sort of a pleasant lockin' feller though. I can't say I'm sorry I fixed it so's I owe him something and I can treat hi mright without showin' undue partiality. 'Cause in a day or two Hangtown's goin' to be as full of reporters as a sieve full of gravel."

Jimmy Sears, city editor of the Herald, roused from sleep by the persistent ringing of the telephone, reached one arm out of bed for the receiver.

"Hello. Yes, read it please . . . Would you mind repeating the message? Read it again from the beginning."

When he had banged the receiver back on the hook, Jimmy ran his fingers through his shock of rust colored hair.

"If that fool Peter Piper woke me up for a crazy idea of a joke, he's fired! I don't care if he is the best reporter the Herald ever had," he sputtered. He stared for a moment reflectively at the alarm clock on the bed stand. " If he did —" he said, in tones that boded ill for any jesting Peter's fate. In his mind he repeated the words of the telegram, then hunched himself higher on the pillow. "By jimminy, that isn't a fake! There's just one thing on God's green earth that Peter would never joke about, and that's a story."

Jimmy jerked the telephone again from the stand and held it propped against his chest.

"Western Union. Take a message To William Simpson, sheriff Hangtown county. Hangtown, California. Peter Piper is authorized representative Herald stop urgently request you do not hold for murder unless absolutely necessary stop if suspected suggest you release on own recognisance to enable him report facts this office stop your cooperation highly appreciated. Signed James Sears, city editor."

"My — aunt — Maria," Jimmy breathed as he replaced the telephone instrument and clicked off the light, "that's what you get for letting 'em loose on vacations. God only knows what its all about. But if Peter's gone and got mixed up in a murder, it's a cinch he'll take care to make it a Herald exclusive. And it's another cinch we've got to get him out of jail to write it, suspected or not. There are plenty of people to put in jail, but there are all too few good reporters."

Peter Piper at the moment deserved the city editor's unheard tribute for sitting up in a narrow bunk, by the light of a single lamp swaying in the corridor outside, he was busily taking notes on a soiled scrap of paper with the stub of a copy pencil fished fro mthe depth of his trousers pocket.

At intervals the pencil wabbled, cigarette-fashion between his lips. Peter Piper had forgotten that he was in jail. He was framing the "lead" for his story, and his mind sang pleasantly to the refrain, "exclusive to the Herald."

Presently his lips puckered. Down the corridor floated the wailing strains of a whistled fragment of tune, pitched in a nerve-scraping minor.

"Hoo—oo—oo, hu-hu-hu-hu!"

A heavy stick banged on the barred door.

'Shut up in there!"

Peter grinned.

"Lots of people have wanted to say that to me, but this is the first time the current opinion of musical critics has been expressed by a jailor," he chortled. "All the same, that'a a damn good lead."

Well content, he flung himself back on the lumpy mattress.

Breakfast Club Entertains County Office Seekers

INTRODUCES 36 CANDIDATES AT HUGE MEETING

Political candidates and members of the Santa Ana Breakfast club were still laughing this afternoon at the jokes and pointed remarks that "Noodles" Fagan, one of the funniest funsters on the stage, produced this morning when he was master of ceremonies at the meeting of the Breakfast club at St. Anne's inn.

Nearly 150 candidates, newspaper guests and club members gathered for ham and eggs at 7:15 a. m. Although all candidates for governor were also invited, none showed up. Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, who was expected, was absent.

The entertainment, with Earl Morrow and Eugene Kahen in charge, consisted of tap dancing numbers by Junior and Mildred Martin, talented young dancers from the Hollywood Breakfast club who are engaged in motion picture work. President B. Z. McKinney read telegrams of regret from Will Rogers, President Herbert Hoover, Al Smith, Hiram Johnson and Bobby Jones, most or all of which were suspected to be "written" for the occasion.

From the time "Noodles" Fagan took the floor until the close of the meeting, laughter was continuous and the famous comedian had an ever-flowing stock of stories and remarks. Brought here by Norman Sprowl, manager of the Fox-West Coast theaters, Fagan was the "hit" of the morning.

Each candidate was personally introduced by Fagan, and whether it was his necktie, bald head, reputation, office, physique or any other characteristic, each office-seeker was the victim of appropriate remarks.

There were 36 candidates at the meeting, including the following: sheriff, Sam Jernigan, Logan Jackson, Leo Porter, Ralph McFadden and William Sylvester; district attorney, Dave Wettlin, Sam Collins, Harry Westover and Harry Haynes. Z. B. West incumbent, was present.

County supervisor: Charles Artz, Stuart Lucas, Lew Wallace, Willard Smith, Eugene Fenelon, Frank Snowden and J. W. Sauers; county auditor: W. C. Jerome and W. T. Lambert; county clerk: J. M. Backs; county coroner: Charles Brown; county tax collector, Belle Spangler and J. C. Lamb.

County school superintendent: Ray Adkinson and R. P. Mitchell; county treasurer: J. C. Joplin, E. B. Trago and Earl Abbey; county assessor: James Sloeper and George Montgomery; county surveyor: W. K. Hillyard and W. G. Knox.

Other guests at the meeting were Terry Stephenson and Freeman Bloodgood, promoters of Governor C. C. Young; Dr. C. D. Ball and J. C. Metzgar, managers for Buron Fitts for governor; Dr. R. A. Cushman, manager for James Rolph, Jr., F. C. Drumm, former superior judge, who was to introduce Mrs. Foltz; A. S. Bradford, president of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce; F. M. May, secretary of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce; George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, and Thomas E. Pickerill, secretary of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce.

Among the newspapermen present were Justus Craemer, of Orange; Edward Long of Anaheim, Frank Rospaw, of Placentia, and Ernest Wooster of Laguna.

ASKED BIG SUM

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 7.—A new court ruling was established here when Vito Peragolise, a laborer asked $25,000 damages for injuries received on a structural iron job. Counsel contended Peragolise was going blind from an injury to his optic nerve, beside being crippled. Judge E. M. Dickenson, of superior court, who heard the case, decided in favor of the laborer but would not name a compensatory sum of money. Instead, he ordered physicians to study the case until late in the fall and then report to him. On that report is to depend the amount of the award.

CHUBBY AND 'PUPPIES'

"Aren't they pups that any dog would be proud of?" is what the proud smile of Chubby, the Boston Bull, seems to say in this picture which her owner, W. E. Patterson, snapped of her with her adopted family at his home on Newport road. Chubby adopted four chickens on the day they were hatched when their hen mother refused to own them, and has made a marvelous foster mother for them.

DOG PREVENTS CHICKEN YARD TRAGEDY BY ADOPTING CHICKS AFTER HEN ABANDONS FAMILY

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

The scandalous news flashed all over the chickenyard out at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Patterson on Newport road. The old hens cackled away on the subject, while even the big chesty he-men among the Cornish game chickens deigned to cock a weather eye up towards the sun and wonder what this younger generation was coming to.

For Mrs. Biddy, to whom the stork had just brought four cunning, roly-poly baby chicks, had turned up her nose in disdain, and declared emphatically that she was in sympathy with the new feministic movement, and had no mind to be tied down with the cares of a home and family.

"Take the ugly fuzzy little creatures way," she cried fretfully. "I don't want them—it was all a mistake from first to last, and I was a poor weak fool to spend so much time hovering a setting of eggs for four miserable little runts like those. Take them away, I say!" And her voice rose in an angry squawk, as she pecked spitefully at the head of her nearest child.

The little creature peeped pitifully. It had lain so cozily in its snug warm shell, anticipating a life of corn grits and nice long wiggly worms, and here its own mother was refusing to acknowledge it as a child of her bosom. As it drew nearer, hoping that it had been mistaken in what she said, she gave another angry peck at its soft little head, and it ran peeping shrilly, for cover, followed hastily by the three little brothers and sisters, as the thoroughly angry hen fluttered after them, clucking loudly and aiming ferocious pecks at their slight bodies.

"Here, here! What's going on? What does this mean?" growled a deep and authoritative voice, and Chubby, the Boston bull, acknowledged queen of the whole animal world so far as the Patterson acreage is concerned, ambled slowly across the lawn. "I'm sure it's none of my affair, and I don't care to be mixed up with any such scandal," said the big gray cat coolly, stretching herself out in a nice sunny spot, and sheathing her claws luxuriously.

The Cornish game chickens tried to explain, but were constantly interrupted by the thoroughly angry Mrs. Biddy. "Do I understand you to say that you refuse to admit that these are your children, and that you have no intention of providing for them?" asked Chubby. Mrs. Biddy almost sputtered in her haste to assert that she had been understood—perfectly.

"Very well then. In my official capacity as queen of this country, and judge of the supreme animal court, I shall henceforth deny you even a daily visit with these children, and still I can find a suitable nursemaid for them, I'll take the responsibility myself," announced Chubby haughtily. "Come little chickens, you're going to be my puppies from now on," and gathering the four forlorn stragglers together, she nosed them in between her forepaws, and allowed them to snuggle under her nice warm velvety muzzle.

Such is virtually the story of what occurred a few weeks ago at the Patterson home, and Chubby has made a perfect mother for the four orphan chicks, as friends of the family can attest. She has hovered them and sheltered them, watched over them as they ate, fending off greedy larger chickens, and alas for the animal, whether cat, dog or fowl, that attempts to molest one of her adopted brood! The chickens have been perfectly happy under Chubby's kindly guidance, and it is one of the favorite amusements of visitors to the home, to watch some danger seem to threaten, and see them scurry to the friendly haven of the Boston bull!

Chubby is really quite an individual in herself, and has displayed many other sagacious traits that have endeared her to her owners. When W. E. Patterson used to maintain a used car market on North Broadway, it was an entertaining sight for those in the vicinity to see Chubby go to market to purchase her own special brand of dog biscuits. Nor did she ever attempt to open the sack until she had it safely home.

On a recent trip up through the northwestern section of the United States and into Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson took the dog with them. She stopped at the best hotels in the land too. When the Santa Anans would approach the desk to register, they always were informed that the hotels denied admission to dogs, but Chubby would put on one of her own special acts for the amused clerks, and if her master stooped to her side, would remove his hat so gravely, and with a little air of correcting a social error on his part, that the interview invariably ended with Chubby's entry with her master and mistress.

TO STOP DRIVERS

LONDON, Aug. 7.— Tests taken in England show that the ordinary automobile driver is not apt to stop at stop lights or stop signs, and that they are less likely to drive past a barrier of an illuminated line across the street pavement. Consequently, such illuminated lines are being installed in several streets as an experiment. The lights are buried underneath small glass lenses flush with the pavement.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS TALK ON SOUTHERN TRIP

Bringing to his listeners another of the interesting and instructive descriptions of his recent trip to South America, Harry Lewis, of Santa Ana, spoke on the country of Colombia, at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon at St. Ann's Inn.

Theo Winbigler, who acted as chairman, introduced Lewis, who illustrated his talk with two large maps. Colombia, Lewis pointed out, is as large as the Atlantic states, with Ohio and Pennsylvania combined. The many rivers comprise the transportation of the country with the exception of short railroads, which connect the coast, rivers and canals.

The Magdelena river is the main artery for travel through the country, Lewis declared, but with the primitive methods of transportation, it costs $600 to get a motor car to Bogota, the capital. As gasoline sells at 75 cents per gallon, motor travel is comparatively light.

An interesting portion of Lewis' talk was his description of the jewels in the cathedral at Bogota, which were appraised by Tiffany's in New York at $4,000,000 for one and $4,500,000 for the second.

Mrs. Jessie Johnson sang two solos, "Wishes" and "Roamin' In The Gloamin'." Announcement was made of the invitation to join with the Anahei mKiwanis club in a supper and entertainment at the Anaheim city park tomorrow night. It was voted by the club not to have appearances or speeches of candidates for high state offices at the meetings. Leslie Steffenson, delegate to the international convention at Atlantic City, gave a brief account of the affair.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Arthur Bond Yockney made what is thought to be one of the shortest wills ever made out in England. And even it had room for shortening. With these words, "I leave all of my sister, Augusta, and no tommy rot about it," Yockney disposed of his estate of about $10,000.

FILM ROMANCE

MEANEST MAN

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—Thomas Murphy, 35, classed as "as mean a man as ever came before" Magistrate Campbell, was sentenced to a year in jail after the magistrate has personally investigated conditions at the Murphy home on complaint of Murphy's wife. After she had supported him for 11 years, during which he had not done a tap of work, he came home one night and broke up the furniture. Mrs. Murphy thought that was too much.

LIONS CLUB IS ADDRESSED BY NATURE EXPERT

Alfred Cookman, noted ornithologist of Pomona college, presented a most remarkable lecture this noon at the weekly meeting of the Lions club at St. Ann's inn, giving an illustrated talk on "Life Habits of Birds."

Bird life is divided into four distinct divisions, Cookman stated, sporting, scientific, commercial and sentimental. California has 582 species of birds and over 10,000 types of trees and bushes. The greatest enemy to these natural resources is fire, and the speaker made a plea for the conservation of the most valuable assets the state possesses.

Cookman, who has an unusually rapid and dramatic manner of speaking, presented many statistics on birds, diet, speed of flight, habits in mating and migration. He had a stuffed specimen of each bird, as well as many victims of brids, including gophers, mice, squirrels and snakes. He displayed the barn owl or monkey-faced owl as the greatest boon to the American farmer and told the amazing amount of food consumed. His demonstration of a fight between a road runner and a rattlesnake was very graphic.

Dr. Merrill W. Hollingsworth was program chairman and Carson Smith, vice president, was in charge of the meeting. Wayne Goble, program chairman next week, announced that Congressman Phil Swing would be the guest and speaker. This will be an open meeting and other clubs and the citizens of Santa Ana will be welcome to attend.

WEATHER FOR MONTH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—H. H. Clayton, in a publication issued by the Smithsonian Institution, explains that weather conditions are not haphazard occurrences, but are subject to calculations and that these calculations ca nbe made to forecast weather conditions for weeks and perhaps for months in advance. Solar periods will be used to make these calculations, according to Clayton.

Popular Ball Player Reveals Wedding Of Mid-June

The fact that Leavitt Daley, one of the best-known ball players in Santa Ana sports circles, had been a benedict since June 21, was revealed last night at a merry birthday party given in Long Beach by Mr. and Mrs. J. Degman, parents of Mr. Daley's charming young bride, formerly Miss Helen Degman.

The announcement was a decided surprise to the guests assembled for the pleasant evening, and all were interested in learning the details of the romantic nuptials. They took place in Yuma, Ariz., on the June date, when the young people were accompanied to that city by Miss Virginia Devers, a cousin of the bride. The Rev. Father J. Brooks, pastor of the Yuma Catholic church, read the impressive service.

Mr. Daley, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Daley, 809 West Washington avenue, is with the Associated Telephone company of Long Beach. In athletic circles he is well known as second baseman for the Santa Ana Stars, this city's crack night baseball team.

His bride is a very charming young Long Beach girl who graduated from the high school of that city in June, just a short time in advance of her wedding date. The young people are to make their home in Long Beach where they will receive their friends at 6624 Lime avenue.

Wife Plans Surprise On Birthday of Her Husband

One of those birthday surprise parties when the honor guest was completely unaware of plans for the occasion was a successful affair of last evening, when Mrs. D. B. Peddy was hostess at a gathering in honor of her husband, better known as "Doug" to all his friends. The party was given in their attractive home at 1326 West Fourth street.

Asters in varying hues formed a background for the evening's diversion of cootie. Prizes for high score were awarded Mrs. M. B. Morrison and Harry Hustler, while Mrs. J. O. Gulledge and Howard Sutherland were content with low score.

During the refreshment course the small tables were spread with white linens, enhanced by colored birthday napkins. Admiration of the many gifts presented the honor guest was the main feature of

Miss Diehl Is Honored Before Departure For College

Honoring Miss Dorothy Diehl, popular young co-ed of this city who left this morning to take up college studies in her junior year at Berkeley, was the lovely affair given last evening, in the N. E. Lentz home on Tustin avenue, when Miss Marguerite Lentz and Miss Ethel West entertained with a buffet supper.

The delectable menu was served from a long table, centered with a bowl of fragrant pink sweet peas, flanked by slim pink tapers, and the guests grouped themselves at small tables nearby. Following supper the young people adjourned to the living room, ablaze with multi-colored zinnias, where they lingered until 9 o'clock, when they attended a local theater.

The happy affair was the last which members of the little group will share until they meet again for the Christmas holidays, for althought they have been together almost since grade school days, all are separating for different colleges. The honoree, Miss Diehl, who is the first to leave, made the trip on the Yale from Wilmington, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. C. B. Diehl, who will return shortly.

Guests present to enjoy the affair last evening, in addition to Miss Diehl, and the hostesses, Miss Marguerite Lentz and Miss Ethel West, were Miss Florence Brownridge, Miss Clara Kate Owens, Miss Shirley Marble and Messrs. William Jerome, Wylie Carlyle, Crawford Nalle, Van Pomeroy, Joe Warner and Stewart McPherson.

California Visitors Taken on Tour of Packing Plant

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wilson, 630 Orange avenue, has proven a pleasant haven for eastern and out-of-state guests during the past two days and yesterday Mrs. Wilson entertained with a daintily appointed dinner complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Trivillian of Portland, Ore. A bowl of delicate pink asters centered the table.

During the afternoon, the guests visited the Santiago Packing plant at Orange, which was a novel sight to them, indeed.

Those present were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Trivillian of Portland, Mrs. H. S. Plough, and son, Stanley, of Los Angeles and Ralph Meyers, of Portland, who has been a house guest in the Wilson home for some time.

Mrs. Wilson again entertained today, this time in honor of her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Rivett, of Detroit, who are now visiting in Long Beach. A third guest was Mrs. Rivett's mother, Mrs. Jessie Vanderburg of Long Beach, who completed the happy party. Following the delectable dinner this group also visited the Santiago Orange packing plant, which proved a novel sight to the easterners and was of especial interest to B. J. Rivett, superintendent of the Northwestern high school in Detroit.

Luncheon Is Compliment To Bride-elect of Anaheim

Since the announcement was made recently of the betrothal of Miss Ethel Phillips of Anaheim, and M. R. Eisenhauer of Los Angeles, the attractive bride-elect has found herself the center of interest among her friends, and the object of their pleasant attentions. The most recent courtesy paid her, was when Mrs. Edward Gary of this city entertained in her home, 1001 South Sycamore street.

Guests were aske dfor luncheon and the enjoyable menu was served at a flower-decked table where covers were placed for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Gray, the honoree, Miss Phillips, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Phillips of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. George Post of this city and Mrs. Ida Cumberland of Orange.

In the afternoon, the feminine guests sewed on articles which were given the honoree for use in the new home to be established in the near future. Late in the afternoon, the serving of iced watermelon provided a refreshing interlude.

Young Musician Will Join Relatives in This City

Mrs. Marietta Philleo of 1115 French street, was made happy by the announcement that her grandson, Donald Abbott, formerly of Lincoln, Neb., and now in Paris for the summer, would arrive in this city early in September to join his mother, Mrs. C. B. Abbott, and his grandmother, Mrs. Philleo. Mrs. Abbott arrived only recently from the east, and has entered the business world here, having leased the Rustic Inn on Anaheim boulevard, which she is opening as a delightful tea room and restaurant.

Donald Abbott graduated from the high school of Lincoln in June, with special honors and as a member of the National Honor society. He is a musician of much talent, having played the trumpet since he was eight years old. Immediately after graduation, he and a young school friend motored to New York City where Donald joined the orchestra of Florida University in a trip abroad. The young collegian served as ship's orchestra on the French liner, La France, and have played in Paris during the summer months.

A special honor came to the players when they were called to Belgium recently to play at the fete given by English subjects in that city, complimenting the King and Queen of Belgium and visiting royalty, notabl the Prince of Wales.

Returning to this country, young Abbott will motor to California by the northern route, stopping at various large cities and points of scenic interest. It is felt that he will be a decided acquisition to school, music and social circles of the city, and undoubtedly he will take active part in all junior college activities.

Miss Catherine Grover offered a whistling solo, and was followed by Earl Motley who gave a piano number. That talented young trio, composed of Miss Mary Henrietta Nau, Miss Betty Smedley, and Marion Nau provided the group numbers, while Richard Garrick lent variation to the musical selections with a delightful reading. An appetizing refreshment course was served late in the evening.

Newly Wedded Pair Seek Mountain Honeymoon

Returning late last night from Pasadena, where they attended the pretty wedding of Mrs. Irene Roach and R. Fred Chambers, of this city, the guests privileged to be present were delighting their friends today with accounts of the ceremony.

Both Mr. Chambers and his bride are prominent in young people's work in the First Baptist church, where the former is assistant to the pastor, the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, and is also minister of Christian education. The new Mrs. Chambers has served as senior high and World Wide guild counslor, and both plan to make such activities their future life work.

In chosing the Rev. Stanley V. Silke as the minister to conduct the wedding rites, they selected a close friends and one whose duties in Pasadena approximate those of Mr. Chambers in this city.

Mrs. Roach, who was at her loveliest in a red ensemble costume with smart white hat, was attended by Miss Grace Richards as honor maid. Miss Richards chose a pretty frock in soft green. George Ash assisted Mr. Chambers as best man. The chapel of the First Baptist church in Pasadena, was bright with flowers in honor of the event.

Dinner was served at the Maryland to the new Mr. and Mrs. Chambers, Mrs. Clara Tolifaro, mother of the bride; Miss Grace Richards, Miss Gladys Dunn, Miss Ruth Dunn and Mr. Ash. The honeymooners will spend the week in the San Bernardino mountains, and after their return, Mr. Chambers will complete his plans to leave soon for New Haven where he will take special work at Yale and will be joined, in mid-winter, by Mrs. Chambers.

He has been in Santa Ana for nearly two years, coming from Denison university in Ohio, where he was assistant professor of history, with the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Owings. Mr. Owings, at that time, had the college church. Mr. Chambers' parents still reside in his former home in Indiana. He took his graduate work at Franklin university in his native state, later securing his master degree at the University of Colorado, Boulder.

Church Societies

B. Y. P. U. Assembly

Members of the young people's groups of the First Baptist church are responding enthusiastically to the plans for the B. Y. P. U. assembly which convenes the eleventh of this month at the Pacific Palisades and will continue until August 23. Thus far 11 have registered, and the group includes the Misses Irene Catland, Lula Hodge, Geneva Scotton, and Messrs. Robert Clingan, John Davis, Royce Edson, William Gibbs, Jayson Hodge, Seldon Martin, Owen G. Owings, and Rutherford Williams.

Local division members are to be hosts to the other groups, and will leave for camp Monday, in company with George Ash. It is expected that the program will be exceptionally worth while, as two of the speakers who were so popular during the conference in San Francisco early in the summer, are to be featured. One of these is Dr. Carl S. Knopf of U. S. C. and the other is Dr. Fred P. Wollner, author and teacher at U. C. L. A. as well as chapel leader of the 1928 conference. He will base his discussion on his latest book, "High Lands of the Mind."

Three Hostesses Join To Give Attractive Tea and Shower

Uniting in their hospitality, Mrs. Dale Brockett, Mrs. Homer DeWeese and Mrs. Herbert Kauffman were recent hostesses at a charming shower honoring Mrs. Herbert Meisinger, and chose as the setting for the well-planned affair, the attractive Kauffman home on Tustin and Santa Clara avenues.

Bridge was played during the afternoon hours, and prize awards were given Mrs. Rollo Hays, jr., holder of high score; Mrs. William Riley, second, and Mrs. C. W. Hoyle, low.

The delicacy of the chosen pink and blue motif was expressed during the refreshment course, when cradles in those colors were favors, and tiny wicker bassinets centering the tables, were filled with the daintiest of pink sweet peas and baby blue delphinium. These flower containers served as introductions to the delightful surprise which was awaiting the honoree, for when the doors of the music room were swung open, they revealed a cluster of vari-colored late summer blossoms surrounding an adorable bassinet filled with a variety of baby accessories.

Mrs. Meisinger will be remembered as Miss Margaret Haley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Haley. The latter part of the week she motored to San Diego to meet her husband, who has been in South America for the past several weeks.

Those sharing the pleasures of the afternoon with the three hostesses, Mrs. Brockett, Mrs. DeWeese and Mrs. Kauffman, were the honoree, Mrs. Herbert Meisinger, and Mesdames Edith Brooks, Rollo Hays, jr., Courtney Chandler, Newton Richards, Helen McCollum, C. The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Twenty years ago mayonnaise was hardly known outside the big restaurant or hotel, and when women did essay its making they approached the job with fear and trembling and counted themselves fortunate if they had good luck half the time.

Some of my readers will remember the paraphernalia thought necessary to the making . . . the special covered whipping bowl, sitting in another bowl, surrounded by ice . . . only egg yolks permissible . . . seasonings added in pinches . . . oil run in, drop by drop, with painful waiting to see the mixture start to thicken. Sometimes it did, more often it didn't do anything but separate and run, and the remedy was to add more egg yolk and beat briskly until in sheer desperation and disgust the whole mess was pitched into the garbage pail.

Today, we know that the secret of successful mayonnaise making lies in having both oil, egg and acid of the same temperature, icy-cold.

The whole egg is used, seasonings added to the egg, beaten a little to mix, a few spoonfuls of oil added and beaten, a few more until the mixture thickens, then larger amounts until the mixture is so thick it has to be thinned with the lemon juice or vinegar.

I do not believe women know half of the possible uses of mayonnaise. Try it—

As a dressing for hot cauliflower, hot spinach or hot artichokes. It has subtle flavorings which make it twice as effective as butter.

Mayonnaise for cold salmon or halibut is greatly improved by the addition of a small amount of curry powder.

Creamed Tuna, that standby for hurried lunches or dinner, is elevated to the realms of perfection by adding one-fourth cup of mayonnaise to each cup of cream sauce, with finely shredded green pepper for garnish mixed through the sauce.

Ordinary cream gravies are taken out of their class by the addition of a small amount of tangy mayonnaise and plenty of paprika Add just before serving.

Use it in Oyster Cocktail Sauce, 2 tablespoons to 1 cup of sauce.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Curried Cauliflower

1 large head of cooked cauliflower
1 onion and apple, ground
4 tablespoons butter for frying
1 tablespoon curry powder
Salt and pepper to taste
Pinch of cayenne
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup thick cream sauce
10-cent package Parmesan cheese

While the cauliflower is cooking in salted water let's make the curry sauce. First make the cream sauce, using 2 tablespoons each of butter and flour cooked to a thick sauce with 1 cup milk. Have this ready in a double boiler. In a small frying pan put the ground apple and onion to slowly fry in the butter. When both are soft, add the curry powder and stir for a few minutes before adding the rest of the seasonings. Combine with the cream sauce and let stand for a few minutes.

In a shallow baking dish arrange the cauliflower broken into small flowerets. Pour the sauce over, sprinkle generously with grated cheese and bake in a hot oven to brown and melt the cheese. This is an unusual and delicious way of cooking cauliflower.

The recipe serves six quite generously. The calories per person total about 235. Fats and starches and proteins are so well balanced in this dish it might serve as a substitute for meat at any meal. Serve one leafy cooked vegetable, and potatoes your favorite way, with this dish.

"It's a Great Life," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture starring the Duncan Sisters, closing tonight at Walker's State, is an all-talking, singing and dancing film directed by Sam Wood and filmed with technicolor sequences. The story might be a biography of the dancers dealing with a sister act in vaudeville which finds itself in difficulties when a quarrel separates the pair who find themselves "flops" as singles.

The new film incorporates a number of skillfully executed dance routines handled by Sammy Lee, who has received no little distinction as a result of his work in several Broadway musical comedy successes.

Tells How Fat Men Can Lose Half a Pound a Day

Here is a simple way to get rid of that corporation and quickly feel in both body and mind the joy of living.

It's the safe way, too—for every day you continue this easy method of losing unwanted and unneeded flesh you'll gain in energy, vigor and endurance.

Nine times in ten obesity means inactivity—It means that your blood is starving for the six vital salts your internal organs need to keep you youthful, active, ambitious and keen in mind.

When you take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts every morning in a glass of hot or cold water you get these six vital salts which modern foods and cooking do not supply.

Start taking Kruschen Salts—that's the common-sense way to reduce—but don't take them with the idea that they possess reducing qualities in themselves.

This is what they do—they clean out the impurities in your blood by keeping the bowels, kidneys and liver in splendid working shape and fill you with a vigor and tireless energy you'd most forgotten had existed.

The urge for activity will be so marked that even at the end of a hard day's work you'll feel ready for any social activity or recreation—you can play as hard as you work.

And after two weeks your excess flesh starts to go—you'll know it—feel it—see it—the scales will tell the story.

As one, once corpulent man remarked—"I feel so energetic that I want to get up with the lark and I'm just as lively as a cricket.

Kruschen Salts is not a purgative or a cathartic, but a real system conditioner and for those who are the victims of constipation or toxemia its daily use soon means blissful regularity.

Get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts—last 4 weeks—at Mateer's Drug Co., and Givens and Cannon—or any druggist in the world.—adv.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The Mediterranean Sea was quite a scene and every Tinymite enjoyed the boat ride they were on. It was a heap of fun. Our sight of land they never went and 'round the deck their time was spent. The ship was very large and there was lots of room to run.

"I'll tell you what," said Clowny. "We can play some games. Now, hark to me and I'll suggest one we'll all like. Let's make it hide and seek. We'll find a lot of spots, all right, where we can hide far out of sight. Now, I'll be it and while I count, the rest of you all sneak!"

He started counting, "Two, four, six—" and Scouty cried, "None of your tricks. Be fair and count off one by one." So that's what Clowny did. The others scampered merrily and it was lots of fun to see the funny places they picked out. In jig time they all hid.

Then Clowny shouted, "Here I come. You'll find that I am not so dumb. No matter where you're hiding, I will find you mighty quick." Then, shortly, as he found each one, right back to goal he'd promptly run. The whole bunch had a lot of laughs and thought the game was slick.

The Travel Man then said, "Well, boys, you'll have to stop your fun and noise. We're pulling into Istanbul. My, what treats it has in store." Up to the deck rail they all ran. The shore line they could easily scan. The boat then landed safely and they scampered out on shore.

"Constantinople was the name of this big town and then there came a change and now it's Istan-bul," said the Travel Man. "Take note of boats that hog 'round, side by side. They're here to take folks for a ride. You see, a man is waiting for his trade, in every boat."

(The Tinymites take a pleasure ride in the next story.)

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.
3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

NEW SCHOOL BUS FOR WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 7.—The Westminster school district has purchased a bus of 58-student capacity at a cost of $3900. The bus was purchased by Fred Basse and Armand Heil of the school board.

Westminster district has theretofore hired a bus of Oril Hare, local garage man, who has driven the machine. The new bus is to be driven by one of the teachers of the school or the janitor of the district as most convenient. A garage for the bus will not be erected this year and the bus will be kept in the Penhall Brothers garage.

One year ago, when Prof. James Monroe took over the supervision of the Westminster schools on a 12 months a year contract for five years, the district was in debt to the extent of $2000, the Hoover school having been erected. At the present date the books of the school stand with this debt paid and a $4000 surplus with which the bus has been purchased with $100 remaining. Besides this there have been extensive improvements on the school grounds, sidewalks, fencing, arcade, playground improvements and the planting of extensive shrubbery on the grounds, all of which have been paid for.

Work On Schools In La Habra Being Pushed By Builders

LA HABRA, Aug. 7.—The Washington school rooms have been refinished with a coat of gray paint and the woodwork has been revarnished ready for the opening of the school term September 15.

The painting job, which was completed yesterday by S. L. McGregor, is only a small part of the construction program now under way at the three schools. The painting contract included the hall corridors and two class rooms.

Work is progressing nicely on the new buildings. Much of the foundation work at the Washington school has been completed and construction work on the walls is being started. The total building program at the three schools amounts to nearly $60,000.

BOND ELECTION CONSIDERED AT NEXT SESSION

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 7.—Action on calling a special election to vote bonds to purchase land and erect a fire house was postponed last night until next council meeting after a somewhat prolonged discussion in which a modified proposal was tentatively put forward. Councilman McCrea thought that city property might be used as a site and the project enlarged to provide for city offices and a police station in addition. Firemen present viewed this without enthusiasm, voicing a fear that the bonds would be defeated. That the matter may take an alternative form on the ballot was the trend of the conversation.

City Clerk G. W. Prior's statement showed $14,225.93 in the general fund, $15,529.19 in all funds August 1. Mayor J. E. Bishop commented on the fact that at the end of six months all items in the budget showed deficits, some being entirely exhausted.

Question was raised to some items in the bills listed and were laid over for investigation. The question arose over the amounts due A. J. Stead. A plot submitted by H. K. Peabody for Hallam Cooley was approved on the recommendation of City Engineer Frank Gowan. A resolution was adopted authorizing the county auditor to collect funds for maintenance of sewers, retiring of sewer bonds, etc., the sum named being $17,00, the same as last year.

Housing of the city engineer was laid over for a week, with the police station suggested as a suitable place. Ordinance No. 78, setting the hours for golf courses, was passed. An electric clock to control lights in the city sign was ordered. Josie Rice was granted permit to use the corner near the new hotel as a taxi stand. Request to refuse license to builder not having a state license was filed. Complaint by Robert and Alice Parker regarding erecting of a telephone pole was filed.

Mayor Bishop suggested that the city consider appointment of a planning commission soon, but after some discussion this met with expression of disapproval from Councilmen McCrea, McMillan and Clapp, though the matter was not put to vote.

Laguna P. O. Receipts In July Boosted

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 7.—Substantial gains in the post office during July despite a season below last season in point of number of visitors indicated that business is on the up grade in some respects at any rate.

The money order business during July, 1930, was the largest in the history of the office, with a gain of 17 per cent over the same month last year. The postal gain was 6 1-2 per cent over last July, the gain in incoming mails approximately 20 per cent, and for outgoing mails the increase was 15 per cent.

"When it is remembered that July of last year was a record-breaking month in all classes of business, owing to hot weather, etc., the above gains are significant when present conditions, financially, are borne in mind," Postmaster Brayton S. Norton commented.

TENT ON LAND MAY RESULT IN DAMAGE ACTION

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 7.—That the city's claim to the disputed portion of Ruby street at the ocean front may be taken to court soon was the expectation expressed by members of the council Wednesday evening, when Stillman Jamieson was given 10 days to move a tent from the questioned area.

It arose out of the reading of a letter from Mr. Jamieson. This letter, directed to the council, stated: "Your actions, coupled with the vociferous demands of some few of your constituents, indicate that you prefer to litigate. I had no thought of starting any argument when I had my employes erect a temporary tent on your property. Any one with a senseof perspicuity could see that it was only temporary, just as piles of lumber and cement are stacked up outside of every new building and I was told by your building inspector that no permit for it was required.

"I withdraw my two offers. I hereby notify you that I have purchased the 75 feet of land adjoining Mrs. Booth's property on the west, have a deed and guarantee policy covering it. Am in possession and intend to remain in possession. If you desire a lawsuit you have a choice of several courses of action and whenever you have decided how you wish to proceed if you will notify Mr. H. C. Head of Santa Ana he will appear for Mrs. Booth and me."

That the burden of proof should be on Mr. Jamieson, and that legal notice to remove the tent, if not complied with, would result in having it taken down by the police, perhaps to result in a damage suit, was points discussed.

Dana Lamb, reporting on beach saving efforts, told of the need of a couty wide organization, with county officers as members, but of the difficulty now because of the approaching election. He had been advised, he said, to proceed along lines which would not result i nlegal recourse if possible. He asked that a committee made up of representatives from different committees be formed to devise ways and means. City Attorney L. F. Kimmell reported that ex-Orange County Coast assoc. of might take similar action.

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(UP)—Grain prices swept through a series of spectacular ups and downs on the Chicago Board of Trade today and ended a session of tumultuous trading fractionally lower than yesterday's close.

Paper millions were added to wavering farm fortunes i the fast rises but melted just as rapidly in the declines that started around noon under the pressure of profit taking.

March and May wheat, which hit newk highs at the opening, closed at $1.06⅞ and $1.09½, off respectively ⅝ and ½ cents.

March and May corn closed at 98⅝ and $1.00⅛, off 1½ and 1⅝ cents.

Three corn futures sold under the dollar mark at the close whereas only one, December, opened below that figure.

The late break came when part of the unusual public interest was withdrawn about noon.

Buying on the dips stemmed the decline somewhat but failed to hold the prices quite to yesterday's levels.

VIOLATIONS AND A RAID

In the news columns last night it was brought out that the gambling devices were still being run without let or hindrance, and without any apparent fear of the law or its enforcement by those who are interested in the devices.

We are not surprised at this—the truth is we believe the district attorney has taken the only position he could take under all the circumstances. They have been permitted to carry on with full knowledge of the situation—why has anything come up that should cause the law to be enforced at this time? The suggestion had been made that the sheriff should make a raid because of the flagrancy of the law violations. This the district attorney headed off, and in view of the permission which the men had had to conduct their devices, with the full knowledge of the authorities, there was an element of unfairness in punishing them for doing that which they felt they had permission to do.

This emphasizes the question before the voters of the importance of the district attorney's office. The district attorney, in a very real sense, is the law of the county for which he is elected. His standards are the standards of the county. His ideas are put into effect. His ideals must be lived up to. If he does not have personal convictions upon these matters, he is not likely to fight for standards for which he does not have convictions.

The sheriff cannot enforce the law without the district attorney. To elect a sheriff in Orange county who has high ideals of law enforcement, and to elect a district attorney who has low or no ideals of law enforcement, would be, from a law enforcement point of view, futile and from the standpoint of the sheriff-elect a personal injury.

If he should go out and arrest men who are violating the law, whom the district attorney does not desire to be molested, the district attorney has the power to release these men simply by the declaration that there is not sufficient evidence to hold them. If the sheriff's idea is that the law is being violated, however flagrantly in his judgment, and the district attorney's interpretation is that the law is not being violated, the sheriff is in no position to do anything about it.

In view of the fact that the district attorney is the judge of the law in such a case the sheriff might not only be broken in spirit, but made fool of in the bargain. In case public sentiment or people outside of the sheriff's office determined to attempt to enforce the law without the district attorney's friendly co-operation, virtually the same thing would happen.

His declaration that there is not sufficient evidence, in his judgment, to convict is practically the determining factor in the whole matter. And finally if a matter is forced to trial, and the district attorney is unfriendly, the witnesses who may have volunteered can be so neglected or treated that they declare: "Never again for us." The half-hearted, if not hostile method of treatment and prosecution would defeat the purposes, however worthy.

So we see that the most important thing is the attitude of mind, is the spirit of the district attorney in respect to law and its enforcement His standards become the standards really of the county.

The serious objection is not that these gambling places are not immediately closed up. It is not to be expected that there would be any excitement about it now. We would rather commend the district attorney for not at this particular hour raiding the gambling devices for in view of the fact that for all this period of time this condition has prevailed, it would have been contrary to his own record and then interpreted as simply a political move at this time. But this little spasm, however it was started, has aided in bringing into the limelight and before the public a condition which has been known to exist. It is a condition which will continue to exist and be made worse unless the voters of Orange county select a man who has charge of the law enforcement machinery of the county with ideals different than those which have prevailed.

Sir Oliver Lodge, British scientist, said in a broadcast the other day that the police force of the world will untimately be in the hands of the United States. Well, we could stand developing a bulls market right now.

LEARNING "MORE FUN"

The joy and wonder of adult education never cease and so far have not diminished. Some folks are still shy about revealing their need for education. But the people who really should feel ashamed, though they never do, are those who don't recognize that they don't know it all.

Adult Education and Library quotes a Minnesota farmer as follows:

"The world's just burst open like a kernel of popcorn. I used to be a fair-to-middling crop grower with a side line of killing rattlesnakes and shooing away hawks. But now I'm a mechanic, a chauffeur and a business man besides. I used to plant my crops because they had always been planted that way, and now I read a book about it.....They used to say you can't teach the old dog new tricks, but the way I figure is the old dog has his choice of learning or starving. And there's no argument about learning being more fun than a husking bee."

THE MOSQUITO, A LA AMERICA

A writer in the Survey reports that the Y. M. C. A. in Bombay showed a movie which presented a scientific account of the cause and prevention and cure of malaria. In the picture the carrier, the mosquito, was magnified many times. The titles were in English, so were explained to the people, many of whom couldn't read them in any language. The writer says that the film was shown three times before the audience grasped the idea that the mosquito is a trouble-maker. After the show, one man was heard to say to another, "Well, if the mosquitos in America are as large as that, no wonder they screen the window!"

Patience is the first requisite for the instructor. If that was the comment of the Indian after seeing the film three times, he wouldn't recognize a mosquito in his own environment.

THIRTEEN HOURS OF TRAVEL

Another advance in limitation of time in crossing the continent has been made. This time an airplane pilot drives his machine from Long Island to Los Angeles in the short space of 14 hours and 50 minutes. Subtracting the time that was taken out for landing and refueling, we have about 13 hours time.

At the same time that remarkable flight was accomplished, the news is released of the test of a machine that can go upward, forward or backward, and in case of the stalling of the engine, falls as slowly as 13 feet per second. In other words, this would retard the operation of the law of gravity by three feet. If the last 13 feet of fall is at this rate, the resiliency of the wheels and springs upon which it lands would save the life and limb of the occupant. We will soon travel that way.

QUITE A PARADE

It is reported that the Maharajah of Pithapuram who with his family and retainer is to visit Los Angeles the latter part of this month when on shipboard crossing the Atlantic twice a day lined up his wife, two sons, a daughter-in-law, four daughters, a lady-in-waiting, a secretary, and seven servants and they all marched around the deck.

Being the head of such a considerable group must make the Maharajah feel very important. That is probably why they take their walk ensemble. Economic necessity has almost made the large family, as a means of flattering the ego, an impracticability.

A Nickel Bun On a Dollar Plate

Christian Science Monitor

If a hungry man with but a dollar to spend should purchase ninety-five cents worth of dishes on which to serve a five-cent bun, he would be displaying an attitude not dissimilar to that expressed by the United States government in continually acquiring new areas of forest land while persisting in doling out but a comparative pittance for the care and development of areas already held.

This is the gist of the plaint raised by conservationists over the proposal that the government add several million more acres to the nearly 200,000 acres of forest land taken up last year. Their point seems well taken, even though the retort be made that the case of acquiring greater forest areas is nowhere comparable to the cost of clothing them with forests.

Since the days of William Penn men have talked conservation, but the thought that, while conservation demands cash, the cash thus expended is likely to pay worth-while dividends seems slow in reaching the public consciousness. Consequently, the items of conservation on administration budgets frequently suffer the fate of the forests they are designed to save—they are ruthlessly cut. Since this has appeared to be the rule, friends of the trees are apparently justified in wondering if further land acquisition will not formulate itself into a liability rather than an asset.

They are wondering why, if money is available for forest lands, it should not be much more available for the forests themselves. They point out that, since the solution of the conservation problem involves approximately one-fourth of the land area of the United States and the stability of a $10,000,000,000 industry, Congress might do well to turn its gaze away from acreage and toward productivity. But they warn the lawmakers that round dollars rather than rhetoric are needed properly to fertilize the seed of forest rehabilitation. In short, they insist that a platter piled with buns is more impressive than a bun on a pile of platters.

Making New Wealth

The Riverside Enterprise

Mining is one of the few industries that create new wealth.

It takes metals from the ground, where they are worthless, and transforms them into wages, taxes, dividends and the necessities and luxuries of life. It literally makes new dollars, which have never been used before.

Every other industry has a use for metals. It has been well said that there never was a great nation without metal resources and that is truer today than ever before.

Thus, every state and every citizen has an interest in mining, and particularly western states where it is one of the principal employers, taxpayers and purchasers. Mining is a mainstay of agriculture and other industries within those states. It is vital, not only to western progress, but to western existence.

Efforts directed toward raising mining taxes to an exorbitant level and over-regulating the industry are inimical to the prosperity of every citizen of the west.

And Mencken Was Wrong

Oakland Tribune

Many of the sophisticated remarks which pass current as clever and have matrimony as their target were invented by H. L. Mencken. On that subject, as on small towns, the average mind, service clubs, and the deportment of men in office he has been consistently "belittling."

Those who know the view of Mencken on matrimony, and they are to be found here and there, almost everywhere, in his books and articles, read with interest the announcement he is to be married.

"I formerly was not as wise as I am now," says the sage of the sophisticates and the plain everyday duffers whom he has long derided have the privilege of smiling.

"When the Pie Was Opened the Bird Began to Sing"

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE ELEMENT OF TIME

If I were Zara Agha
  Who scorn's Time's hurrying flight,
I'm sure my golfing saga
  Would be worthwhile to write.
No more the course I'd cumber,
  I'd deftly ply the sticks,
If but my years could number
  A full one fifty-six.

For twenty years I've puttered
  On fairway, trap and green,
The grass with clods I've cluttered
  And dredged the brooks between,
But when with fresh disaster
  My weary soul was sore
I've said, "This fame I'll master
  In two or three years more."

And though still vainly groping
  For the elusive ball,
I still am fondly hoping
  To triumph after all.
And while I dub and blunder
  And flounder in the rough,
I still might prove a wonder
  If I had time enough.

Were I as old as Agha,
  And played the game that long,
I know I'd not go ga-ga
  When drives and putts go wrong.
I should not play in sorrow
  Emitting sighs and moans,
But write a note tomorrow
  To challenge Bobby Jones.

What Everybody Knows

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Here is something that everybody knows:

The more use Illinois makes of improved machinery the more wealth she produces per unit of labor.

The more wealth Illinois produces, the greater is her buying power.

The greater the buying power of Illinois, the greater is the market for Florida oranges, Michigan furniture, Missouri shoes, and California films.

Wage-earners have prospered in Chicago, partly because the automobile industry has prospered in Detroit.

Anything that hurts business in Michigan hurts business in every other State.

In short, no part of this country can prosper without helping all other parts. Everybody knows that.

Here, however, is something that everybody does NOT know:

What is true of two parts of the same country is true of two different countries. Economic laws are constantly making non-stop flights across international boundaries.

Anything that increases the productivity of Europe increases the market for American goods.

America can rise to higher standards of living most rapidly, not by keeping European standards down, but by putting them up.

The productivity per worker is about three and one-half times as great in this country as it is in Europe. If, through our help, European workers were lifted to our level of efficiency, their buying power might be increased by over seven hundred billion dollars a year.

Even if only five per cent of that increased buying power were used to buy the products of the United States, that would enlarge our markets by 50 per cent.

That, in turn, would enable us to enjoy, on a basis helpful to both sides of the Atlantic, a corresponding increase of imports from Europe.

Nothing ever works out, it is true, with such mathematical precision. Growth in that direction, however, is immediately feasible, and should receive the constant stimulus of our foreign policy.

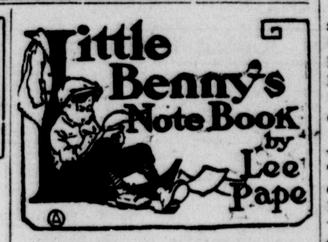
Little Benny's Note Book by Lee Pape



Pop was smoking to himself and ma was thinking, saying, Willyum, do you know, Ive come to the conclusion that our grandchild is going to be a perfect gentleman.

Meeing my sister Gladdises baby, and pop sed, Why, whats he been doing, calling for a finger bowl after his bottle?

Its about that ferst tooth of his, ma sed. Ive felt all along that it would of been through long ago unless there was some reason why he's holding it back. He knows very well that I wunt him to hurry it along and have it before the Shooster grand dawter has hers, and now I realize that that's pust the identical reason why he's holding it back, proberly at grate personel discomfort to himself. In other werds he's alreddy too much of a gentleman to precede a lady, even with his first tooth, she sed.

I hope he wont be too much of a gentleman to go to werk when the time comes, pop sed, and ma sed, Thats precisely whats worrying me. I dont mean about werking, I mean about standing the ruff blows and pushes of life as he grows older. After all, this is a selfish werld made up of selfish people, and if he continues to think too much of the rites of others before consulting his own wishes and the wishes of his family, he'll end up by being nuthing but a polite failure, she sed.

Its an awful prospect but perhaps its a bit soon to lose sleep over, pop sed. Lets make a mental note of it and bring up the subjeck again in 20 years or so, he sed.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

IF JEFFERSON WROTE AGAIN

Yesterday I tried to imagine what that gentle - democrat, Thomas Jefferson, might write, by way of counsel, to the Democratic party, if communication between the mortal and post-mortal worlds were in active operation, assuming that Jefferson had been watching the changing American scene during the last century.

At the end of that little adventure in political crystal-gazing, I suggested, but did not discuss, the likelihood that Jefferson would urge the Democratic party to work out in detail the obviously necessary new application of his opposition to centralization and his advocacy of decentralization.

Today I want ot indicate a little more in detail why I think Jefferson, were he alive and leading the Democratic party, would try to focus the statesmanship of the party on this issue.

When Jefferson was alive and actively participating in American politics, the issue of centralization versus decentralization was the issue of the Federal government versus the State governments.

But were Jefferson alive today and leading the Democratic party, I think he would urge his followers to recognize the fact that the battle of centralization versus decentralization has shifted to a new battle-ground.

I think he would call the party's attention to the fact that the arbitrary lines that bound or states have less and less meaning as life in America becomes increasingly complicated, technical, and corporate.

I think he would recognize that whether an American today is a Texan or a Tennessean, a citizen of New York or New Mexico, is less significant than whether he is a capitalist or carrier of a dinner pail, an independent merchant or employee of a chain system, farmer or financier.

Economic functions and economic rights are, in contemporary America, more significant than geographical frontiers or geographical residence.

Jefferson would, of course, urge his followers to remember that always and in every sort of civilization some measure of social control of private power is necessary, but I think he would recognize the danger of awkward and amateur government interference with the going processes of a social order like ours that is complicated, technical, and corporate.

And so, I think Jefferson would urge the Democratic party to consider the wisdom of rethinking the whole issue of centralization versus decentralization in terms of those things that should be decentralized, not out of one big political unit into the hands of smaller political units, but out of politics altogether into the hands of the men actually on the job in business, industry, finance, agriculture, labor, and so on.

Just as Jefferson, when alive and active in American politics, thought the future of the Republic depended upon our ability to evolve sound and sufficient government in our several states, so, I think, Jefferson, were he alive and active in American politics now, would think the future of the Republic depends upon our ability to evolve sound and sufficient self-regulation, with a minimum of amateur political control, in the various sections of our economic order.

This he would announce, I think, as the New Jeffersonianism.

OUR CHILDREN

TOO WATCHFUL

These are the months when a child can be granted a little larger freedom for his soul's sake. You see, unless a child is allowed to experiment a little with life and its activities he cannot grow in mental power. He cannot become a self-sustaining, self-directing person unless you allow him to try to be that sort of person.

It is very, very difficult to draw the line for safety without drawing it too close. Nobody wants to have a child hurt in any way. Experiment always has the threat of disaster within it. But life never promises safety. Only with risk can we make ourselves master of our field. Then let us try to loosen the line a little just now. Lengthen the rope.

Today two little girls came into my garden attended by an everwatchful governess. She was very, very big and they were very small. Instead of turning the little ones loose to find their way along the perfectly clear paths, winding, twisting interesting little tracks just wide enough for such wee feet, she trundled along ahead or behind them saying, "Observe, my children. The color, the form, the fragrance of this plant. It is a dianthus, the species—the variety, Japonica."

Dear, dear. The pinks that looked so gaily up to the children hung their heads in grief for without a look or a sign those poor little things went up and down beside them.

The terriers, Mike and Pat, came galloping smartly down the hill. "Here are two playmates for you children. Mike and Pat. They love to plan. Don't you like them?"

The children had retreated in terror-stricken silence behind the stout governess. Their faces were blank. Helplessness was written all over them. "Do the children speak English?" I asked, thinking they might be foreign-born children and utter strangers to us and our ways.

"O yes, yes, yes. They are American children. They are just a little shy."

A little shy. They were nine and ten years of age. They could not smile; they could not speak to perfectly friendly dogs and people. They swim with the governess, they walk under her eye in measured place; they come when she calls and they move only at her bidding. Two hundred pounds of governess can squash a couple of children quite flat.

It is wise to guard children but not overmuch. Put overalls on them and turn them into the meadow; dress them in bathing suits and let them play on the shore, guarded but not obviously. Encourage them to swim to the boat to your arms, to the rock, where you stand. Encourage them to investigate, to plan, to do.

If they are summering in a country home, let them try their hands at whatever activity offers—gathering eggs, cleaning the coops, setting pans of water for little animals, weeding, housekeeping, cooking, cleaning, serving, fishing, hiking, camping. Let they try. A few bumps, a scratch, a mistake, what of it if the intelligence of the child is gathering power? Summer is the opportunity for hosts of fresh and inspiring experiences. Let the children go out after them.

GENERAL WOOD'S DEATH

On August 7, 1927, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, governor-general of the Philippines, and veteran of the Spanish-American and World wars, died at a Boston hospital following a brain operation.

Wood entered the army as a surgeon after graduating from Harvard medical school. When McKinley became president, Wood went to the White House as his personal physician. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war in 1898, Wood helped his close friend Theodore Roosevelt, raise and lead the famous regiment of "Rough Riders." For his conduct in the war he was elevated to major general.

Following his services after the war as governor of Cuba, where he made many great improvements in education and sanitation, Wood was appointed governor in the Philippines. Here he stamped out polygamy and tamed the Sulu chieftains. When he returned to the United States in 1908 he was made chief of staff.

Wood was given inferior commands during the World war because he was thought to have given rise to certain views on preparedness which were unfavorable to the administration.

In 1919 he announced himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, and made considerable headway until the steel strike in Indiana, in which he felt it his duty to participate, spoiled his chances. Two years later he was appointed governor-general of the Philippines.
